FIFTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

Died.—At his home in Canby March 14, 1892, William Evans, aged 75 years, 11 months and 25 days. Mr. Evans was one of the oldest and most respected residents of Clackamas county, and came to Clackamas county over 40 years ago. Three daughters and son survive. His wife died several years ago.

Motor Line Prospects.—There appears to be some competition in the matter of building an electric railway between Portland and Oregon City. This spring several surveying parties have been observed engaged on the west side of the river ostensibly locating a route for a motor line between this city and Portland by way of Oswego. It is understood that property owners along this line will submit a proposition to the company that will secure the building of a road on this side of the river. The chief expense of building this road would be the bridging of the Clackamas river and trestling across the flat north of the city.

Mrs. F. R. Charman entertained the Twilight Symphony Club at her home on Twelfth and Washington streets last Saturday evening. There were six couples outside of the Symphonies present. The evening was spent in cards and music. Refreshments were served.

James Chase is making extensive improvements about his residence on Seventh street on the bluff. A new gable and hip roof will be added to the house, and an addition will be built on the south side and hexagonal tower on the northwest corner. Stone foundation walls are being built under the house.

Housecleaning time is at hand and domestic help is scarce; a combination which furnishes opportunity to test out the soundness of this reasoning. If we go at it surely, not trying to do two day's work in one, perhaps we shall tap undiscovered wells of vigor, and, along with the perspiration, who knows?—we may work up an ooze of unsuspected inspiration!

PERSPIRATION AND INSPIRATION

Have you observed the relation between the two, may I ask? It is not a calamity to be condemned to a reasonable amount of upright, downright "sweat of the brow."

Fear not that it will kill "flow of soul." Very likely Abraham Lincoln conceived some of his greatest thoughts while splitting rails. Some of our best thinkers have known what strenuous toil is—Carlyle, St. Paul, George Eliott, Edison, and millions of others, known and unknown.

Physical stamina and spiritual are collateral. He or she whose flesh becomes flabby with inactivity does not produce anything mentally fine, "sweat drops of blood" intellectually. On the other hand, our best thoughts will exude with perspiration as we labor. Don't you find it so?

There is a lightness which comes from the fact that it may look like spiritual exuberance from a distance, but lacks balance, and is too dreamy to live by. Far better than philosophy's wrought out from the pug and strain of rugged living.

As a lady, do not be afraid of housework. Homer's Princess played ball with her maidens on the sea-shore while waiting for the sun and breezes to dry the washing they had just done in the splashing waves.

A charming household, when common sense is made on the sweet cleanliness of her house, confessed happily, "Do you know I love every bit of my housework! I get down on my knees and wash my kitchen linoleum myself. I glory in feeling that I can do it and think it keeps me fit."

Housecleaning time is at hand and domestic help is scarce; a combination which furnishes opportunity to test out the soundness of this reasoning. If we go at it surely, not trying to do two day's work in one, perhaps we shall tap undiscovered wells of vigor, and, along with the perspiration, who knows?—we may work up an ooze of unsuspected inspiration!

THE WOMAN CITIZEN

The Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs issues monthly a splendid little publication called "The Bulletin." Although not as showy as some, it is neat and efficient-looking and is ably edited by Josephine Gramman Marks. In its February number is stated the "object" of the Louisville Women's Clubs, and it might well be the purpose of any such clubs anywhere: "to bring together women interested in promoting the welfare of the city; to co-ordinate and render more effective the scattered social and civic activities in which they are engaged; to extend a knowledge of public affairs; to aid in improving civic conditions and assist in arousing an increased sense of social responsibility for the safeguarding of the home, the maintenance of good government, and the bettering of all the conditions surrounding that larger home of all—the city."

Disarmament Films. Two Disarmament Films have been prepared by the U. S. Reduction of Armament committee. To extend the social service of any group of women who purchase or rent these films and show them in every church, lodge and school in their locality. They are entitled "What's the Limit?" and "Disarmament Dollars and Sense" and may be had from Jonathan Rawson, 18 East 27th St., New York City.

SMILES. Sunshine Ahead. Financial experts all unite. And, confident, fortell a Return of business now in sight—But not for its umbrella. (Idea suggested by Boston Herald.)

WOMEN EDIT PAPERS. It is quite the thing for women to edit the paper for a day for a day and devote the proceeds to charity. The Daily States turned its paper over to the women February 22, and last May—also the 22nd—the women of Florence, Alabama New York edited the Daily News.

The New Orleans women adopted as their slogan "No quarter—a dime is enough." The Alabama women lead their editorials with the "morning prayer": "Grant, O Lord, that I may do my daily homely task with love and cheer in my heart, thereby transforming it into the beautiful, sunshine deed of my dreams. Amen."
