ITEMS FROM MARMOT

The literary club of Marmot had it's second meeting last Saturday evening. The school house was crowded, which showed the splendid spirit with which the people are taking hold. The judges decided in the negative on the quesland recently visiting relatives and tion that the 1925 fair will be a benefit to Oregon, though both sides were well argued. The next question to be debated is that capital punshment should be abolished. Elijah Coalman and Mrs. Henry Aschoff will be the leaders.

A short program was also given which consisted of music, readings and dialogues. The next meeting will in the Circuit Court of the State of be on December 3 at which time, a Christmas program will be given. The
