Middle Westerners Guests at Lodge

JENNINGS LODGE, Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Madden have entertained eight friends for a week. Their guests being Mr. and Mrs. Frederick and two children, Carl and Frederick and Mrs. Rentchler and son Daniel and the Misses Mildred and Elizabeth Hodgwick all of Belleville, Illinois.

The party has had a wonderful trip after visiting interesting places in Colorado and spending two months in California and was very much impressed with Oregon, its scenery and fruits.

Mr. Feickert is a baker in his home town and after a trip through some of Portland bake shops declares Colorado or California cannot compete with those in the city of Portland.

Another trip which called for praises from the Middle Westerners over the trip to Eagle Creek over the Columbia Highway.

The party left this week for home expecting to reach Belleville by September 30.

Campaign Planned For Sale of Seals

JENNINGS LODGE, Sept. 21.—Mrs. Edward Parson and A. J. Robbins spent Tuesday afternoon in Portland afternoon in the interest of the Parent Teacher Association work.

Many interesting things were gleaned at the meeting held at the Commercial Club rooms in the Rose City.

A campaign is to be launched here for the sale of the Red Cross seals this year. As Clackamas County get 25% of the seals sold in this county which could be used for a public health nurse, the P. T. A. and various organizations will lend their efforts to have our people purchase the seals at home. Last year Clackamas County sold $1300 worth of seals, but many of our people whose business places are in Portland purchased their seals in Multnomah county.

Christian Endeavor Starts Year Work

Community Sing at Oswego Is Success

OSWEGO, Sept. 20.—The "Community Sing" led by Walter Jenkins Tuesday night at Grange Hall was enjoyed immensely by all who went. Those who didn't miss a treat.

Mr. Jenkins spoke of the great value of community singing as a means of keeping up the morale of the people and the opportunity of social and community service it presents.

He invited the Community Singing Club to become a unit of the big chorus planned to greet the world with song in 1925. The Oswego unit will work this year for one hundred voices. Anyone who wishes to sing is cordially invited. No preparatory training is necessary.

The club will also organize a unit of the Whitney Boys Chorus. Mrs. Duncan Christensen will direct both units. Practice dates will be given when definitely arranged at the Tuesday night business meeting at the Congregational church September 20.

Social Service Club Attends State Meet

OAK GROVE, Sept. 20.—Preparations are being made to move the church to its new location.

Mrs. E. R. Davenport, F. Miller, H. W. Stevens, E. B. Peck, E. C. Young, W. C. Pierce, E. F. Fenwick, J. Butler, F. A. Smith, C. Bushnell and S. A. Brown all members of the Social Service club attended breakfast of the state federation of women's clubs in Portland last Saturday.

Carpenters are busy since the rain shingling roofs which were found to be leaky during the hard rain of Sunday.

Mrs. J. B. Evans and Margaret Wells were Portland visitors Monday. A number of the pupils of the school and some of the teachers attended.

MRS. J. M. C. MILLER Correspondent

Story Is Read of Old Circuit Riders

SANDY, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Lena St. Clair read a sketch of the old Powell Valley circuit riders and their works, at the Methodist quarterly conference session held at Pleasant Home, which is of interest to a large number of Enterprise readers. As months go into years the pioneer interests of this section slip a little farther back into history and it is refreshing when some one digs into the past and brings out a story of "real life," for it took strong souls and strong bodies to endure the hardships made to endure the coming of our present blessings.

A portion of Mrs. St. Clair's sketch is as follows: "The first missionary conference of the Methodist church in Oregon met at Salem in 1849 and at this session James H. Wilbur was appointed pastor at Oregon City and Portland. The old Powell Valley records go back to 1853, the year Bishop Ames organized the Oregon annual conference at Salem.

The first quarterly conference of the new charge was held at E. R. Scott's residence, Fairview. James Gerrish was pastor and he was allowed $200 for table expenses for the year. A Sunday School was organized at the Scott residence that summer and in October the second quarterly conference convened at Columbia school house, which was known at the time as the White school house, or Lebanon class, later becoming the Powell Valley class and still later Gresham.

"The third quarterly conference was held. There was a church reported built at Sandy and a Sunday School organized at Wilnot's school house. This latter point was at what is now known as the Wilkes school house.

"At the annual conference of '55 the Vancouver, Cascade and The Dalles circuit was divided and this part of the territory became the Milwaukee-Sandy circuit with C. Roe, preacher, in charge. C. W. Rook was added as assistant at $10 a month, which was estimated as table expenses.

"In a steward's report, July 29, 1855, Richey's class is mentioned, which was located in what is now Pleasant Valley. In November '55 Aaron Kelly, of the Orient class is mentioned. This is now Pleasant Home.

"At a quarterly conference of the Milwaukee-Sandy circuit, held at Eagle Creek, October 11, 1856, a resolution was passed recommending the publication of the Pacific Christian Advocate at Portland instead of Salem.

"Between '55 and '75 the pastors of the Milwaukee-Sandy circuit were J. W. Miller, J. H. P. Royal, C. O. Hoffer, C. G. Belnap, C. H. Hall, N. A. Starr, W. I. Casper, J. S. Molain, Joseph Hoberg and Wallace Hulbert. Louis Albert Banks was engaged to assist his uncle, W. Hulbert, for four months at $25 a month. J. H. Wood who lives at Gresham says he remembers the little pioneer church at Sandy which was built in 1855.

"An innovation was made at the first quarterly conference in '80-'81 by the appointment of a 'female finance committee' consisting of women from all points of the Powell valley circuit. This was no doubt the beginning of the Ladies' Aid societies.

"On January 9, 1880 a terrific storm swept the country and destroyed the grove on the camp grounds. In a fire at Gresham in 1901 the parsonage was burned which wiped out the records of the Powell Valley circuit from '84 to that time.

"Perhaps the most important act of the Pleasant Home conference was the vote to change the name of Gresham community center to the old name, Powell Valley circuit, following the reading of the historical sketch by Mrs. St. Clair, the circuit

Taxes Are Explained To Orient Grangers

SANDY, Sept. 20.—The Pomona Grange at Orient this week was well attended. There were about 135 seated at the first table in the large dining hall, and during the day over 300 people were fed. Many Portland grangers were present and the entire session was of much interest.

Among the speakers of the day was Ira Carl, lawyer of Portland, who gave exhaustive figures to tell why taxes are so high; summing it all up said it was because the people voted them for road and other improvements; claiming, however, that the license fees and gas tax would cover the appropriations made by the legislature for roads. He stated that the people themselves, over the state at large, voted an increase of over six million outside of the constitutional limitation laws.

An urgent plea to get busy for the 1925 fair was made by Carl who says we cannot yet grasp what three continental highways will mean! Many tourists will drive here via auto from the east and we shall need to be ready to receive them.

Carl also urged for a "raise in moral standards" more law enforcement, and less red tape in courts which eat up our tax money.

Supt. Smith of the Multnomah Farm gave an interesting talk on the way the farm is managed. Smith said there were 600 families in the county receiving help beside the inmates. He helps supply food to 350 dependants at present, 150 of whom are in jail. In '20 the production of human food at the farm amounted to over $25,000. There are 25 dairy cows, 90 hogs, 800 hens, and 15 to 18 acres are cultivated in gardens each year beside the hay, stock and other feed raised for the camp. Taxpayers pay for the groceries.

Asked if the inmates could not do most of the work, Smith said people must remember that most of the inmates who landed there were broken in mind and body, only a few being able to work.

The Russellville Grange won the banner for the largest gain of membership in the third time. 114 members were added to their number the past three months.

18 Seasons Spent With Big Cannery

SANDY, Sept. 20.—Mrs. C. A. Bowers, now of Sandy, will go to Vancouver the last of the month to work for the Washington Fruit Grower's Association, which will make 18 consecutive years Mrs. Bowers, (Miss McKee) has worked at the same packing plant, which has changed hands a few times but is still a "branch of the original tree."

Mrs. Bowers began to pick up prunes when five years of age and has done all phases of prune work. Mrs. Bowers superintends the labeling of boxes, in fact has been formerly in everything from office to label room. The entire system of grading has changed since the war, a new grader and processor having been installed which is a great labor saver and is more sanitary. The new process uses steam and hot water which insures the fruit from mold and worms and when properly packed the fruit will keep. The work will last from October to May.

Mrs. Bowers is also a milliner and has worked in the same shop in Vancouver for the past seventeen years during the summer season.

Old Stork Bird Is Busy Around Sandy

SANDY, Sept. 20.—The stork left a big husky baby boy of twelve pounds at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hanneberg of Bull Run vicinity on Sunday September 11. This is the twelfth child in the Hanneberg family, and the parents are receiving congratulations from all sources.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ten Eyck (May Moore) are rejoicing over the arrival of their firstborn, a fine little fellow of nine pounds. "He" was evidently carried safely over those Marmot hills by the careful, wary old "bird" for, while the four Ten Eyck girls were returning from a highway trip on Thursday, the 15th, three storks were flying in various directions and one of the girls remarked that probably one would land at "home" and sure enough young Richard Norman was there when they arrived! Henry Ten Eyck, the adoring father is "running in high gear" now, and "Grandpa" Ten Eyck is equally "strung up." "Ivy" says they should have been twelve babies left, for everyone of the twelve Ten Eyck want to hold the little fellow at once.

Jocelyn Purchases Fine Poland Chinas

SANDY, Sept. 20.—On September 1 Wm. Jocelyn, our neighbor, purchased the entire herd of big type Poland China hogs from Ray J. Fox of Lines, Ore. In this herd are some real outstanding sows, such as Lady Junie, B. Foxes Smooth Queen, and Minnie Wonder, recently bought in the east at a very long figure with a litter of 10 fine pigs by her side from the Junior Grand Champion boar of Neb., 1920.

This fine herd added to the herd Jocelyn purchased last spring makes over 80 pure bred Poland Chinas of as fine blood lines as are to be found in the country.

Dwyer Rail Road Work Progressing

SANDY, Sept. 22.—Papers are being signed up for the right of way for the Dwyer railroad and the Sandyridge-Firwood farmers are feeling jubilant. The farmers are donating the right of way except for an approximate cost of clearing, where the road crosses cleared lands. It goes through the south side of the Pizzola ranch, Hasselwanders, Kaisers' and the old Gus Thiel homestead is cut in two, O'Neill's place (the old John Posholtz ranch) is touched on the south by a quarter of an acre, Algire's land is touched and on through the Burn to J. G. DeShazer's farm. The Keisicker and Strong places are also reached in the work done.

The building of the railroad is progressing steadily, though slowly. A cut 2,000 feet long is being made in a hill that will cost $10,000 to finish. People along the new line are already counting on their outlet to the city, as they say roads to Sandy cannot be improved soon because of highway taxes being so heavy.

Post Office Exams For Sandy Date Set

SANDY, Sept. 20.—The date of October's is announced for the civil service examination for Sandy Post Office applicants, at Portland. The following persons are training for the ordeal and will no doubt have an interesting time when Uncle Sam's quizzing begins: C. P. Purcell, the present postmaster, R. E. Esson, Mrs. Blanche Sheley and Mrs. Kate Schmitz. Some "dark horses" may appear on the scene when the day arrives.

ROAD GRADE GOOD

The location of the new two-and-a-half mile road by the county road reviewers beginning on the Mt. Hood loop just this side of Cherryville will give an outlet to a number of settlers up there and the grade is good.

SANDY SCHOOL NOTES

SANDY, Sept. 21.—The high school directors have invited state Superintendent Churchill to visit the Sandy schools. Mr. Churchill has not been here for two or three years.

Alta Beers a high school junior, is boarding at the Scharke home this term.

Mrs. Tillman has thirty-seven pupils in her room, and it keeps her on the jump to keep the little ones busy.

Lewis Murray is keeping a batch in a little cabin east of the school house and seems to be thriving on his own cooking.

The high school young folks are getting ready to play basket ball and are putting the Meinig hall in shape for the same.

Miss Essner Mixer and Vera Mixer left Portland on Monday for Newport. Miss Mixer is recovering from a tonsil operation.

Miss Elsie Lippold was an overnight guest of the Miller household on Saturday.

The Bull Run school opened with Mrs. Ada Burch of Portland at the helm.

The following are first year students at the Sandy union high school, Walter Dodson, Theodore Strong, Edith Hein, Dorothy Mattingly, Dorothy Esson, Hazel Dixon, Alta DeShazer, Caroline Chown and Frieda Dobbler.

C. L. Fisk deserves special mention for his generosity in doing so much donation work about the school grounds. Fisk got tired of looking at a big stump in the corner of the yard, so went after it. He also put up a new flag pole (Albion Meinig assisted) that Old Glory might wave more proudly. Fisk fixed several other little things up that he was too big to put in a bill for, which shows a live interest in the welfare of the schools.

Parents, teachers and scholars will have to be patient yet awhile, till the
