CONDITIONS OVER EAST

the country's financiers, as far as the domestic situation is concerned, he said, pointing out that the ultimate solution is still an enigma. At the same time, he declared, there is no danger of a setback. Increased building activity, making a market for basic materials, and for labor, will be the next step in improvement of conditions generally. No where in the cities he visited, Wright says, was greater building activity in evidence than is found in Oregon City and Portland.

The convention which Wright attended at New York was the largest in the history of the association. Preparations for 7,000 delegates were made, whereas 12,000 attended. Discussion of the foreign credits situation found no solution, he explained. It resulted only in the assessment of the actual conditions. Germany, the convention was told, is conducting business on paper marks of practically no worth, and is not able to pay its indemnities. France and Italy cannot pay until Germany does. The world is awaiting a definite proposal from the Germans concerning their course of action, out of which, Wright explained, it is hoped the answer will come to one of the most complex financial questions which the world has ever faced.

IN SOCIETY

The marriage of Miss Louise Schiltenthart and Paul Sturgis of this city was solemnized at the Baptist parsonage November 4th. Rev. Willis Pettibone, pastor of the Baptist church, officiated in the presence of only relatives of the contracting parties.

Following the marriage ceremony a wedding dinner and reception were given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Clayton, of High street, Astoria, in serving were Miss Leona Smith, of Hillsboro, and Miss Arieta Clayton.

The bride was becomingly gowned in pink taffeta, with overdress of pink chiffon, embellished with gold lace. Her corsage bouquet was white carnations.

The banquet given at the Congregational church Wednesday evening by the Congregational Brotherhood was largely attended. There were over 100 men attending.

Congressman W. C. Hawley was the guest of honor on this occasion, and following the banquet gave an excellent address, which was well received.

During the evening classical music was furnished by Harless Ely's orchestra.

Miles Burley sang several selections and was given an ovation. He resided to an encore.

The rooms of the church were prettily decorated with corn stalks, pumpkins, squashes and other vegetables appropriate for the harvest season.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the church served the banquet.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of A. J. Lewis, chairman; C. B. Richards and Raymond Caulfield. The newly elected officers recently elected by the club are Victor Gault, president; J. A. Roake, vice-president; A. C. Howland, secretary; L. Adams, treasurer.

The Saturday Club of the Congregational church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Richard Freytag Monday evening. Mrs. Freytag, Mrs. John McGetchie, Mrs. Hilda Parker, Mrs. Victor Gault and Miss Alice Freytag were hostesses.

The Freytag home was artistically decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. The color scheme was yellow and green.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Albert Roake. Plans for the Thanksgiving market were completed. The market and supper will be held Tuesday, November 22. Committees were appointed and are as follows:

Market—Miss Muriel Stevens, chairman; Mrs. W. W. Woodbeck, Mrs. Ada Pearl, Mrs. Don James, Mrs. W. A. White, and Mrs. Caradoc Morgan.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Frost and Ernest Lavier took place in Vancouver, Wash., Monday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Baker, of this city, attended the young couple.

The marriage was performed at the Methodist parsonage with Rev. Marlette, pastor, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavier have taken up their residence on Fourth Street.

The bride is a well known Oregon City girl, and has many friends here. For a number of years she has been employed in the bindery department of the Morning Enterprise.

The groom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lavier, of this city. He is employed in the paper mills. He attended the Oregon City schools, as did also his bride.

Several affairs have been held in their honor during the past week.

The marriage of the young couple came as a surprise to their friends. They quietly slipped away to the Washington-city to be married and announced the marriage upon their return Monday evening.

The entertainment and basket social given by the Rosemont Community Club last Saturday night to raise funds for a building was largely attended. The proceeds from the affair amounted to $41.60.

Baskets were sold at auction, the auctioneer being Duncan Christensen, of West Linn.

Mrs. Duncan Christensen rendered a vocal solo in her charming manner, and responded to a hearty encore.

Mrs. Walter Bennett, of this city, as usual, was given an ovation when she gave a number of readings that were appropriate for this occasion.

Judge Grant B. Dimick was well received when he gave an excellent talk on "Community Club Work."

The children of Sunset school took an active part in the program when they appeared in a playlet.

Following the program the baskets were auctioned by Duncan Christensen. Those not being provided with baskets enjoyed refreshments in the dining room of the schoolhouse.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to a social time.

Shiek's orchestra of four pieces rendered music for the occasion.

Before the close of the affair a loaf of bread made by Mrs. John Armstrong was sold at auction and brought 75 cents.

The committee in charge of the affair was composed of Mrs. William Robinson, Mrs. John Armstrong, Mrs. Thomas Armstrong, Mrs. Anderson Mrs. T. B. Davenport and Mrs. Day.

The Rosemont Community Club won first prize at the Clackamas county fair and also the silver trophy cup offered for the best community display. This was the second year the organization won the cup and the cash prize. The cup is now owned by the club.

Extension of Time Is Given to Carver Line

Difficulties of Operation Are Told to Portland Council; Requirements noa Rushed.

PORTLAND, Nov. 10.—A story o operation of a railroad with small capital, and no end of trials and perplexing problems, was given to the city council yesterday by Stephen Carver, president, general manager conductor and engineer of the Portland & Oregon City line.

The council promised the council to delay action on the proposed revocation of the franchise held by this road within the city limits, for failure to repair street crossings. One of the heavy stockholders in the road lives in Montana and Mr. Carver asked that action be delayed until this man could reach Portland and discuss the situation with the city council.

Mr. Carver told the council that he had done everything possible to keep his little line, which operates a motorcar between East Portland and Carver, in Clackamas county, and that for a time the road was paying its way.

The came an automobile bus, running on a route already covered by the railroad, and profits ceased.

"From that time I have been trying my best to keep the road going," said Mr. Carver. "I even let out my men and began operating the car myself. It means long hours and hard work on my part, with little or no chance for any profits, but I can't stop and leave the people who depend on my road without facilities. I think the city should be as liberal as possible in this matter and give me a chance to make good."

BANK OF OREGON CITY OLDEST BANK IN CLACKAMAS COUNTY Organized Forty One Years Ago

William Freeman Of Canemah Dead

William H. Freeman, prominent resident of Canemah and member of Meade post, G. A. R. No. 2, of this city, died Friday morning at the home of his son, Fred Freeman, of Canemah. He had been in failing health for some time, but had been confined to the family home but a short time before his death occurred.

Deceased was born in Indiana September 22, 1841. At the outbreak of the Civil war he was among the first to enter the service. He was a member of company H, 51st Illinois regiment. At the close of the war he returned to Illinois, where he married Louise Gray. A number of years later the family moved west, and for some time resided at Stayton, Ore. Twenty eight years ago the family moved to Oregon City, taking up their residence at Canemah, where Freeman has since resided.

After arriving in Oregon City Freeman was employed as a machinist and an engineer in the General Electric company, and also at the woolen mills. In 1905 he was employed as engineer of the waterworks at the Lewis and Clark exposition in Portland.

Deceased is survived by the following children: Harry Freeman, of Oregon City; Mrs. Laura Armstrong, of St. Johns; Mrs. Clarence Farr, of Oregon City; Fred Freeman, of Canemah. He also leaves 15 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Mrs. Freeman, his wife, died on April 15, 1918.

The funeral service of the late William W. Freeman, pioneer engineer and a Civil war veteran, was held at the Holman & Pace chapel Sunday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. The Rev. H. G. Edgar officiated, and Meade Post No. 2, G. A. R., of which the deceased was an active member for many years, assisted with the impressive service. The choir from the Presbyterian church sang "Rock of Ages" and "Face to Face."

The service was largely attended; the G. A. R. Women's Relief corps, and fire department, of which Mr. Freeman was a member in his early life, were well represented.

The floral tributes were in profusion and were beautiful, the three above organizations being represented with handsome tributes.

Interment was in Mountain View cemetery and the body was laid to rest in the family lot.

The pallbearers were Ralph Freeman, William Freeman, Dick Armstrong, Lee Faust (grandsons of the deceased), and "Cy" Bergman.

Charles Holman of Meadowbrook Dies

Charles Holman, one of the most prominent residents of Clackamas county, who died suddenly at the family home at Meadowbrook Saturday evening, was well and favorably known throughout the state.

The death of Charles Holman came as a shock to his family and many friends. He had been ill for several days, and Friday was somewhat improved. Saturday afternoon his condition changed for the worse, and he passed away at 5 o'clock at the Holman farm.

Charles Holman was born May 24, 1860, near Kelso, Wash. On December 20, 1881, he married Miss Beulah Lee, of Portland. In 1882 he settled in Meadowbrook, where he remained until his death, except for several years when he and his family resided in Portland.

Deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Beulah Holman, of Meadowbrook; a son, Ralph L. Holman, of Molalla; his daughters, Mrs. B. B. Cornell, of Boise, Idaho; Miss Mary Alice Holman, of Orland, Cal.; six grandchildren; three brothers; W. C. Holman, Ben F. Holman, and Rufus Holman, of Portland; and three sisters, Mrs. H. W. Ogilbee, Miss Carrie Holman, and Mrs. James A. Malarkey, of Portland.

Funeral services were held at the Portland crematorium, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Judge J. U. Campbell, judge of the circuit court, and an old-time friend of the deceased, officiated. Many friends attended the services, and banded around the casket were beautiful flowers as a token of the high respect Charles Holman was held by his many friends in this county as well as in Multnomah county.

BOY HURT BY EXPLOSION IS TAKEN TO PORTLAND

Graham Morgan, four-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Caridoc Morgan, of this city, who is suffering from injuries received by explosion of a dynamite cap, was taken to Portland Wednesday to have an X-ray taken of an eye which is affected from the explosion. It will take about six weeks to determine as to whether the eyesight will be permanently impaired. The best of eye specialists of Portland have been consulted and these is hope of saving the eyesight. The two badly mangled fingers and thumb of the left hand, which was operated upon, are now beginning to heal. The child is also suffering from slight burns on the face and chest.

It is claimed that the child found two dynamite caps left carelessly by workmen employed in constructing a basement at the Morgan home. One of the caps was lighted with a match by the youngster, and the second cap was found in the lad's overall pocket after he had been removed to the Oregon City hospital. From the time of the accident to the present time the youngster has shown remarkable courage. After being removed to the hospital he informed the physicians where to find his parents. Upon arrival of the parents at the hospital the little fellow attempted to console them, when he told his mother not to cry and that he was mamma's and daddy's boy.

The little fellow is at the home of his parents, having been taken there upon the injured child's request, and a nurse is in attendance.

Legion Auxiliary Will Give Benefit On November 21st

One of the events looked forward to with special interest is the entertainment to be given at the Liberty theater November 21, under the auspices of the American Legion Auxiliary. The farce comedy, "Bar Jan Day at Bloomstein's," will be the main attraction. The "Bar Le Duc" orchestra will have charge of the music. The "Sunshine" quartette, consisting of Misses Eloise Ely, Ruth Swanson, Gladys Hannaford, and Ruth Anderson, will sing, with Miss Nellie Gleason accompanist.

Joy Harriet Collins, the charming little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hedden, will appear in a solo dance. A special trio of the clerks of the play will sing their own composition of "Down on the Farm." Little five-year-old Idres Allen will give a solo dance. A male quartette from the play will also sing. Lila Washburn will give a toe dance.

Formal Retrial Of C. A. Elwell Case Ordered By Court

The formal order on the supreme court's decision remanding the case of C. A. Elwell for retrial here, was entered in the circuit court Friday. Elwell, formerly postmaster of Jennings Lodge, was arrested in April, 1920, charged with arson. He is alleged to have set fire to the Jennings Lodge postoffice, which building also housed his home and store. In the fire Mrs. Elwell received injuries which have made her an invalid.

The case, on appeal to the supreme court, was thrown back to the local district for a rehearing.

Two Slightly Hurt in Auto Collision

Charles von der Ahe, of Oregon City, and his daughter, Louise, were slightly bruised and Von der Ahe's car entirely demolished when their machine was struck by an unidentified automobile near the Salem fair grounds Sunday night.

Von der Ahe and his daughter were thrown from the machine by the force of the impact. They were driving north at the time of the crash, which was practically a head-on collision.
