The residence is equipped with all modern conveniences, and the farm buildings are of late type. A private water system supplies the residence and farm buildings with water. It is said the price was $40,000. The soil is considered among the best in Clackamas county, and adapted for growing melons, berries, asparagus.

Hallowe'en Prank Played On Officer

CANBY, Or., Nov. 1.—Night Officer Rothenburg, while rounding up several hobos here on hallowe'en night, had his rifle stolen by some local boys while out for a big time. Rothenburg had locked two hobos in the jail, and was hunting for two others, who had been ordered out of the city, but refused to leave. As they went into the Prouty confectionary the night officer followed them, he left his rifle outside.

The boys seeing the night officer leave his rifle near the store, quietly slipped up, and took it, and hastening down the street, discharged every cartridge and then they ran over to a back street, leaving the gun in the yard of Mrs. Ella Kocher, who is non-possessed of fire-arms of this kind, did not appreciate the gift, and called the assistance of the Southern Pacific agent, who is making his home at the Kocher residence, to remove the gun. A careful examination was made and the fire-arm proved to be empty. It was returned to the rightful owner. It is the custom of Mr. Rothenburg to carry a revolver, but he decided to carry a gun that all the boys out for a hallowe'en time could see on Monday night.

Myles Noble was absent from school part of last week on account of a knee which was hurt in the Canby-Woodburn football game.

Mildred and Eleanor were masked at the party Friday evening and caused very much curiosity during the evening. All their faces were revealed. The remainder of the Senior class were dressed in attractive paper dresses.

Mildred Henriksen spent Sunday evening at the home of Doretta Feist, a Freshman.

Cora Ausve was an Oregon City visitor Saturday.

The Senior civics class has been using the Oregon Blue Book quite extensively lately.

The lights going out last Friday evening about 10:30 gave a very "spooky" effect to the latter part of the party. A couple of candles were used which proved to be rather dim lights.

A member of the faculty appeared as a ghost carrying a Jack-O-Lantern which was the only light in the room, and told a very fitting story in a spooky voice.

Monday started off with an assembly, at which an announcement was made by Mrs. Carlidge that but two days this week would be spent in school owing to the Teacher's Institute which will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday in Oregon City. All teachers are restricted by law to attend this, consequently we will have no school during this time.

Mrs. Carlidge also urged the students to place an ideal before them in their work and to make it a worthy one. She emphasized the fact that while athletics were desirable in a school, still they were not an end to work to and no college would injure how much athletics you had had, but how many credits in required work.

Nothing anymore important than this was covered in this assembly.

Every member of our H. S. Student Body organization received a gold ribbon with "C. H. S. I Have Paid" on it in blue. Notice any local students of C. H. S. and you will see these pinned on in a most conspicuous place. These are to be used as passports to all games this semester, so it will have to be well treated.

Mastodon Tusks Come From Siberia. Here is a whole pier full of mastodon tusks from Siberia, which will be utilized in the United States for their ivory. Recently the cargo, purchased for Siberian walrus tusks, was unloaded on this wharf at the Portland (Ore.) municipal terminal, when it was discovered that the tricky natives had substituted the ancient mastodon tusks for the walrus ivory. Scientists and ivory experts have explained, however, that this ivory can easily be utilized for almost every usual use as it is in a splendid state of preservation, despite its great age. For thousands of years it has lain buried beneath ice and sand.

ASSESSMENTS SHOW INCREASE IN VALUATIONS

CLACKAMAS COUNTY ROLL COMPLETE

Gain Nearly $200,000; Much is Exempted Under New Regulations

The assessed valuation of Clackamas county for the year of 1921 is $24,503,165, according to figures completed Wednesday afternoon by Assessor W. B. Cook.

This represents an actual increase of $181,955 over last year when the assessed valuation totaled $24,321,210. These figures, Mr. Cook explains, do not show the increase in the entire valuation for the reason that the exemptions this year were larger than ever before. A total of $65,785 was exempted for old soldiers who under the new state law can claim exemption of personal and real property up to $1,000. There were 102 such claims filed so far this year.

Canemah park, now used as a public auto camp grounds was also exempted. Its value is $13,500 on the assessment roll of last year. It these two exemptions were included, it would have raised the assessed valuation of the county $26,990 above last year—an increase of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

No figures on the valuation of the public service corporations have yet been received from the state. Last year their valuation was $5,369,623.11. The assessment total does not include this figure.

As an example of the growth of the assessed valuation, Mr. Cook points out that in 1917 the figure for the county was $22,299,445. In 1919 this was $23,811,888. The value of the corporations in Clackamas county has shown a steady decrease since 1919, when they amounted to $5,497,071.84. In 1918 they dropped to $5,390,942.05. In 1919 they increased to $5,459,901.55, but in 1920, getting the last figures available they fell to $5,369,623.11. Clackamas county's rating on assessed valuation is 56 per cent of the actual value.

Assessed Valuations Increase; Comparative Figures Given

Comparative figures upon the assessed valuation of Clackamas County for 1921 and 1920 are contained in two tables prepared by County Assessor W. B. Cook, showing in detail the totals in each of 20 classifications. These figures, under the state rating, represent, as the taxable valuation, 56 per cent of the actual value of all of the taxable property in the county.

Teachers Institute First in 10 Years; Attendance is 316

With 100 per cent enrollment of teachers from Clackamas county, the first annual three-day institute to be held in ten years, opened here Wednesday morning. For the past decade a three weeks summer school was held here in place of the institute but last year, with the passage of the new state law raising the teachers requirements to necessitate summer school work at a university, the system was voted back to the annual institute.

A total of 316 teachers registered at the opening session held Wednesday morning at the Oregon City high school building. Sixteen prominent educators and professional men from over the state compose the staff of lecturers which will continue the work through the three days of the session.

Teacher's Opportunity Shown—Declaring that the piece of the teacher in the social fabric of the nation should extend beyond the scope of mere scholastic endeavor, S. S. Duncan delivered the principal address at the afternoon assembly. The teacher, he said, should be a real influence in the civic, commercial, social and moral life of the community. Not only should the teacher become acquainted with the needs and activities of his community outside of the actual school life, but she should take an active part in the building of better standards and the realization of higher ideals, he said.

Mr. Duncan who is superintendent of Yamhill county superintended the position of the teacher as one which presented unexcelled possibilities for public leadership and service. He urged more active interest in things outside of the schoolroom and the curriculum so that the teacher would become an integral part in the life of the community and assume her real position in the scheme of society.

H. T. Hopkins, president of Pacific University spoke on "The Consolation Prize." He touched upon the various problems attendant upon the work of the teacher throughout a field often fraught with local prejudice and opposition.

The Clackamas county division of the Oregon State Teachers' Association was actively engaged Wednesday in enrolling members, taking advantage of the opportunity of seeing all the teachers of the county while they are gathered here for the institute. Practically one hundred per cent of the county teachers have taken O. S. T. A. membership certificates. County chairman W. L. Arant has announced the following committees, which will report Thursday.

Mill at Estacada Ships Much Lumber

Cordwood is being shipped from Estacada at the rate of several carloads each day. Hundreds of cords are piled along the car tracks in this locality.

Road District May Vote Special Tax

At the regular meeting of the Gladstone City Council Tuesday evening, County Judge H. E. Cross sent in a petition to be signed by taxpayers to call a meeting of the taxpayers of Road District No. 5 for the purpose of voting a special road tax. The petition was turned over to Attorney William Hammond secretary of the newly organized Gladstone Community Club, who will present it to the people at the next meeting of the club which will be held Friday, November 4, at the Gladstone school house.

City Treasurer Ben Hayhurst tendered his resignation to the council, but no action was taken.

City Attorney William Hammond was instructed to take up the question of paving Portland avenue with the Portland Railway Light & Power Company. The city has $3500 on hand in the paving fund and if the taxpayers would vote an additional tax, Portland avenue could be paved from Clackamas boulevard to the county road at Fern Ridge. The city has repaired Portland avenue to some extent during the past week.

395 Visit W. C. T. U. Rest Room in Week

Beginning with Monday, October 24, and ending Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, there were 395 visitors in the rest room of Oregon City conducted by the W. C. T. U. Acting as hostesses and the number of the visitors for each day are as follows: Monday, October 24, Mrs. A. B. Kintoul, hostess; Tuesday, Mrs. Margaret Stewart; Wednesday, Mrs. Chandler; Thursday, Mrs. William Baldwin; Friday, Mrs. A. O. Hollingsworth; Saturday, Mrs. Elizabeth Glover, 125 on Saturday Mrs. Stewart served hot vegetable soup to those desiring the same when bringing their lunch to the rest room. The vegetables were from the Stewart garden and donated by the hostess, who has planned to serve hot victuals at a nominal cost on her day as hostess, which is the fourth Tuesday of each month.

As these members of the W. C. T. U. are donating their services each day to act as hostesses to the many visitors, who are given the privilege free of charge to rest in the easy chairs or on the couches that have been provided the home-like room, or where they may have other accommodations, they have found a "shower" of wood to be a most acceptable gift. There are many in the rural sections who could easily place a few sticks of wood in their wagon or automobile to town and donate to the rest room. This would be greatly appreciated by the women. A few days ago one of the hostesses took up her duties for the day, and found that the sticks of wood remaining were too much for her to split, as they were filled with knots, and before a fire could be made to warm the room, she had to scurry for some one to split the wood. This was also pale out by the W. C. T. U. Every stick will count. If every farmer who came to town on Saturday would bring one small stick of wood, there is no doubt that the rest room of Oregon City would have enough wood to last during the winter months. Saturday, November 5th, has been designated as "wood day" for the Oregon City rest room. If you have an extra stick, bring it along.

One visitor from Canby was in the room a few days ago, and exclaimed, "I did not know this room was here, and now I do see how Oregon City has without such a place." While another was from a Willamette valley city, and said "I am going to tell the women of our city about this rest room and see what we can do to establish such a place."

A telephone, which among the conveniences of the room, is at the disposal of the visitors without charge, for local calls.

REGULATIONS OF ALL INTERURBAN BUS LINES, PLAN

ORDINANCE PROPOSED BY CITY COUNCIL

Projected Law Would Require Operators to Obtain Local Franchise

Regulation of the stages and busses which run through Oregon City is proposed in an ordinance which passed on first reading at the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday evening.

The proposed ordinance provides that all "Interurban Public Utility Vehicles" operated through Oregon City from a point outside of the corporate limits of the town must obtain a franchise.

No provision as to the terms of the franchise is made, but it is provided that each franchise shall be granted by ordinance which shall specify the arrangements for that particular case.

The proposed law, however, provides a penalty of $50 (one or 30 days imprisonment or both) for failure to secure a franchise while operating.

Matter Long Considered—It is understood that the proposed law is aimed especially at the busses operating between Portland and Salem and the heavy duty trucks which carry freight over the Pacific highway. The matter has been discussed at the council numerous times but this is the first official action to be taken. The final passage of the ordinance is scheduled for a special meeting.

The council, at the special request of property owners appearing to back a petition signed by 145 people, ordered the city engineer to determine the cost of repairing the bridge on Madison street above the Barclay school. A number of those present spoke of the bad condition of the structure, but the council pointed out that no funds for its repair would be available until after the passage of the budget for next year.

Bids for the improvement of four streets, submitted by W. D. Andrews, the only bidder were referred to the street committee. The bids are: Front street in Green Point, $4560.30; 15th from Harrison to Division, $12,284; Harrison, 15th to 16th, $1760.60; Harrison, 7th to Division, $5074.21.

Estimate Claims Refused—A bill presented by the city engineer to allow W. D. Andrews payments on monthly estimates for work done on the 14th street contract, was refused upon advice of the city attorney. There was no provision in the charter under which this method of payment could be made. Mr. Andrews pointed out that the specifications upon which bids were submitted stipulated that monthly payments upon the work completed would be paid, and suggested that this be changed so contractors would be able to bid upon the proper basis. He said that if the contractor is forced to carry the entire expense until the job is completed, the ultimate cost will be greater.

Reports submitted showed that the collections of the city recorder during October amounted to $1104.92, of this amount $90 was raised through the vehicle tax. The chief of police reported that there had been one arrest made during the month, 50 hobos given lodging in the jail overnight, and fines totaling $49 collected.

FIFTY-THREE YEARS AGO

Taken from the Oregon City Enterprise October 31, 1868.

The Clackamas Paper Mill is now making a superior grade of Manila and straw wrapping paper.

Next season there will be three first-class merchant flouring mills in operation in Oregon City.

Large Squash—A squash which weighed 62 1/2 pounds, was disposed of at a raffle at Barlow & Fuller's store in this city on last Saturday evening. This was raised by J. P. Blanchard, of Canemah.

A Year Old—The Oregon City Enterprise, published and edited by D. C. Ireland began its second volume with the issue of Saturday. When Brother Ireland commenced its publication it was considered extremely doubtful whether the undertaking could be carried through a single year, but the result has been quite different, having been once enlarged through pressure of advertising patronage, and is now a valuable institution to Clackamas and adjoining counties. Ireland is a natural newsman, and if his readers do not get all the current items worth knowing it is not his fault. We wish for the second volume of the Enterprise double the prosperity of the first.—Oregonian.

(Thank you we shall try to merit all of it, and more.)

Estacada Fruit Co. Shipments are Big

Only 130 boxes of fruit remained in the warehouse of the Estacada Packing company following a car shipment to Portland last week.

It has been declared that farmers realized nearly five cents a pound for their berries this year, on account of the semi-co-operative method used in conducting the cannery.

As a result of incorporation papers filed by a group of growers, next season will witness a repetition of the co-operative cannery system.
