SCHOOL SITE IS SELECTED FOR CANBY BUILDING

CANBY, March 30.—Tentative approval of the decision to delay any active steps toward the erection of a new five acre site for the proposal of a new structure for at least another year, were reached at a meeting here last night, called for the purpose of further considering the proposed union high school consolidation.

The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic yet held on this subject. Representatives from Needy and a number of the other districts included in the plan, attended.

The decision to delay the building operations came as the result of an understanding with the Canby school board which was announced at the meeting. It is now planned to secure temporary quarters for the grammar school students and turn over the high school building entirely to high school work.

A number of meetings are to be held in districts where no sentiment has been obtained upon the proposed consolidation. The definite scope of the joint district has only been tentatively outlined, and no election is to be held until further preliminary negotiations have been completed.

ELECTRIC PLANT SURVEY PLAN TO BREAK DEADLOCK

J. D. Beebe, engineer for the public service commission, has been employed by the city of Canby to make a survey of the lighting system of the Molalla Electric company, and place a valuation upon it in its present condition.

Following the voting of $10,000 in bonds for the erection of a new plant at Canby, negotiations were started for the purchase of the existing system. For some time the city and the owners of the plant have been unable to agree upon a price.

The present contract of the Molalla company is expired within the limits of the city of Canby, and the city has refused a renewal due to the raise in rates of about 100 per cent made last July. Following a hearing in January, a slight reduction in the rates was granted by the commission, but this was not sufficient to satisfy the city and they decided to go ahead with the plan of operating the plant themselves.

JUNIOR NOTES

Thursday afternoon the Juniors received invitations to an April Fool party to be given on Friday evening by the Seniors. Programs were presented which were arranged in calendar style.

"One of the reasons probably for the many deficiencies observed in the Public Health work in the county, is that there is not now, and never has been a definite countywide program for teaching health. Natural kindness towards children and unfortunates in Clackamas is enormous, but scattered and sporadic."

"Children themselves, keenly interested in the happiness and sturdiness of a healthy body, often have that interest neutralized by poverty or ignorance at home."

"The solving of the county's social problems has not kept up with its growth in poverty and ignorance. The very situation that makes Public Health work in the county necessary, gives it the handicap of prejudice."

SENIOR

The sewing class have been very busy this past week making fancy novelties which are to be sold at the County Fair Friday, April 7. Every-body came.

A typographical omission in the Enterprise Wednesday morning inadvertently placed Judge Grant B. Dimick in an odd situation. The judge was quoted in the account of his talk before the Live Wires as saying that higher educational institutions should be hampered by want of funds.

PRIVATE SUPPORT OF COUNTY NURSE HERE IS SOUGHT

Health Association to Stage Tag Day to Augment Funds For Work Thru Clackamas County for Rest of Year.

QUARTERLY REPORT ON ACTIVITY MADE

Program Will be Carried to Conclusion, Is Statement of Head of Organization.

A tag day, to secure funds to aid in the carrying on of the program of the Clackamas County Health Association will be held on Saturday, April 8, according to the announcement of Rev. H. G. Edgar, chairman of the association. The tag day is primarily to provide means of continuance here of the work of Miss Hilda Morris, county health nurse.

The work of the health nurse here is to be maintained if possible, notwithstanding the fact that no funds were provided through the last budget meeting, Reverend Edgar states. The effort to provide for the necessary expenses will be made through means similar to the tag day drive to be held at the end of the present week.

Other activities in health education are planned by the association for the coming two months. May 1 to be designated as Health Week in Oregon City and preceding this a special "pre-school conference" will be held for the benefit of mothers whose children are approaching school age. A similar conference is to be held at Milwaukie in the near future.

Miss Morris has issued her quarterly report covering the activities of the health association. It follows in part:

Previous Quarter Reviewed "To follow the constructive health work attempted this quarter it will be necessary to review briefly the progress of the preceding quarter. For that quarter 149 social service visits were made, thus laying in many instances a basis for the actual accomplishments of the last three months."

"This quarter 99 social service calls have been made, a great many of these have been made in securing medical aid for children whose parents were not able financially to get it for them."

"During January, February, and March there was the usual amount of acute chest illnesses brought to the attention of the nurse; little actual nursing was done although 160 visits of that nature were made."

"In the schools of the county 521 children have been inspected this quarter, 251 have been given a routine class inspection; in this number 31 children had defective vision, 18 defective hearing, 37 defective breathing, 188 defective teeth, 83 defective tonsils, 21 had skin infection, and 3 had eye defects."

"The solving of the county's social problems has not kept up with its growth in poverty and ignorance. The very situation that makes Public Health work in the county necessary, gives it the handicap of prejudice."

"Children themselves, keenly interested in the happiness and sturdiness of a healthy body, often have that interest neutralized by poverty or ignorance at home."

WORKMEN GIVEN BATH

Workmen on the new suspension bridge were "treated" to a shower bath on Wednesday afternoon that was neither looked for nor appreciated. It occurred when one of the big main pipes carrying water to West Linn broke. Several of the men were working close by, and when the rushing waters struck them there was a general scampering, but not until several of the workmen were fairly drenched. For a time the water threatened to deluge the undertaking establishment of Holman and Pace and a rooming house close by.
