Menace of Another War in Europe Now Seen By Ex-Premier

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, Nov. 7.—The menace of another war at an early date was visualized by former Premier Lloyd George in a speech here. "If the government does not stand firm, a Turkish war will break out and will spread into the Balkans, as in 1914," he said. "Whatever happens," he said, "the flag must not be hauled down. If the government stands by the flag, I will be whole-heartedly behind it. I treat the government to show the Turk that we will not be trifled with and to convince the Turk that the documents signed at the Mudania armistice conference must stand." The former premier warned against reactionism and a "government which is born tired." He urged a conciliatory but firm foreign policy.

Loss of Profits in Past Month Claim of Phone Company

PORTLAND, Nov. 9.—That there has been a loss of revenue to the Pacific telephone and Telegraph company since rates were increased, March, 1921, according to the company, and that service has deteriorated, says a member of the Housewives' Council, was the burden of the testimony introduced Wednesday before the public service commission at the continuation of the rate rehearing. Besides a loss in the number of telephone stations due to the high rates it was claimed that there had been a loss of income to the company on account of subscribers hanging from one and two party lines to four or more party services. Witnesses contended that the continuation of the present rates would result in a continuing decreased net revenue to the company. Another point covered in the rehearing was that of tolls on long distance service. Engineers and rate experts testifying on behalf of the commission said that Portland only gets 30 per cent of the revenue from this source, whereas 50 per cent would be a reasonable credit.
