Auto Park Site Is Discussed at Lunch

CANBY, March 28.—At the second luncheon of business men in Canby held today plans were made regarding an automobile park for the accommodation of tourists during the coming season. Two sites were considered. These were in the vicinity of Good's bridge in the northeastern part of the county on the Molalla river, while the other was near the fair grounds in a grove that would be a most attractive place, and where city water could be obtained with little expense.

A committee was appointed to look after this proposition, and this is composed of H. B. Evans, Grant White and L. Lent, who will make their report at the next Tuesday's luncheon.

The luncheons will be held at the various places. The first was held at the Cottage Hotel on Tuesday, March 21, when Dr. and Mrs. John Fuller acted as hosts, and the former arranged unique place cards with the following wording: "Boost the Boosters, Knock the Knockers and Put Canby on the Map." A chicken dinner was served at the Cottage.

Among those attending today's meeting were Arthur Graham, M. J. Lee, E. F. Hoy, H. B. Evans, W. H. Bair, H. Bond, J. R. Vinyard, R. Smith, G. W. White, Clarence Eld, C. V. Frouty, D. G. Clark and L. Lent.

Canby Hotel Robbed; Loot Totals But $3

CANBY, March 29.—On Monday night a thief made the rounds at the Cottage and Commercial hotels, succeeding in getting away with $3 belonging to a young man by the name of Yoder, who is employed in construction work on the Koshlar building, from the Cottage hotel, and getting a woman's watch at the Commercial hotel. The discovery of the theft in the Cottage hotel was not made until Tuesday night. The man evidently slipped into Yoder's room while the latter slept and carried out a number of shirts and a pair of trousers and after carefully examining these articles for money and jewelry, threw the clothing in the corner of a hallway. The landlady, Mrs. John Fuller, believing that the roomer had left this clothing for the laundryman, paid no attention to them until Tuesday night when the matter was discussed and further found that all doors of the rooms were found open even those that had been unoccupied the previous night. Upon investigation every room had been found ransacked, but nothing else stolen except the money from Yoder.

At the Commercial hotel a man was found on the floor, which had probably been dropped by the thief when in his haste to get away.

BASIN ROUTE IS REQUESTED FOR SOUTH END ROAD

Petition Is Circulated Asking County Court and Highway Commission Not to Locate Fifth Street as Outlet.

HILL LINE EXPENSE IS HELD NOT JUSTIFIED

Fifty-Five Sign Request to State Body; Residents of Canemah Favor Movement.

Petitions to the State Highway Commission and the county court, asking in effect that the Fifth street outlet to the South End road be discarded, were placed in circulation here Wednesday. It is understood that the petitions are sponsored by residents of the Canemah district and a number of business men on the lower part of Main street.

The petitions, originally framed for presentation to the South End Road committee of the local Commercial club, it was decided yesterday shall be presented to the court and the state commission. They ask that either the basin route or the Third street outlet be taken as the established line for the Pacific highway, setting forth the contention that the present plan is not one for the building of additional roads, and that it will be of benefit to the city to establish a routing for the highway travel that will traverse as much of the main part of the city as possible.

Basin Route Is Object

One of the purposes of the movement is to keep the basin route open to vehicle traffic. Under the projected agreement between the county and the Portland Railway, Light and Power company in which the traction company would aid in the financing of the Fifth street route, the basin route would be closed to autos and open only for trackage and foot travel. The Canemah people contend that the expenditure already made upon this route should be taken into consideration, along with the fact that it forms a water grade artery from Oregon City south.

Sponsors of the petition will today attempt to make a change in the wording of the document, striking out the "Third street route" provision. This is to be done with the consent of the signers, of whom last night there were 55. Such action would ask both the county court and the highway commission to establish the basin route as the official line for the Pacific highway outlet from Oregon City.

Decision Expected Monday

The final decision on the part of the highway commission is expected by next Monday. At the last session, a ten-day period was granted for the definite arrangements to be made, and at that time very little opposition to the Fifth street routing was current.

Proponents of the basin route maintain that the highway commission has no authority to close the road there to automobile traffic as it was originally dedicated as a territorial road, and they are doubtful as to whether or not the county court will have the authority for such action. The highway commission has expressed the sentiment that the dangerous condition of the tracks liable to vehicular traffic along the Fifth street route, and the closing of this route, and they have indicated a marked preference for the hill routing.

Revised petitions are to be placed in circulation today, containing only the basin route provision and it is understood that they will be presented to the court and the highway commission. The signatures so far mainly comprise Main street property owners, the Park-Shepherd garage being the first on the list. M. C. Toban and W. Wentworth are among those actively interested in the circulation of the petitions.

The C. Gee Wo Chinese Medicine Co. is an established fixture at First and Morrison streets Portland, Ore., having occupied their offices there for a period of twenty two years in which time they have worked up a wonderful practice.

Dr. Wo is your typical Chinese gentleman, courteous, business-like, smiling, a man who effects wonderful cures when all others have failed.

By his wonderful system of work in which he uses the Chinese herbs and remedies handed down from a line of ancestors who had a high degree of civilization before some of our ancestors quit hanging in trees by their tails he has made some really wonderful cures.

Dr. Wo makes it a point to diagnose his case thoroughly and if he can do nothing with a case he is frank to say so, sometimes people who come to him have been given up by many other doctors but if there is any hope left Dr. Wo can bring health back. He does not claim to be a miracle worker, and there is certainly nothing swell headed about him, though he literally works wonders at times.

Bridge Arch, Scene of Hazardous Feat By Oregon City Girl

Walking across the arch of the new suspension bridge, which is but two and a half feet wide and 150 feet above the waters of the Willamette river, was a feat performed a few days ago by Miss Doris Steen, a 17-year-old girl of Oregon City.

Accompanied by the contractor, Joe Garrick, Miss Steen successfully negotiated the 300 feet of steeply curved and narrow archway. At no point in the crossing, Miss Steen declares did she feel in any way embarrassed by the perils of the performance. In fact so little attention did the young lady pay to the task of watching her steps that she found time to linger on the apex of the arch long enough to admire the view of Mount Hood and the surrounding country.

In addition to being the first woman to cross the new arch Miss Steen also holds the distinction of being one of the first to walk the 12-inch plank which was laid on the temporary bridge across the river when that structure was in course of construction.

Miss Steen who is a student of Miss Lou Cochran's short-hand and typewriting class of this city, explains that the necessary ingredients for the successful performance of such exploits are first a good sense of poise and secondly a determination to follow straight and narrow paths.

The term for which the panel was drawn will open April 17. There are only two jury terms in Clackamas county, the first opening on the third Monday in April and the second on the first Monday in November.

The jury panel is not the first on which women have served here as about a month and a half ago a woman's jury was called in the justice court.
