Canby Streets Are Lighted Again After Year's Rate Battle

CANBY, Nov. 7 .- For the first time in a year the Canby streets were lighted by electricity on Friday, when against. the 36 lights that have been "dead in this city were turned on.

Owing to the advanced rates of the Molalla Electric company, which supplied the city of Canby with electricity, the lights were discontinued in August, 1921. The rates at that time went from 75 cents a light to $1.50. The council refused to pay, and decided to do away with the lights until a satisfactory agreement could be made.

At a recent meeting of the Canby city council plans were perfected to connect the city with the Portland Railway, Light & Power company, when F. G. Robinson, owner of the plant, refused to consider a proposition offered by the people of Canby.

Later Robinson agreed to reconsider the sale of the Molalla Electric company. A committee, composed of C. H. Sheldon, W. H. Bair and M. J. Lee, has proposed to purchase the plant, looking at the financial side of the electric light proposition, which has been of interest to the general public, when not only people of this city but surrounding country were affected.

It was proposed at one time to erect a plant for the city of Canby, but the cost would amount to several thousand dollars more than what the Molalla plant could have been purchased for. This idea was abandoned some tiem ago.

At a meeting of the city council held Monday evening the electric light subject ocupied several hours' discussion.

In Canby Election MOLALLA LIGHT PLANT IS BOUGHT BY CITY OF CANBY

Subsidiary Equipment Is Sold After Long Fight On Rates, Agreement For Purchase Is Sought Thruout One Year.

STATED IN CONTRACT

Lines To Be Operated Under Municipal Control; Plan Of Improvement Is Expected.

CANBY, Nov. 2 (Special)-Ending a controversy of a year's standing over the ownership and operation of the lines of the Molalla Electric company at Canby a contract was entered into today for the sale of the plant to the city for $7,000. The city will take over the equipment immediately and operate it. Plans for improvement are waiting upon the next council meeting.

Canby voted a bond issue of $10,000 following a rise in rates in August, 1921. The erection of a municipal plant was contemplated, but the expiration of the Molalla company's franchise opened negotiations for the purchase of the present equipment. For some time there was difficulty in reaching the price to be paid for the Molalla equipment. The city council refused to renew the franchise for the operation of the Molalla company and threatened to put up new lines and order the old equipment off of the streets if no satisfactory arrangement could be made.

Engineers of the public service commission were called in to evaluate the plant but with this information the matter too on added complications of negotiation and no settlement was reached.

Suit to secure a reduction in the rates was instituted before the pubservice commission but the people were not satisfied with the decrease which was allowed.

Fred Fuller, Pioneer of Oregon be a man and woman-foster parents, cost $800. Industry, Wins Suit Upon Patent Rights on Invention.

Fred Fuller, an inventor and promi nent paper manufacturer, was in Oregon City Thursday and Friday. While in this city he was a guest of W. P. Hawley, president of the Hawley Pulp and Paper Company, a friend of the Fuller family.

Fuller assisted in installing the se cond paper making machine at the Willamette Pulp & Paper company's plant at West Linn in 1892, and later was employed by the Crown Willamette Paper company after the consolidation of the two paper mills. In 1909 he was superintendent of the paper mills at Camas, Wash., and was employed by the Hawley Pulp & Paper company. He later moved with his family to Watertown, N. Y. where he has been connected with a large paper manufacturing concern, having held the position as superitendent. Fuller recently resigned the position, to enjoy a five months' vacation.

Fuller's trip to the coast is in the interest of the Tompkins-Hawley-Fuller company. This company has just won a $30,000 law suit in ePnnsylvania. The cause of the suit was the enfringement upon a patented device used in the manufacturing of lightweight paper and tissue paper, the invention made by Fuller. As a number of the Eastern mills are using the device without authority of the Tompkins-Hawley-Fuller company. The suit was carried to the higher courts pany.. W. P. Hawley is financing the company owning the patent. Hawley recently took an Eastern trip on business regarding the suit.

Fuller has been enjoying a visit in Los Angeles, Calif., while enroute to Seattle, and also visited other cities paper mills were visited by the paper maker.

MAN DIES IN SMASH ON POWELL VALLEY ROAD

S. H. Sheller, Farmer, Killed After Being Struck By Truck of Boring Driver.

Struck by a wood truck driven by C. Evertt of Boring, S. H. Sheller, 68, a farmer, was killed instantly early Sunday night on Powell Valley road near Jenne road. The accident was unavoidable, in the opinion of authorities. Sheller's skull was broken

Witnesses said Sheller was walking toward Jenne road on the Powell valley road when the truck approached from behind. A touring car driven by Edward Keep, 493 Magnolia street, attempted to pass the truck, but the right rear hub of the car struck the left front hub of Everett's truck, throwing the truck toward Sheller. Sheller was run over by the right front wheel of the truck.

Deputy Coroner Goetsch of Multnomah county, took charge of the body.

Sheller lived in the vicinity cincts in the state, including many in Mrs. John Eive.

LIVE WIRE COMMITTEE

That the securing of the Yeomen's Children home in Clackamas county. representing an investment of ultimately over $10,000,000, is dependent upon the effort put forth by the community and the civic organizations here, was the statement of H. Ezell, state manager of the Yeomen, who spoke at the meeting of the Live Wires of the Oregon City Commercial club.

Oregon, Ezell stated, has all of the advantages needed for the site where the school is to be established; low infant mortality rate, mild climate, and the natural advantages of good soil and fine scenery.

A site five miles south of Oregon City has been selected as one of three to be advocated in Oregon, Ezell said. The local site is said to present the most ideal location yet

"The idea of the children's home," said Ezell, "originated in the mind of Mark T. McKee, one of the Yeomen officials. He saw the need for a home to care for the children of Yeomen whose parents had passed from this life A fund of $4,000,000 is at present available and the plan is to make a wonderful village, with all the beauty and wealth of environment that can be created, to make out of these unfortunate children future citizens of which the nation can be proud.

"The plan of the home," the speaker continued, "will include agricultura" land, shops, schools, stores, banks numerous little cottages, scat tered among the groves, rather than dormitories of an 'institutional' design. In charge of each cottage will practically, of the children, to replace as nearly as possible the parental care and love which has been taken Policeman Shot In from them.

"It is our plan to create the most beautiful village that can be constructed, which can be a model to the entire world. The home will be of national scope, taking care of the Yeomen children from over the entire country."

FIVE LIVES ARE LOST IN STORMS IN COLORADO

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 6-Digging out activities prevailed today in Southeastern Colorado and nearly the entire state of Wyoming, following snow, sleet, hail, rain and blizzard conditions that gripped a section of the Rocky Mountain region for nearly 48 hours. The storm has abated early today.

At least five lives are known to have been lost in the winter's severest storm, several are injured, much livestock was killed and the property damage will run tnto hundreds of thousands of dollars. Transcontinental wire communication has been seriously curtailed and telegraph and telephone companies report hundreds of poles down.

A blinding snowstorm near Laramie, Wyo., caused a crash between a Union Pacific passenger train and a freight train, and took the lives of two members of the train crews, but no passengers were reported injured. In Wyoming, high winds accompan ied a heavy snowfall, highways and railroad traffic being at a standstill because of the huge drifts.

IMPROVEMENT OF FIFTH STREET IS TO BE REQUESTED

Budget Group To Consider Plans for Hardsurfacing of New Route Out of City by Mount Pleasant Next Year.

COST OF PROJECT IS SAID OVER $15,000

Numerous Petitions Placed In Hands of Body; Approval Of Plans Is Up to People.

An appropriation of $750 for the Oregon City band, the improvement of at least the first unit of upper Fifth street, resurfacing of the bridge at 16th and Main streets, in-Powell Valley and Jenne roads. He stallation of a comfort station in the was a widower and is survived by his new bridge on the east side and the son, Lee R. Sheller and a daughter, lighting of McLoughlin park are to be included in the requests made to the Oregon City budget committee which is framing the financial policy for the year 1923, Following a new custom this year, no personal requests are being considered, all of the applications for financial consideration being made to the committee in writing. As soon as the committee decides upon the policy for next year, a public meeting will be held to approve or make any changes necessary in the outline.

The improvement of upper Fifth street from Jackson to the city limits, forming another outlet to the Mt. Pleasant district would cost $15,-580 for 16 foot concrete, according to the estimates of the engineer, as only $5,000 is available for street improvement work under the present roads program. A fund of $7,000 accrues to the city from the county under the general county road tax, but $2,000 of this was overdrawn this year for the Molalla avenue improvement, which was under way. The council desires to complete the improvement while the equipment was on the ground The Fifth street improvement is to be made in less than three years and a special road tax would be required. The petition for the municipal support of the band, is signed by 150 residents of Oregon City. The band heretofore has been supported by private subscription.

Mrs. J. W. Norris has sent a request to the committee asking an appropriation for the lighting of McLoughlin park and also for providing for the upkeep of the grounds.

A request for the rebuilding of the Fourth street steps to Falls View has been sent in containing 17 names. The improvement would cost $75. Repair of the bluff steps at 3rd, 4th and 5th streets is also suggested. Repair of the Singer Hill walk is projected at a cost of $50. Installation of the proposed comfort station would
