Macksburg People Return from Tour of European Lands

CANBY, Aug. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kraxberger, who left their home at Macksburg five months ago on a European trip, returned to their home on August 26, after a delightful trip. They made the trip to Europe on the steamship Rotterdam and returned on the same boat.

Among the countries they visited were Switzerland, where they were guests of Mrs. Kraxberger's mother, sister and brothers, and many friends. They also visited relatives of Mr. Kraxberger in Austria. Other countries which were visited were Germany, Holland and England, returning by way of Canada.

While in Switzerland they made many side trips, and scaled several high mountain peaks.

The conditions in Austria were found frightful, and aged people were standing on street corners piteously begging for bread. The Kraxbergers were told that unless outside help soon arrived thousands of inhabitants would starve to death. In Switzerland conditions were somewhat different, and none were found suffering as in the former country. Conditions in Germany were not as good as Switzerland, but still a big improvement over that in Austria.

Hop Picking Starts; Canby Yields Heavy

CANBY, Aug. 29.—Hop-picking began on the Charles Kraxberger farm Tuesday morning, and indications point to much better crops than anticipated shortly before the recent rain. Neighbors are given the privilege of harvesting the crop, and are being paid one cent per pound. This year's hops are of excellent quality. The Kraxbergers' hops have been contracted to McNeess Brothers, of Portland.

Mr. Kraxberger is one of the prominent hopgrowers of Clackamas county, having engaged in the hop business for a number of years.

Tried Out, Thoroughly Tested Plan for Increasing Your Business Twelve Months in the Year.

—is the cover title of an intensely interesting and highly educational booklet sent out by one of the world's largest makers of Foot appliances and remedies, to dealers encouraging them to use newspaper display advertising space consistently and continuously.

Here's a Plan Which You Should Adopt

..... Thirteen of these electros should be ordered and run once for a week for thirteen weeks and then rotated four times, giving you a full year's campaign.

Give these electros to your newspaper man and make a definite contract with him to run for one full year. Don't even try to check up on the first month or two, but wait until the year is up and then take inventory of the results, and if the past experience of many other dealers who have made such a success is any criterion, we know that you will never desire to change your policy.

During the past several years we have repeatedly been requested to outline a definite advertising campaign for many of our dealers. Their results have proven the wisdom of our recommendations. What is good for one merchant is good for all other merchants working under similar conditions.

Why This Plan Succeeds

..... Advertising to be effective and productive must have an accumulative effect. Suppose you run one ad a week for fifty-two weeks and each ad brings only one customer to your store. As an investment, checking immediate results, you have good grounds to argue that the advertising was unprofitable. However, at the end of the year you have added fifty-two new customers to your list.

If your services and merchandise have been satisfactory, at the beginning of the second year you will have all or a large proportion of these fifty-two new customers to add to your revenue. Continue this process of multiplication, and you will see the constructive and accumulative value of this class of advertising.

Among the thousands of our customers who have carried through a well-planned advertising policy such as herein outlined, not a one, to our knowledge, but what has profited handsomely from their advertising investment.

Mr. Merchant, Business or Professional Man. Why don't you add one or more new customers or patients to your list, each week? Consistent advertising in the Morning Enterprise will make you many times more than 52 new friends in a year. Try it.
