ANNUAL PAGEANT FOR OREGON CITY WILL BE ASSURED

Permanent Organization to Be Composed of Members Of Social and Civic Clubs Of City; Prompt Action, Plan.

DRAMATIZATION OF STORY IS OUTLINED

Educational Value of Historic Presentation Here Is Cited; Scope to Grow Gradually.

A historical pageant, drawn from the events which surround Oregon City and the Willamette falls, will be held here some time during the present year, as the initial performance to what is to be made an annual event. This was definitely decided at a gen eral meeting held in the Commercial club rooms last night, when the detail of the permanent organization which is to handle he pageant, was outlined.

Today, every civic and social organization in the city is to be visited and arrangements made for a representative from each body to serve on the general committee. The plan is to put one organization in charge of a division of the pageant production which is most vital to its interests. From the complete committee an executive body to direct the financing, etc., is to be drawn.

Mrs. Adah Losh Rose, nationally known pageant director and dramatist, has completed the draft of the pageant and in a few days the preliminary historical work toward the dramatization of the story of the district, will be begun. The first pageant, which wil be held this year, will begin with the arrival of Lewis and Clark at the Willamette River and trace the course of events to the time of the election of Governor Abernethy as the first executive of the state.

The plan for the pageant is ultimately to include a presentation of the rich history of the entire west. By 1929 the date of the proposed centennial at Oregon City, it is expected to have it in complete form and scope, after having been produced each year in increasing proportion.

The value of the plan, it was pointed out is to be made largely educational, to teach the people of the state the history of the western country in which they live. The pageant ing three ribs, fracturing another, and in a few years is expected to take on the size of a statewide affair, making the annual event here one of the festival events of the year.
