Improvements At Magone Park Made

M. A. Magone is making extensive improvements on his property known as Magone's Park. This is among the scenic spots of Clackamas county, and during the past few years has become a popular summer resort. It is patronized by many from Portland and Oregon City, and especially by Portland people during the salmon season. There are 21 cottages on the grounds, several of which are of unique and attractive design. Winding paths surrounded by various kinds of evergreen and ferns add to the picturesque park. Magone has begun the construction of several new cottages, as last year the demand was so great for summer homes at this park, many had to be turned away. A historical log is to be preserved on the park grounds. This was cut years before the arrival of the Tompkins family, who made their home at that place in the early 40's. There were marks of the Indian teepees at all sides of the old log, and it was the redmen's ax that cut the tree. An arbor is to be constructed by Magone in order to protect it from destruction. It is his intention to plant trails in vines over the relic. The old home of the Magone family stands close to the park. This is the home where the wedding of Mary Anne Tompkins and Joseph Magone, parents of M. A. Magone, were married in 1850.

Terrorism Sown Among Negroes By "White Owls"

ABERDEEN, Wash., Nov. 17.—Tansy Bolton, 25, Mrs. J. T. O'Brien 38, and Hjalmar Anderson, 39, are dead today as a result of a double killing and suicide in a cabin at Copalis beach, an ocean point about 25 miles from here, early this morning. Anderson, according to the police, killed the two women, first hacking Miss Bolton terribly with a knife, and then killed himself.

Jealously is presumed to have prompted the act, the police say. Miss Bolton made a fight for life, evidently escaping her assailant for a time. Anderson pursued her killed her. Her body was found on the beach this morning by Fred Horn, a storekeeper. Officials later in the day found the body of Mrs. O'Brien in the cabin and that of Anderson outside.

Miss Bolton's throat was slashed and her body, legs and arms were horribly cut. She apparently had escaped from the cabin after Anderson had stabbed her and had then been shot in the back as with her falling strength she ran down the beach. Mrs. O'Brien's body was found at the side of a bed in the cabin. She had been shot through the breast and had not been slashed with the knife. Anderson's body, a revolver in one hand and a pocket-knife in the other, was found back of Frank Reed's cabin in 200 feet from the shack where the women were killed.

One of the prettiest home weddings of the season took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yonce, of 1103 Fifth street, Thursday, November 16, at 6 o'clock, when their son, Virgil Yonce, married Miss Edith Freese. Preceding the marriage ceremony, "Just Away," composed by Miss Ione Dunn, of this city, and dedicated to the late George Pusey, intimate friend of the bridegroom, was rendered by Miss Leta Posson, of Estacada. It was planned by Mr. Yonce to have this young man as an attendant at his wedding.

This was followed by a vocal solo, "God Made Thee Mine" by Mrs. Joseph Miller. Mrs. Miller sang in a most impressive manner. She was accompanied by Miss Posson. As "Lohegrin's Wedding March" was rendered by Miss Posson, the bride and groom entered the living room. As Miss Freese and her father, Fred Freese, preceded by the bride's maid, Miss Helen Wooster, of Portland, entered the dining room, they were met beneath the floral archway by Mr. Yonce. Beneath a canopy of white ribbons, he escorted his bride-to-be to the floral altar. This was arranged under a canopy of white chrysanthemums. Here the impressive rite ceremony was read by Rev. H. G. Edgar, pastor of the Presbyterian church in the presence of relatives and few intimate friends of the young couple. The father of the bride gave her in marriage.

The bride, who is one of Oregon City's fairest young ladies, was beautiful in her gown of white satin. Her long tulle veil was caught in place with tiny orange blossoms. This was in form of a cap effect and finished with a spray of pearls. Her shower bouquet was white roses and lilies of the valley.

The bride's maid, Miss Helen Wooster, was pretty in her gown of pink crepe de chine, and her bouquet was pink carnations. The bride wore a pretty gown of light blue silk, with corsage bouquet of white chrysanthemums; Miss Posson, pale green crepe de chine; Mrs. Yonce, mother of the bridegroom, brown Pan velvet; Mrs. Lucinda Freese, mother of the bride, gray Canton crepe.

The bride's going away gown was blue Pan velvet, with corsage bouquet of violets, and she wore a large picture hat. Mr. Yonce and his bride are spending their honeymoon in Eugene. They will return to Oregon City the first of the week, where they are to make their future home.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Yonce was a bower of beauty. White and green formed the color scheme for the living room. Festoons of white intermingled with trailing vines, white chrysanthemums, were used in an artistic manner in decorating the living room. An archway separating the living and dining rooms was formed from white chrysanthemums and Oregon grape. The color scheme for the dining room was white and yellow. Even the refreshments served during the evening were carried out in these two colors. The table was centered with yellow chrysanthemums. Yellow festoons were arranged from the ceiling to the corners of the table. Each place was marked by yellow chrysanthemums.

An array of handsome gifts presented to the young couple was arranged in the dining room. The bride is the daughter of Fred and Mrs. Lucinda Freese, of this city. She is one of the popular girls of the city. For some time she has been stenographer in the office of the Oregon City Sand & Gravel Company. The bridegroom is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Yonce. For the past two and one-half years he has held a position in the book department of the Huntley-Draper Company, and is one of the most popular employees of the company.

For the Sake of Safety the Greeks Fete to Convert Their Property Into Gold and Silver

They would take this bullion to the temples, where the priests watched it faithfully, in order to earn the reputation of fidelity to their charges.

The famous Temples of Delhi and Olympia in time came to be storehouses of great treasure. It took more than 2,000 years for this thrift impulse to develop into modern, interest paying savings, which, we believe, has reached its highest development in this Bank, where savings deposits are treated as trust funds and safeguarded by only the highest type of securities.

EYEWITNESS TELLS OF CRUEL DOUBLE MURDER EPISCOPAL CLERGYMAN VINDICATED BY COURT

Ill Man Suicides After Killing Two Women; Act Thot Caused by Jealousy

Dr. A. A. Morrison Case Is Decided For Respondent; $25,000 'Fraud' Is Closed.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Nov. 18.—A purported eyewitness account of the slaying at Copalis, Wash., twenty-five miles from here of Mrs. Carl Johnson and Daisy Bolton and the suicide of Hjalmar Anderson, was given by John Berg, a logger. Berg said he only escaped death at Anderson's hands by hiding in the timber near the cabin where the tragedy occurred. Mrs. Johnson lived here. Daisy Bolton came to Copalis recently from Vancouver, B. C.

Berg said that Anderson's jealousy of him, aroused because Mrs. Johnson had taken him into her cabin on the beach at Copalis to care for him during an illness, caused the tragedy. He said he was awakened last night by a shot and saw Anderson and Mrs. Johnson struggling. He tried to escape, he said, and Anderson shot and killed the woman, knocked him down and sized the Bolton girl. Berg said he saw Anderson slash the girl with a pocket knife.

22 YEAR OLD THIEF IS GIVEN TEN YEAR TERM

PORTLAND, Nov. 20.—Lionel Hobson, 22, debonaire desperado, was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary by Circuit Judge Morrow today. Hobson, a former Lincoln high school student, was convicted Friday of using a gun to forward his ambition as a jewel collector.

He held up Fred W. Vogler, head of the Northwest Auto company, for whom he was working as a salesman, June 30, 1921, and robbed him of his diamonds. The chase for Hobson began after he had quit working for Vogler three days after the robbery. Vogler, who had been held up by a masked man in the dark just as he was putting his car away in a private garage became suspicious.

A short time later Hobson was caught at Danemuir, Cal., but broke jail. He was recaptured in Everett, Wash., but again escaped. Chicago authorities finally identified him from police circulars while he was in a hospital there, suffering from a bullet wound in the hand. He is wanted at Logansport, Ind., under the name of H. H. Richmond, for burglary, according to Deputy District Attorney Graham, who said that the youth had been arrested several times for automobile thefts, and had served one sentence of five days on such a charge. He was armed at the time of the latter robbery, Graham said.
