Dimick Sco'es Appropriations Judge Dimick pointed out the large amount that the state institutinos, many of which should be self support ing, are getting from the legislature each year. He pointed to the numerous commissions as an expense, not through the funds which they consume for administrative purposes, but in the inefficiency which they breed. The state of Washington, he said, saved in one year $2,600,000 through the adoption of a limited administrative code which the governor had the force to put into active operation.

Judge Dimick scored the appropria-tions of the legislature for such institutions as the Pacific Livestock Expothe United States in Siam, Edward E. sition, which, he pointed out, in other Brodie, of Oregon City, was received states, were self supporting. F. J. Tooze presented figures to show that the population in the past decade had increased 16 per cent, the assessed valuation of the state, 23 per cent and the taxes, 521 per cent. He scored special legislative appropria-tions except for emergency cases and attacked the penal institutions on the ground that they were not, as in other states, self supporting. He stated that none of the inmates of the penitentiary contributed toward their keep, and held that the system of entertaining the men by movies and baseball games were better if replaced by work.
