Relief organizations have used hominy grits with great success in Europe and Asia Minor, where it proved in more water if necessary. Serve hot acceptable to thousands in spite of in a gravy boat with the pudding. the fact that it was an unfamiliar

Although of the same food value as a coarser, degermed hominy, grits have the advantage of cooking in a much shorter time. To many people their flavor and texture are preferable, possibly because the butter, meat fat, or gravy used with them penetrates through the dish better than in the case of the coarse hominy. If grits are soaked in advance the cooking period can be shortened con-

The first step in preparing grits for the table is to boil them, like any other cereal. Of course, boiled hominy in the form of grits is frequently used for a breakfast food, or as a lunch or supper dish with a sweet sauce; its possibilities for dinner seem to be less familiar except in the South. For each cup of hominy grits 4 to 5 cups of water is allowed. This should be seasoned with 2 teaspoons of salt. The grits should be added slowly to the salted boiling water and coked for 10 minutes over the fire. Then the cooking should be contnued for two hours in a double boiler or finished overnight in the fireless

The favorite combination of meat and grits in the South is "hog and hominy," which may be roast pork, fried pork chops or tenderloin, baked leg of pork, or fresh pork sausage, served with a generous helping of plan boiled hominy grits. Some of the fat from the meat is mixed with the grits in place of butter. Sometimes the idea of "hog and hominy" may be stretched to include ham or bacon, and there is no reason why those who enjoy salt pork should not eat it with hominy grits as a starchy vegetable.

To vary ordinary muffins a small quantity of cold boiled hominy grits can be used instead of part of the flour. In making gems with any cooked starchy cereal it is necessary to have the batter stiffer than in allwheat flour mixtures, since the cooked cereals contain a considerable proportion of water.

The following recipe is recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture: Hominy Muffins

LINGUISTS UPSET OLD IDEA

Fond Belief Long Held by Young Mothers Would Seem to Be Without Foundation.

It is commonly believed that a baby, when growing up and learning to talk, speaks the words "ma" and "da" through constantly hearing these uttered by others. This idea, however, is upset by certain students of languages, who advance a totally different theory.

In most languages, "ma" is generally the first syllable spoken by a child, according to linguists. It is the root of the word "mother." As a baby opens its mouth and then exhales breath it is quite possible that it makes this exclamation unconsciously.

Some persons believe that there is no such thing as a "natural" tongue to the world; for, they say, if all babies over one year old were caused to become deaf and dumb, they would be obliged to go through the identical slow process of inventing and evolving a tongue as man was compelled to do in days

An ancient king of Egypt, Psammeticus, placed two children among a herd of goats on one occasion. They were never allowed to hear a human voice, yet, after two years, the children were able to say the word "bekos," which meant bread. The king's conclusion, naturally, was that his people were the first in the world and their tongue the only true one.

Famous Nuremburg Bible.

Following the discovery of copperplate engraving we have the printing of the Gutenberg Bible, said by some authorities to be the first use of movable type. Soon Savonarola is distributing his sermons in pamphlet form among the people. Kobruger has "perfected" the press. "Perfected up" books are being published. A rich doctor of Rome is successfully experimenting with type, when appears the Chronicle at the Nuremburg press. (Columbus has found the New world.) At this press Durer is apprenticed to Wolgemuth, and, together with Pleydendorf, they compose the art staff of the Chronicle. And they make the type.

This publication is to appear yearly. Some copies are to be bound, but for the most part it is to be issued as a newspaper. It is the first printed newspaper in the world-or did China have one? Printing was first used there in 202 B, C., but the secret

Nature's Wood Works.

One of the greatest sources of ornate wood is to be found in burls which are malformations of tree growth produced by insect attack or other pathologic condition. The most valuable burls are found at the roots. In walnut they often weigh from 500 pounds to a ton, says the American Forestry Magazine. They are so likely to be defective that it is a gamble as to how they will open up in saw-There are thousands of little buds with little circlets of wood about them and irregular pigment deposits which work up into fantastic designs with little or no resemblance to normal wood.
