CONVENTIONS IN MUSIC.

Rules Which Song Composers Seem to Feel They Must Follow. Why is it that all our musicians in writing a nautical song invariably use a portion of the best known burlesque as the introduction, "vamp," or counter-melody? Why do the open fifths in the bass always appear in rustic songs? Because it can't be helped.

TELESCOPE LENSES.

The Small Glass Magnifies the Picture Made by the Large One. People sometimes wonder why a telescope has two glasses, one at the big end and one at the little end, and they want to know the difference.

OWNERS DON'T TELL MUCH TO PUBLIC

New Methods of Reduction Said to Be the One Bone of Contention Causing Loss of Sleep. There was little news concerning the reported find of rich ore at the Ogle Mountain mines that the owners of the mine would give to the public.

Both Fairclough Bros. are out from the mine for a short rest. It is said that a rich vein—the main vein for which they have been so industriously searching and which they felt was there some place—has been opened up and that now the mine is a very valuable property.

SALEM, Or., April 4.—According to the estimate of President W. K. Newell of the state board of horticulture, the fruit production of the State of Oregon for 1910 was valued at $4,662,500. Mr. Newell also sets forth in his report that he believes there is no immediate danger of over production in this State.

AN EASTER MORNING

By F. A. MITCHEL
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Captain Ned Collins had made preparations to quit a seafaring life, settle down on a little farm that had been the dream of his life and spend the rest of his days with his family.

Mrs. Collins was one of those women who are always looking ahead for something to happen. When she bade goodby to her husband she remembered cases wherein persons had made a last venture which proved a last one in more ways than one.
