

SANDY

gon pastoral conference of the Lutheran church at Cornelius last week. Mr. and Mrs. August Bedenstein of Cherryville were Sandy visitors last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Townsend and son were over from Bull Run Monday evening. Mr. Christiansen who purchased the old Maybee place last fall has moved away, according to report. Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Eason of The Dalles were recent visitors at the R. E. Eason home. Another party of relatives were also guests a few days ago of the Easons as follows: Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gillett, parents of Mrs. Eason, Mrs. Glendora DeGraw, an aunt from West- on, Ore., Mrs. Ella Downer, also an aunt, and J. B. Highland from Port- land. Mrs. Sara Cross, mother of Mrs. R. S. Smith, has returned from Eastern Oregon where she spent a month with relatives. Mrs. Cross was delayed on her journey here half a day by the burning O. R. & N. tunnel at Hood River. Miss Lulu Eddy and Mrs. F. J. Lake attended the quarterly conference at Pleasant Home last Saturday and re- port a splendid time. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perret drove to Portland to attend the Fournier fu- neral last week. The Perrets also took a trip over to Vancouver some days ago, taking a picnic dinner along. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gesch were Sandy visitors one day recently. Gesch has been so busy all summer he is seldom down to the town. Mrs. Melvin Smith and children vis- ited at the Hoffman home home one afternoon recently. The Duke family drove to Hillsboro last Sunday and spent a pleasant day. Mrs. E. Dodd, Ruby Dodd and Mrs. Elsie Barber went to Portland on a shopping journey a few days ago. Mrs. Dodd returning with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perret. The Sandy volunteer fire depart- ment is talking of having a card party in the near future. Some folks are already complain- ing that Jack Frost creeps under the eaves of the bed covering and are cutting the patches on last year's union suits. A couple of dozen (more or less) of dead snakes in the bottom of a Sandy well were found the other day when the well was being cleaned out! Hon- est to goodness snakes, not the moon- shine kind! Yet nobody has died nor been sick though the water was used right along by numbers of people. Snake-venom surely must not be in- fectious, but somehow those who use the water do not particularly enjoy the "snake." Ed Hines who was up at Wild Cat gathering huckleberries said there were about 150 squaws came in there from the Warm Springs "angle" on the mountain. Mrs. Jack Seales says she and sons, Tommy and Kenneth went fishing Sunday at Corbett in one of the Reso boats and caught 260 salmon. There is a big run of fish now—they are being caught by the "load." The single mill at Cherryville is run- ning full blast under the new owner- ship and John Jonsrud is turning out more shingles than the plant ever handled before. Carl Dahl of the firm of Hauser & Dahl was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Smith recently. George Thomas, son of Mack Thomas, of Bull Run is working in the R. S. Smith garage. Thomas boards at the hotel. Ephraim Gray is also a keeper at the Smith garage. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dunn and Penton Dunn were in on Friday to Monday guests in Portland, and visited friends and relatives, saw the sights and had a fine time generally. Mrs. Miller had a nice phone chat with Mr. and Mrs. Collier at Hood River last Sunday. The Colliers are nicely located and like their new lo- cation. The Sandy folks visiting at Hood River gave P. T. Shelley the hand shake at the big community church service Sunday morning. And now W. F. Strack is painting his house, putting on another coat of white, doing the work himself. A. C. Baumback is going to have a new roof on his house or he must descend. Says he must "or hunt an- other house." Blasting along the road interfered with telephone communications be- tween Sandy and Gresham the first of the week. County surveyors have been out lo- cating a private road for John Jonsrud so as to make his shingle mill more accessible. Ed. Bruns still has a big demand for lumber and says his mill has sawed more the past month than ever before. The Bruns brothers were up to the Jonsrud shingle mill Monday after an order of shingles. Charley Krebs has been burn- ing the slashes on the Miller "40" on Sandridge this week. The stubble on the Bruns place by the cemetery caught fire Monday and by the efforts of Charley Krebs the vacant house was saved. With a few slashes burning, road- planks afire, coal-pitting and other clearing that is being done the atmo- sphere has been a little blue, but nothing like it has been other seasons, in fact this season has been the least smoky in some thirty years or more. Several relatives of John Bucholtz have recently arrived from Germany and ate with the Bucholtz family at Brightwood. The entire Strack family spent a week up at Wild Cat in the huckle- berry environs and with them were John Mitchell and Herbert Armstrong, the entire party bringing out fifty gallons of choice berries. The east wind began blowing with a ceaseless twang which hurried the "berries" up and homeward. "Baby" Strack, aged four, climbed to the topmost peak of the mountain. The view from this "Cat" is said to be worth the trip up there any time. A trip on the highway was enjoyed by Ruby Dodd, her mother, and brother, George, Miss Elsie Barker and Charley Suckow one day of the week. The crowd was driven by Mr. Grunert and Eagle Creek was the de- lightful picnic spot. Miss Blanche Case who has been on tight duty at the Salem tubercular sanitarium the past few weeks says there are 97 patients, 14 of whom are children. Regular lessons are given the children, if able to study in a little school room provided for them. This institution is practically the rendezvous for severe cases, for most part those that have not gained at the private sanitariums, and many are in the last stages when sent there. Five nurses are employed. Rupert Eit- monds, who holds the world record for hurling the javelin is a tubercular in- mate at the institution. Mrs. L. E. Hoffman and Reuben were at the Dave Douglass home on Monday and brought reports of ice appearing up there Monday morning. Mrs. Henson phoned down from Zig Zag Monday that the tomatoes and other vegetables looked like "dis- ablers" after Jack Frost got in his work Sunday night. Pridemore, the genial Government Camp hotel man, closed up the hotel for the season last week and took his chef down to the city last Saturday. The Pridemores will take a two weeks trip over to Seattle soon, and will spend the winter in Portland and Seat- tle. The season was not nearly so good as last year, largely on account of the roads, it is said. Mrs. Dave Douglass was down over Friday night to get in good fettle for the grange meeting next day. Hazel Beers has been performing the clerks' act at the Scales store for several days off and on. Mrs. A. W. Bell gave a delightful birthday party for her little daughter Margaret last Friday afternoon. Four kinds of cake, punch, ice cream and candy were served the happy little guests who were dressed up in their "best Sundays" and many of them felt especially favored in attending two parties in two days! Margaret received many nice presents and there were 7 candles on her beautiful birthday cake. Those present were Mildred, Marguerite and Ruth Barnett, Amanda Perret, Roberta and Donald Smith, Arletha Proctor, Lillian Perret, Lois Beers, Helma Dittert, Richard Mar- cany, Ronnie Eason, Winifred Glock- ner, Laura Hoffman, Jonne Shelley, Ellsworth Bell, Pauline and Margaret Bell. Those assisting Mrs. Bell were Mrs. R. S. Smith, Mrs. George Beers and Mrs. Fred Proctor. C. D. Purcell who paid the Crissey Gladioli farm a visit a few days ago and says it is worth while to take the trip to see the "beautiful sight." Cris- sey had his wonderful blossoms on exhibition at the Seward hotel the past week. Mr. Purcell found that Samuel B. Crissey, civil war veteran and father of "W. L." is a Decatur, Ill. man, which is near Purcell's home, so they had quite a visit talking about mutual friends. The Misses Blanche and Nettie Chase, daughters of the late Charles Chase, spent most of the past week with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hoaglum. Blanche Chase graduated with honor at a Seattle high school last spring and is now at the state tubercular hospital at Salem where she expects to enter training as a nurse. Blanche has enough credits to enter the Washington "U." but has decided to take a nurses course if her health will permit. Nettie, the next younger sister is also at Salem and is making good at her work. These girls were born at Sandy and all pioneers around here remember their father, also their grandfather, Harvey Chase. The Gray home and a number of town lots were once a part of the Chase farm. Mrs. Hoaglum and the Chase girls spent the afternoon with Mrs. J. M. C. Miller. Mrs. George Perret and Mrs. J. C. Duke gave a party for the little folk who took part in the children's day program last June on Thursday after- noon at the Perret home. Games amu- sing and the happy little fairies who "est- loved the nice party," baby Albert en- joying the part most of all. Cake and ice cream were served by the hostesses. The following were present: Lillian and Albert Perret, Mildred and Ruth Barnett, Margaret Bell, Roberta Smith, Arletha Proctor, Lola Dodd, Wanda Barber, Ronnie Eason, Amanda Perret, Larger "girls" were Bernice Dun- can, Jonne Shelley, Ruth Eason and Marguerite Barnett, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Duke and Mrs. Perret. Mr. Faulkman Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Faulkman Jr. and Mrs. Faulkman were all day Sunday guests of the Pizzola and Botano families Sunday. Mr. Faulkman knows this country very well and predicts this section will eventually be the biggest berry producing section near Portland. Faulkman is a berry man and should know. However, he says our roads are still against us. Even when the main trunk is finished, the cross roads will be in as bad shape as ever, for some time to come, judging from the present outlook. But, let us hope Mr. Faulkman does not vision rightly about the local roads. The party composed of Mr. and Mrs. George Perret and Lillian, Mrs. Ernest Harris, Mrs. Miller, also Miss Ger- tude Acheson of Portland drove to Hood River Saturday, returning Mon- day A. M. Mrs. Harris and Mr. Perret spent Saturday night and Sunday with Ernest Harris near Mt. Hood Lodge, and the "boys" went fishing the next morn- ing, securing a fair catch. It was cold up there, rained in the night and snow- ed in the morning. While the Nimrod's of the party fished the remainder had a delightful time visiting, driving and attending church. Mrs. Perret and Miss Acheson being guests of the I. R. Acheson fam- ily and Mrs. Miller of Mr. and Mrs. Bartness. It was decided the sermon by Rev. Boddy at the Community church of 1500 members was worth the trip up there! His subject was "The Technique of Successful Living," which when all summed up was in- dividual responsibility to God, to neigh- bor and to the community, none of which dare be shirked without dis- tressing to the individual, and the plea was, ask like Paul, "Lord what will Thou have me to do!" The party also drove to see the big tunnel burning, which was a weird sight in the dark. Drove through the world-famed passed Billy Sunday's ranch, saw the wonderful apple orchards ready to harvest, viewed the majestic scenery, up, back and round- about the delightful little city of Hood River, called on old friends, in fact filled the hours very full! Her baggage consisting of two let- ters, dealing with her father's war record, three-year-old Winnifred Jo- sephine McKinley passed through Port Arthur, Ontario, recently on the Can- adian Pacific on the way to her uncle's home in Swift Current, Sas- katchewan. From her faraway home in Glasgow, Scotland, to the Canadian West, more than 4000 miles, the little orphan had only the kindly directions of train and steamship officials to guide her.
