PORTLAND, May 20.—Bound from Portland to Nakeek, on the Alaskan coast, for the summer salmon fishing, the bark Berlin, owned by the Alaska-Portland Packers' association, went ashore on Ugaguk flats, of Ugaguk river, late yesterday.

All the crew and the employees of the packing company—most of them from in or near Portland—are safe, and the supplies for the cannery and fishermen are being taken off, according to a radio message received by Frank M. Warren, president of the company, from Captain Warren Daly, master of the Berlin.

Views of the People Upon Current Local and National Topics.

LOGAN, Ore.—(Editor of the Enterprise)—I think this is an opportune time for a further discussion of our Clackamas bonding road program and its attempted recall by a committee of Clackamas Pomona Grange.

As a democrat, and a citizen of Clackamas county who takes seriously the old democratic slogan of "equal rights to all and special privileges to none," I cannot and will not endorse his candidacy unless he or his supporters can convince me that I am wrong in ascribing improper and narrowly selfish motives to him and those of his community who have blindly followed his blind leadership.

I will begin by saying that I realize that C. E. Spence, worthy master of the state grange, has been actuated by an instinctive dislike of debts, public and private, such as actuated the founders of the grange, and that I share in that dislike but not in the belief that it is best to yield to that dislike under the financial system that rules the world and will so rule it until it has still further demonstrated its own unsoundness.

Now, let us read a little history, when it was first proposed to bond the nation and the states to get money to loan to farmers on mortgages, for long times, at low rates, Woodrow Wilson was president, Oswald West was governor, C. E. Spence was master of the state grange and through the combination, Harvey G. Starkweather was sent to Europe to investigate land loan systems, a fact of which we are always reminded on pre-primary days.

When it was proposed to bond the state to build the Pacific highway, Mr. Starkweather and his community was very much in favor of that because they thought the road would be built through their place of business. Mr. Starkweather argued for it through the papers and canvassed for it in Eastern Oregon.

The Democracy has attempted to poison senators enough to save Johnson from impeachment. This is in accordance with their oath to Kux-Lux Klan.

It is admitted that the building stone taken out of quarries in this county cannot be beaten. We observe that Ex-Mayor Ralston is putting down a stone walk in front of his property on Main street.

The democrats of this county must feel ashamed of their ticket. It has not even appeared in the "organ," so far as we have been able to observe.

Eleven bachelors, all well-to-do, sensible chaps, live up at the head of the Abernethy in the county. What a fine field for surplus women.

ations took the form of office seeking. I should envy his opportunities for advancement but talents wrongly used are worse than useless and opportunities can be wasted. There has been many insinuations against lawyers but I will take a good lawyer in preference to a poor politician.

Do You Remember?
Stories of the Old Pioneers and Yarns from Old Newspapers.

Do you remember the big 4th of July celebration on July 4th, 1892, when the falls were illuminated by means of powerful search light and brought many excursionists from Portland, and when fire department appeared in hose contests, and picnic at West end of the bridge, with J. W. O'Connell as president of the day, with Rev. Roland Grant as orator, and George A. Harding as grand marshal, closing with grand ball at the armory? A. R.

Do you remember when the old army bus was placed on the Oregon City-Mount View run, this having been secured from the Vancouver Barracks by Clarence Fields to accommodate the people of this city as well as the Mountain View section, and which held 12 passengers, while that on the route now accommodating about 60, when "perched" on the run board and the radiator, with Earl VanAuken still at the wheel.

Do you remember when a fire destroyed a hotel building near the First National Bank, and a woman threw a looking glass out of the window and later appeared carrying a pillow? J. R.

Do you remember the high board fence in the Barclay school yard, and the kids used to play "ante over" when throwing a baseball on the opposite side? "Ante Over Player."

Do you remember the entertainment given here by Mrs. Tom Thumb at Pope's hall X. Y. Z.

Do you remember when the wooden used to drive their old oxen down Main street and call out to the animals "Gee Haw," when hauling loads of wood. V. T.

It will only be a short time until we shall receive the welcome tidings of the nomination of that war-worn veteran Grant, who has proved himself an executive manager as well as the greatest military hero of the age. Then we must rally to the standard and never let up until the enemy is routed.

The first public telegram over the Dalles line was received Thursday by the Press from the Cascades. The line was then complete five miles farther.
