Molalla Bridge Is Damaged by Floods

CANBY, Nov 21 .- (Special) .- The Molalla river bridge here which was opened for travel Saturday has been closed as the cave in at the south approach has rendered it unsafe. Monday night it was not believed that the bridge would go down, but if the water rises much more it will endanger the structure. Two bents have already been torn cut by the logs which were carried down the river

The Molalla river has put much of the land near Canby under water where the river has overflowed its banks.

Cattle Marooned Near this city and marooned on an island are two cows. Effort has been made to rescue them, but as the water is too swift for anyone to get near, it is believed they will be able to be saved, as the water commenced fall- New Canby Garage ing Saturday night.

In the Barlow section the water has reached such a stage in places causing a number of the residents to move from their homes. Among those who were compelled to move was the family of William Bany. Mr Bany remained until Sunday, but as the water raised so rapidly that it was necessary evening, when the affair was largely for friends to go to his aid with a row boat and rescue him.

A short distance beyond Aurora a number of homes are at the water's edge, and unless the rain ceases these tra played for the dancing. The spa will be under water.

the floded condition of the Adkins mill section. The home of Leo Riggs. located near Milk Creek, was under and presented souvenirs to the visiwater on Sunday. The family escaped with their lives, but their furniture on ture automobiles gotten out for the the firs tfloor is badly damaged. Four swine in the pen were drowned. The water raised so rapidly at that place, that the family had no time to save the swine or carry their furniture from the first floor. The S. P. Rail road company has built a breakwater near that point, and has made a new channel for Milk Creek, and causing the water to come towards the Klohe home, it is said. Several years ago this family lost all of their outbuildings automobile and all of their poultry by the Milk Creek overflowing its banks. The family was able to return to their home today

Mr. Morse, who is the engineer for Lane county, was accompanied by Mrs Morse and his four daughters, Marjoria-Lee, Katherine, Marion and Elizcboth. They will spend the Thanksgiving holidays in the metropolis.

It is possible, says Mr. Morse, to nake the trip from Eugene without interruption by going from Salem, to Dallas and thru Airlie to Cervailis Thus the washouts at Jefferson, where two bridges are down, can be avoided The road over this part is paved for the majority of the way and the remainder is good macadam. Pacific Highway Taken

The Morses took the new Pacific Route to Portland. It is their first trip over this section of the new road. Mr. Morse has been working in con junction with the highway commission on the Pacific highway Lane county, a thorofare which he says will rival er Willaniette. Lane county is completing a comprehensive road improvement program this year. In additon to its new projects, the county has built up one of the finest systems of upkeep and maintenance in the west. The standard road with the exception of main arteries is macadam. This has been laid for the reason that with the extensive mileage, hard surface was too expensive. In order to keep up the roads, the county has a large amount of equipment, including trac-

This does not include the many thousands of dollars spent by the state and federal government on roads in Lane county during the last vear. Among the chief projects on which arge expenditures have been made are $44,500 on the McKenzie highway, which has been matched by the state and federal government; $35,500 on the Pacific highway; $39,000 on the Plachly road: $49,000 on equipment. repair and rock crushers. $34,500 on bridges, and $108,600 in the various road districts.
