HOLD-UP STORY HAS THE COLOR OF TRUTH

WOMAN ON THE STREET WHO SAW QUEER ACTIONS CORROBORATION OF IT.

The publication of the story of the reported hold-up on Seventh street Friday night, and the erratic utterances set forth by the man held up in an effort to explain matters, has led a woman who lives on the street, and who noted queer actions in the premises, to tell Chief Shaw what she knows in the matter. She says:

Two men were seen sitting on the curb on the street about 8 o'clock, and they were talking excitedly. One was saying, "No, I won't do so." "No, you are just as drunk as I am." Then there was a scuffle and one started up the street and when the second began to follow the first turned about and told the second if he did follow he would kill him.

ROOSEVELT'S VISIT MADE A GREAT EVENT

WILL SPEND A BUSY TEN HOURS IN THE ROSE CITY WEDNESDAY.

PORTLAND, Or., April 3.—(Special)—If the plans for Roosevelt's visit to this city Wednesday are carried out to the letter he will be a busy man while in the city and a tired man when he leaves it.

Spanish-American war veterans will escort him to Multnomah Club grounds.

Rest at Hotel Portland. 6:30 P. M.—Reception and banquet at Commercial Club.

LOCAL BRIEFS. Call early and get exclusive style in hats at Miss C. Goldsmith's.

THE HALL OF FAME. OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES—Poet and novelist. Born Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 20, 1809; died Boston Oct. 7, 1894.

Big Mouthful. "Yes," whispered the man who knows everybody, "the big chap over there at the third table is a great gormand. He's a mountain in the financial world, you know."

Belling Alive. The last instance of boiling to death took place in Persia in 1890. The offender was guilty of stealing state revenues and was put into a large cauldron of cold water, which was slowly heated to the boiling point.
