OF TARIFF

By Robert E. Smith
President Lumbermen's Trust Company Bank, Portland, Oregon

The past week or ten days has been distinguished by several events of interest and import, chief among which were: the closing down of the Henry Ford plants and the consequent throwing out of employment of 100,000 men; President Harding's veto of the bonus bill, in accordance with his announced intention; and the passage by the Senate of the tariff bill.

The new tariff bill is different from former measures in its provisions for a "flexible" tariff. Under the flexible provisions, the President will have authority, on recommendation of the tariff commission, to raise or lower rates to the extent of 50 per cent in order to equalize cost of production. A time limit of July 1, 1924, on the flexible provisions was formerly fixed by the bill, but one of the last changes made by conferees on this measure was to eliminate this and the effect of this action will be to continue the elastic tariff indefinitely.

Practically, it will become permanent law and will last until repealed or modified. If the law works out as its advocates hope it will, it will be the beginning of a new tariff system for the United States and will result eventually in largely taking away from Congress the detailed business of tariff making.

One of the reasons for striking out the time limit was that if it were left in the Democrats would be put in a position to charge that the Republicans wanted the elastic tariff for the sole use of a Republican administration and in addition to this it was felt that so short a time limit would practically nullify the plan. Its constitutionality could hardly be tested in the Supreme Court before the expiration of the time limit, and opponents of the flexible tariff plan are declaring it to be unconstitutional. However, some of the ablest lawyers in Congress assert it is constitutional and will be upheld.

Of deep interest to all who realize the close relationship between the farm credit situation and the prosperity of the community at large are the various plans being considered by Congress to better this situation. Four bills on the subject of commodity credits for farmers are before the farm credit committee of the Senate farm bloc. Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board, who has recently made a study of farm credits in Europe, recently appeared before the committee and championed the cause of a better system of credit for the farmer. He recommended the establishment of a Federal agency similar to the farm loan system, with a capital of $200,000,000 to extend short-term credit to agriculture.

This credit system would be a commodity credit proposition, something which is being widely advocated by farmers' organizations. Mr. Baruch would divide the proposed system into three branches; credits on cattle and other livestock; credits relating to the marketing of crops and the products are warehouses or properly stored; credits for productive purposes, such as the purchase of fertilizer or improved machinery. He held that the new agency should either be entirely separate from the farm loan system, or a distinct branch, and in his opinion the Federal Reserve system should not be used for paper of more than six months. He believed that bonds could be sold in the market based on cattle paper or on notes secured by products in warehouse, just as well as farm loan bonds.

In the case of productive credits, he advocated guarantee of the notes given for purchase of fertilizer and machinery by a man's neighbors. Commenting on this plan, Senator McNary expressed the opinion that the average farmer would not go on his neighbor's note "for thirty cents." Mr.
Baruch favored a plan for consolidating the four bills under consideration into one, eliminating the objectionable points of each, but utilizing the strong points and in this way enacting legislation for a strong and comprehensive system of commodity credit.

Based on farm prices as of September 1, the Department of Agriculture estimates total crop values, exclusive of animal products, for this year at $6,600,000,000. This is an increase of $1,250,000,000 over last year, or about 23 per cent. Although these valuations do not pretend to be final, still enough of a gain over last year seems to be assured to justify congratulations to the farmer on the improved agricultural situation.

European Affairs
The possibility that England and perhaps other European nations will be involved in the conflict in the near east has tended during the past week to divert attention from the economic problems with which Europe is wrestling. It was reported that Premier Lloyd George intended going to Geneva, where the third assembly of the League of Nations convened early in the month, "to lead personally an effort to establish regional peace com-pacts in the world," but in view of the war complication he will probably abandon this plan. Lord Robert Ceill, representing South Africa at the League, in reopening the debate on the work of the League, expressed the fear that it was in danger of being overwhelmed by a mass of detail, leading public opinion to under-rate the really important work of the Council.

He asked "why the League of Nations could not intervene between Turkey and Greece and halt the bloodshed in Asia Minor," saying also that he thought "something might also have been done by the League to restore peace in Turkey and open the door for the restoration of relations between Russia and the outside world." He expressed the opinion that this is a world-wide question, in which reparations, the inter-Allied debts, and the whole economic situation are involved. There seems to be a strong demand among the delegates to this year's assembly for an end of the prevailing system of international conferences. The leaders of liberal thought of many countries, including even France, are said to believe that the time has come to terminate the deciding of all world questions by the winners of the war and to establish instead a general international action on a peace basis, including all nations.

Cuban Loan Expected
Legislation authorizing a $50,000, 000 Cuban loan and making effective the financial reforms urged upon the Cuban administration by General Crowder, representative on the island of the State Department of the United States, will probably be adopted within the next month or so, in the opinion of James H. Durrell, manager in Cuba of the National City Bank, who arrived in New York recently. This amount should prove sufficient to take care of all the floating debt of the Cuban government, it being planned to divide the proceeds of the loan among payment of past due wages and salaries, construction of additional roads and other purposes.

Questioned as to the accuracy of reports that General Crowder had presented an ultimatum of ten days in which his legislative program was to be adopted, Mr. Durrell attributed this impression to the fact that the general had urged early action as he was planning a vacation trip to New York Mr. Durrell said that following the recovery of sugar prices, conditions on the island were improving, and that the banks had a good opportunity of making up part of their losses.
American tariff proposals, he reported, had aroused bitter feeling on the island, but he doubted that the increased rate would retard the progress of Cuba toward prosperity.

Haytian Loan Invited American bankers have been invited by the government of Hayti to present bids on a contemplated issue of $16,000,000 of external bonds of Series A of the $40,000,000 loan provided for in the protocol of October 2, 1919 between Hayti and the United States. The bonds will be a permanent interest and maturity in 1952, the government reserving the right to reissue the entire issue at any time after thirteen years.

The issue will be secured by a first lien on internal revenues of the Haytian Republic and a second lien on Haytian customs revenues, subject only to a 5 per cent allowance to cover salaries and expenses of the receiver of customs and the financial advisers of the Haytian government. It is said that the principal purpose of the proposed loan is to take advantage of the present situation of the exchange market in order to refund the external debts of 1896 and 1919 now held in France. These amount to $7,000,000 francs. The balance of the loan will be applied on settlement of internal debts of Hayti for public works, together with the proceeds of a contemplated issue of $5,000,000 of 6 per cent Series B bonds for internal purposes to be issued with the same security as these debts is expected to free the income of the country from all pressing liens and will thus pave the way for the introduction of much needed tax reforms.

Canadian Debt Reduced A dispatch from Ottawa states that growth of the national debt, which attained abnormal proportions since the beginning of the war, has been check-ed and confidence is expressed in official circles that during the present financial year the debt will be decreased. Figures issued by the finance department show a decrease in the national debt of about $50,000,000. Against this, however, must be set expenditures incurred and not yet passed. There has been a reduction in the net debt, however, since the beginning of the financial year in March.

Turkish Forces
Checked; Peace
Parley Awaited

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 2.—Mustapha Kemal's command held the Turks in check today as preparations were made to hold a preliminary Near Eastern peace parley at Mudania tomorrow. Making good their leader's promise to the allies, which accompanied the invitation for the peace conference, the Kemalists in the Chanak area of the narrow zone made no effort to draw closer to Great Britain's triple line of trenches.

The Turks in some instances moved back into contact with the British, evidently to avoid any possibility of a clash which would mar the peace plans of their chief. The British are in command of the entire coast of the narrow straits of the Dardanelles since the Turks voluntarily evacuated Erenkeui, one of the most strategic positions they held.

Kemal, it is understood, has left Smyrna and tomorrow will be in Mud-ania, the seat of the peace conference, which lies opposite Constantinople on the Sea of Marmora. The tension among the allied representatives had lessened decidedly today, following the Bemal offers.

Do You Remember?
Stories of the Old Pioneers and Yarns from Old Newspapers.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

(Taken from the Oregon City Enterprise, September 30, 1892.)

Senator Harvey Cross is doing some extensive grading on his residence property on Twelfth and Monroe streets. About 1000 yards of earth will be moved. The elevation is being reduced and the whole block brought to proper grade.

George C. Ely is building on a new hall over his store at Elyville. It is already well toward completion. The dimensions are 24x54 feet, and the cost will be about $200. The hall will be a greater convenience to the people than that section, and Mr. Ely exhibits an enterprising spirit in providing the accommodation.

The Canby Saloon—A paper is being circulated in Canby by S. Mathew asking Subbauer, the proprietor, to withdraw from the business and advising the bondsman to withdraw from his bond. It is being numerously signed. If Subbauer does not need the request it is promised that action will be begun against him for running a disorderly house. It is said that the Canby saloon is an unprofitable venture both for its proprietor and for the community.

Boats for the Exposition—Hereafter on Saturday nights during the continuance of the Portland exposition the Oregon City boat will miss the 6 o'clock trip from Portland, and will leave at 11:30 o'clock instead.

Reading Room Entertainment—Next Tuesday evening there will be a free reading room entertainment and band music at Pope's hall. The orchestra consisting of ten members will contribute instrumental music, and there will be a number of vocal selections, and short addresses.

The Public Schools—The Oregon City public schools opened last Monday with 394 enrollment of the first day. Professor R. W. Pringle is the superintendent, and George L. Story is in charge of the seventh grade.
There are eight teachers in all composing the corps.

Brownell at Barlow—Chairman Brownell held his meeting at Barlow last Friday evening, according to agreement, but as it was a bad night out of doors, stormy overhead and muddy undertoot. Still the hall was filled, a number going over to the meeting from Neely.

An Odd Runaway—Last Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cheney went out driving with Landlord Livermore's horse and buggy. About 5 o'clock as they were driving down Seventh street, some boys riding horses, which they were crowding to the top of their speed came pell mell down the hill behind the buggy and horse driven by Mr. Cheney. Fearing they would frighten the horse Mr.
Cheney turned to go into the side street near the Wishart store to permit the racers to pass. Just then the running horse, which was farther ahead, leaped over it between the horse that was drawing it and the buggy top. The feet of the racing horse struck a forewheel of the buggy, completely wrecking and throwing Mr.
Cheney from the vehicle, and also causing the buggy horse to become frightened. The horse as soon as it became free from the buggy moved away to the livery stable. Mr. Cheney was slightly injured. The horse making the leap came down on its knees and threw its rider, who was bruised.
The buggy was almost a complete wreck.

Butte Creek Fair—The Butte Creek will open next Thursday at Marquam.

To the Clackamas—The right of way for the East Side motor line is cleared as far as the Medrum place.
Cars have been running regularly to Oak Grove, nearly two miles above Oaklaunke, for more than a week. The contractors are well along with the bridge spanning the Clackamas. Two cars newly lettered for the Oregon City run have already arrived in Portland, and awaiting for the completion of the road. It is expected that the cars will make the trip between this city and Portland in about an hour and a quarter.

FIFTY-FOUR YEARS AGO

(Taken from the Oregon City Enterprise of September 21, 1868.)

The Basin—The basin extension at this city has been built up from two to four timbers higher and filled with rock, making it one of the most extensive, massive and complete works of the kind in the state, if not on the continent. This impregnable breastwork now extends nearly to Canemah, making it impossible for a boat to get out of the channel, as it is above high water mark.

Old Walks—It is gratifying to see the work of making new side walks on Main street so generally entered into. The old walks have become very unsafe and not a little unwholesome.
These improvements will cause our city to wear very much of a metropolitan appearance.

Wells—This part of Christendom has partly gone wild over the question of water, if we are to judge by the excavations in and around the city after water. Besides the work of the Water company, D. J. Slover has several contracts, one of which at Green Point goes through quicksand for a distance of nearly fifty feet.

creased by constitutional treatment

Interstate Club
To Be Asked For Aid On Fish Bill

Enlisting the support of the Salmon Protective League of Oregon and Washington in a bill expected to be sponsored in 1924 to take the place of the so-called salmon fishing bill held illegal this year, is expected by G. G.
Green, proponent of the fish measure.

The initiative bill proposed by Green to keep seines, traps and fish wheels, was kept off the ballot by the disclosure of illegal signatures. Green was accused of tampering with the bill, but denies the charge and is making plans for the institution of a similar measure in 1924. The Clackamas County fisherman's union has all ready listed its support.

Dr. T. W. Ross, in discussing the condition which the organization is attacking points out that the first work is to "educate the people of Oregon and Washington to the fact that the salmon industry is fast being destroyed. They must learn," he continued, that the catching and canning of pregnant mother fish is both wanton destruction of future baby salmon and disgustingly revolting.

Salmon Price High.
"They must be awakened to the fact that if mother salmon are denied their spawning or maternity ground by hatching barriers, the hatcheries will never be able to restock the Columbia river. They must learn why the price of salmon is higher than that of beef, mutton and pork, which require expensive feeding and care to mature.

Chinook Propagation Urged.
"This league will teach the people that all mechanical devices, such as traps, seines and fish wheels, are rapidly destroying salmon fish and producing nothing but profits for the few. There are few hatcheries in the state, while the whole state is taxed to fill them with hatchery fish.

"The league must teach the voters of Oregon and Washington that there is no lower or upper river—that practically all the upper river cannery men, except one, have plants on the lower river. These voters must also be taught that the fish wheels located at, on or near maternity grounds destroy annually more fish to be born than hundreds of hatcheries could hatch artificially.

"The league will demand that the royal Chinook salmon be more intensively propagated, instead of the inferior varieties which are now being hatched.

"We must let the people know that this species, which made the reputation of the Columbia river only comprises about 20 per cent of the salmon entering the river at the present time.

that the grill net fishermen who fish from Camas to the sea are hordes of tax payers. We will advocate the abolition of all fishing above the confluence of the Sandy with the Columbia river except by sporting hook and line.

"We will also advocate the complete turning over of the hatcheries to the sportsmen for the propagation of trout as soon as the returns of salmon come from the re-established spawning of these salmon hundreds of miles up in the reaches of the Columbia and its branches, far beyond the man-made barrier of the inferior fish wheels and seines at The Dalles.

100 Are Killed As Power Magazine
Of Fort Blows Up

SPETIA, Italy, Sept. 28.—More than 100 persons were killed today when the Falconera fort magazine blew up when lightning hit the powder magazine.

The force of the blast wrecked the town of San Terenzio. Indescribable confusion followed the terrible explosion and there was some delay in estimating the number of dead and injured.

First reports were that 40 lives had been lost but as gendarmes penetrated the ruined areas the death total quickly mounted to 100.

to the plea for more time. Lawyers for the independent companies also objected, but the company was given ten days to prepare and submit its additional statistics, then Easterly and
