DAILEY CLAY COMPANY LOSES 20 ACRE CLAIM

Decision of the Secretary of Interior Department Will Cut Holdings at Molalla.

The Dailey Clay Products company is to lose 20 acres of its claim at Wilhoit. The company originally held 80 acres but were unable to obtain a patent from the Land Department for more than 60 acres, the remaining 20 acres, although not classified were withdrawn by the government for water power purposes.

Work by the Dailey Clay Products company was commenced several years ago and the clay mined at Wilhoit was shipped to Warrenton to be made into china and pottery.

Clay produced from this claim now is hauled to the factory of the Cascade China Co., at Portland and the raw material is converted into the finished product.
