MAGNATES ARE AT

Signs and Rumors Point to Friction Among Several Club Owners In National League-May Disrupt Old Organization.

There is a well authenticated rumor that major league baseball is on the verge of a big upheaval. Before the last eruption of Vesuvius the crater became active and underground rum blings gave warnings which the inhab itants of the mountain slopes, in their fancied security, refused to bear. Previous to the earthquake which buried Messina came minor tremblings, which were disregarded by those accustomed to them. In both cases, however, there were pessimistic scientists and wise old timers v he looked for trouble.

There are today veteran followers of the national game who claim to have sensed, various signs unfavorable to continued quiet in the baseball world These men meet unostentatiously and discuss the following facts and fan

It is an open secret that there is friction in the National league. In spite of the feeling against syndicate ball. the finger of suspicion points to some underground connection between cer tain clubs whose real ownership is unknown. Some presidents of clubs are widely at variance as to how the league should be run, and there are at least two opposing factions.

Big Row Is Started.

Things went so far that report credited Herrmann with the determination to drive Murphy and Fogel from the league. Stories that were very close to personalities were permitted to appear in the newspapers. From Cincinnati came the statement that the Chicago quarters for visiting players were a Windy City came the retort that the accommodations were what the vandalism of the Cincinnati team had Portland, was calling on friends in the

There is a report which emanates from well informed sources that Fletcher of third league fame has been approached by experienced basebal men and asked about his original plans, also what contracts and promises he was able to secure and just what he could actually do if he was called upon to go shead.

The national agreement has compar atively little longer to run. Options have been secured on various proper ties suitable for ball parks by unknown persons. Several players have got long term contracts. Rumor says that Ban Johnson would not be averse to a twelve club circuit in the American league The receipts from baseball last year were not what they were in 1909

Will all clouds disappear from the baseball sky, leaving it calm and clear? Many persons believe that the whole thing is but a tempest in a teapot, anyhow. They maintain that it is merely a case of crying "Wolf, wolf!" to stir up excitement. The veterans who disagree with them merely point out that at the end of that story the wolf arrived.

KEENE TO RACE ABROAD.

Famous Horseman Will Continue Breed Horses In Kentucky.

The James R. Keene stable is not likely to figure largely in turf events in America during the coming season, according to advices received recently. The best of the string will be raced in England hereafter. The Keene breeding establishment in Kentucky will be continued, however.

A further report in this connection is that James Rowe, who has trained the Keene horses for years, has amicably severed his relations with the veteran horseman, who is now in Europe and will train H. B. Duryen's horses in England and France during the approaching racing campaign in those countries.

Winnings of Keene horses on Amercan tracks during the past ten years foot up nearly $2,000,000.
