WILLAMETTE VALLEY WILL BE IRRIGATED

PLAN TO PUT FOUR THOUSAND ACRES UNDER INFLUENCE OF SANTIAM RIVER WATERS.

Although the rainfall of the Willamette Valley has always been considered ample for all purposes, comes now the proposal to irrigate it. A syndicate has been formed at Portland and a tract of 4,000 acres near Salem will be watered by means of a canal from the Santiam River. It is expected to have the canals and laterals completed in time for watering the coming season's crops.

It will be a surprise to some that a district where over 44 inches of rainfall a year is experienced needs irrigation, but experts have decided that much larger crops will be produced if water is supplied during the height of the growing season, Midsummer, which is a period of scant moisture. Alfalfa, forage crops for dairy cattle, root crops and fruits are found to produce greater yields as well as much better quality where water is supplied to the thirsty ground.

Irrigation in the Willamette Valley s much of an experiment, but those why not practice great future for Westers Oregon in vegetable growing and in tags all lines of intensive farming. The men be-CLEAN UP SALE.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 25 .- (Staff Correspondence)-There is not the slight est probability that any of the people's laws will be amended or supple mented at this session of the Legislature. Two attempts to add further strong against meddling with these statutes as they were adopted by the people.

Yesterday the House killed by indefinite postponement, by a two to one vote, the hill by Thompson pro-viding for the creation of a law board, the function of which would be to prepare all initiative measures for submission to the voters. The author of this bill argued that its enactment would simplify and strengthen the initiative in that electors would be in AT SUNDAY SERVICES a position more intelligently to vote on the many measures submitted at election time. Champions of the initiative, however, insisted that the bill in effect would annul the initiative and place the question of preparing laws in the hands of a group of politicians with the result that little use could be made by the common people of the initiative as was the purpose of its enactment. A majority of the House members concurred in this view and Thompson's bill was killed by a vote of 36 to 20, four being absent. It was only last week that the House, by an equally decisive vote killed Clemens' bill, which required electors, before signing initiative petitions, to certify that they had either read the measure to be submitted or had heard its provisions read in an and stories of our city. You should intelligent manner.

Another bill relating to the initiative and proposing a supplemental section thereto is now before the House committee on elections. It was introduced by Representative Eggleston and provides for the appointment of a commission of five members, consisting of the Governor and Attorney-General and three circuit judges of the state. This commission is to meet studying the different initiative measures proposed, prepare a brief statement setting forth the legal effect and visit New York City, and what would These statements, it is provided, shall Andresen, Huntley Bros. LABOR PROBLEMS SUBJECT TO TALK NO DEFINITE RESULTS COME

FROM MASS MEETING AT COMMERCIAL CLUB.

BOTH SIDES OF QUESTION PRESENTED

Judge Campbell Says Corporations Always Try to Fool People, and J. E. Hedges Says Oregon le Legislation Mad.

Not a resolution was introduced, no definite plan was offered, nothing tangible was suggested, and the mass meeting of people interested in the proposed 8-bour law of Senator W. A. Dimick held last night in the Commercial Club rooms was practically barren of results. There was some conversation, pro and con, and be-wildering masses of figures. There were statements on hearsay and on knowledge and there were misstatements, and the most that can be said of the meeting was that it was en-tertaining to a degree.

Circuit Judge J. U. Campbell, W. S U'Ren, who needs no title, Rev. William M. Proctor, Attorney J. E. Hedg es, John W. Moffatt and B. T. McBain, the latter talking for the allied paper mill industries, spoke at some length on existing conditions, and W. A. Huntley, main trunk line of the Live Wires, presided. Judge Campbell fired the first gun and made an impassioned plea for more consideration for the workingman.

"Corporations always make the mistake of trying to fool the people," said Judge Campbell, "and the information they give out is not reliable. The mills are using the same argument against the adoption of an 8-hour law that have been used for 25 years. You their way home from a shift of 1314 hours. See the look of hopelessness upon their faces, and you will, more than ever, be convinced that the corporations do business along cold-bloodcan citizens to come here and settle

"Far better," exclaimed His Honor dramatically, "to have the mills shut down entirely than that they should raise in this town a race of slaves." Mr. Proctor, pastor of the Congrega-tional Church, took issue with statements made by officers of the paper companies. He said men impaired their health and undermined their constitutions by working 105 hours a week on a night shift and 63 hours on a day shift. He could not see how wages could be reduced to a point lower than they are at present. Mr. Procfor recited some information he had received from a relative who is manager of a New Hampshire mill, and later in the evening Mr. Sheahan attempted to puncture holes in the reverend gentleman's remarks, based on letters from the East. Mr. Sheahan had a slight advantage here, as he had seen the mills referred to, and Mr. Proctor had not.

J. E. Hedges said the Northwest and Oregon had gone legislation mad. "The very word 'corporation' makes us mad," said Mr. Hedges, "It's like fees charged for international money orders, effective February 1. When payable in Apia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Cape Colony, Costa Rica. them, but if we continue this sort of freak legislation the corporations will finally be compelled to quit. It is only because the railroad commission is fair that they did not put the railroads > thing, and I do not believe they will " Mr. Hedges told of his own disastrous experience as a stockholder in local corporations and explained he was not talking in the interests of any company.

B. T. McBain, assistant treasurer of the Willamette Pulp & Paper Co., pre-sented a glittering array of statistics. (Continued on Page 2) AdMATE
