Miss Betty Forbes, one of Oregon City's most graceful young dancers, appeared on the program at the Masonic temple Tuesday evening during the intermission of the installation ceremonies of the Order of the Eastern Star. Miss Forbes, attired in a highlander costume, received an ovation when she favored her audience with one of her popular dances. Her accompanist on that evening was Miss Valeria Meyer.

Among the most impressive features of the installation ceremonies was the newly elected worthy matron, Mrs. Arloa Hempstead had taken the oath of office, and presented with a handsome bouquet of flowers arranged in the form of star, with flowers richly tinted to represent the emblem of the order, who in turn presented this to Mrs. Inez Ryan, wife of Judge Thomas Ryan, who is past worthy matron, while Judge Ryan is past worthy grand patron. Mrs. Ryan, who has been a helpless invalid at her home in Gladstone for almost seven years, has not been without flowers during the entire period of her illness, being a lover of flowers, and the bouquet presented by the Worthy Matron, Mrs. Hempstead, on this occasion added joy when taken to the Ryan home.

The retiring worthy matron, Mrs. Minnie Stevens, spoke briefly during the evening when turning over to the new officer her chair. During the time Mrs. Stevens has served in this important office, she has initiated about 50 members in the order, and has worked untiringly in carrying out her duties. In appreciation of the interest she took, she was presented with a handsome emblem pin. From the order, and a beautiful basket of flowers from her husband, Samuel Stevens, responding to the same.

During the evening Miss Forbes also acted as a flower girl, when the Pioneer Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, presented a number of the officers presiding with flowers and potted plants.

The committee in charge of the entertainment and banquet was composed of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Eby, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Caulfield, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Rands, Mrs. J. H. Walker, Dr. W. E. Hempstead. The table decorations were in charge of Mrs. Thomas Keith.

Music—Mrs. Nieta Barlow Lawrence. Although it was 12 o'clock when the visitors left the Masonic banquet hall, for their homes, the Portland people, numbering about 50, planned and carried out a little surprise for the newly installed worthy matron, Mrs. Hempstead, wife of Dr. W. E. Hempstead, at Gladstone, arriving at the Hempstead home at an appointed hour, while the Hempstead family was still at the Masonic temple, gained entrance and took possession. Upon reaching their home, Dr. and Mrs. Hempstead and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Jones were somewhat surprised to find the Hempstead home lighted, and when hearing the lights "tured off." A burglar was the first thought of the two families, and they decided to surround the home and "grab" the intruder when he attempted to make his escape. After waiting for a brief time they got up enough courage to venture in and to their surprise 50 guests in waiting. Music and cards were enjoyed until the early hours. Dr. Hempstead and his wife proving most hospitable host and hostess when they served refreshments before the Portland friends departed for Portland.

This was in the form of a housewarming, and proved a most delightful affair.

One of the pleasing features of the evening was the presentation to the host and hostess of a handsome silver sandwich plate.

Did You Ever Stop to Think Why Camels Have Such Heavy Calloused Pads on Their Knees?

THE first men who used camels were desert rovers with only their camels for protection against their enemies. In the day-time the camels were used for their speed in running away, but at night the camels formed a ring outside the camp and they were forced to kneel and were prevented by straps from lying down. It was thus that men protected their wealth in the nomad days. Today, far-sighted men protect their wealth by depositing it with strong financial institutions.

The smaller your wealth is the more it needs protection. The size of your first deposit will not in the least affect your welcome when you come to open an account with us.
