Fine Program Given By Community Club

ESTACADA, April 4.—Piano music by Mrs. J. E. Gates opened the meeting of the Community club in the high school auditorium last Friday night. There was no particular business to come before the club, but after some remarks on the Estacada library by Mrs. W. J. Moore, president of the Library Association, a motion was made and carried that the balance of the fund left over from the Christmas tree last year be presented to the library to apply to the debt for building. The amount was something like $32.00. All business being transacted, President Stephens announced that Wm. M. Stone of Oregon City would address the club. Mr. Stone's remarks concerning taxes was followed by a short talk from C. W. Kruse, of Oswego, republican candidate for county commissioner. The audience then all joined in singing "America," after which the play, "Dr. Cure All," was presented. This number on the program was sure a winner and created vicarious applause. J. E. Gates, as the doctor, thought for a time that he was in the "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" class because of the large number of seven dollar patients, but the delusion was dispelled when the enraged patients commenced to come short. The fat lady was too lean, the short lady too tall, the slim lady too corpulent, the quiet girl too and the mustache so much desired too red. However, the doctor's troubles ended happily when he married the rich widow who was seeking a husband and they departed for pastures new. Other members in the cast who so cleverly performed their parts were, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Lawrence, Mrs. F. E. Burns, Mrs. Lloyd Yocum, Mrs. H. C. Stephens, Mrs. Gerald Wood, Mrs. T. Closter, and Misses Ruth Dillon and Florence Kendall.

After the play, Chris Schuebel of Oregon City, launched a campaign for tax reduction. Following his interesting speech was the last number on the program, a burlesque entitled "A Red Cross Demonstration," conducted by Mesdames C. E. Lawrence and Gerald Wood as nurses, four gentlemen, J. E. Gates, Tom Morton, C. S. Allen and Clyde Schock, gallantly volunteered their services to assist in the demonstration. They were first blindfolded and when the Red Cross nurses concluded their "first aid" assistance in taking care of the broken arm, the gentlemen found themselves rocking a baby. This "fun" was a new one in Estacada and the joke brought down the house while the "victims" grinned and took their medicine.
