QUESTION IS CITED

"My weekly paper is located on the Pacific highway, midway between Portland and Salem. I am also 15 miles from Oregon City-therefore in the buying territory of three good market points, besides my own trading center of Aurora. The home business houses are not numerous enough: I need more business to buy more biscuits for the babies, and the question comes up, "How do I solicit out-of-town advertising?"

"I will not carry, knowingly, an advertisement that is false or misleading and in return, I apply the same policy to my ad soliciting."

"My rate happens to be 20 cents per inch, and 20 cents they all pay, regardless of where located or what they sell. I receive inspiration and hunches' from reading 'The Editor and Publisher.' 'Pacific Printer' and exchanges, and apply every new idea I can secure. This boils the answer down to the simple fact that I go after it, continue to go after it, and have the goods to deliver."
