ROOSEVELT SAYS NOT A CANDIDATE

DECLARES HE HAS BEEN GIVEN ALL THE HONORS THAT CAN BE BESTOWED.

GREAT WEST DID MUCH FOR HIM

Made One Statement That Might Be Some Be Construed as a Bid for More Honors.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 8.—(Special.)—Colonel Roosevelt made a very broad statement today relative to the proposition that he was a candidate for a third term as President. And in the course of his remarks on this question he came very near saying that he would not be a candidate. He said: "I am not an aspirant for anything because I have had everything. I am ahead of the game."

This is the broadest statement that Roosevelt has made on this tour, and was made in answer to the question as to the purpose of the trip. This is the broadest statement he has made on this question since he left the White House. In the course of his remarks he attributed much he has accomplished to his life in the West—to the inspiration he received and the unbounded enthusiasm that he thus imbibed. What might by some be construed as a bid for further honors is found in the following: "When I left the Presidency I made up my mind that when the opportunity offered after my return from Africa, I should try to visit each section and as nearly as possible every state in the Union to greet the people, to endeavor to show them my belief that the man who has been a President of the United States is forever after the debtor of the American people. Mind you, I do not care for any office in itself. The only reason why I value any office is because of the opportunity given by that office to do work worth doing."

LEFT HANDED CATCH A BEAUT.

LOS ANGELES, April 8.—(Special.)—The Vernons won today in a score of 1 to 1 for the Beavers. The feature of the game was a wonderful one hand catch by Peckinpaugh, Portland's shortstop.

TOM JOHNSON VERY LOW.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 8.—(Special.)—Tom Johnson, the great Comedian who made such a game fight for three cent fare in Cleveland, and who has been at death's door for several days, today bid good bye to his friends and at once lapsed into unconsciousness.

TEARS THRO' FENCE BUT CHICKEN ESCAPES

CAPT. APPERSON HAS HIS FIRST AUTO ACCIDENT—NOTHING SERIOUS TO IT.

Captain J. T. Apperson, regent of the Oregon Agricultural College, one of the wealthiest residents of Clackamas county, and past department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, who purchased an automobile a few days ago from Elliott & Park, and who is learning to operate, was "chicken" hearted Saturday morning, and as a result had to have his auto repaired.

Chester Elliott was in the car with Captain Apperson giving him some instructions of operating it, when a chicken ran across the road near the Abernethy bridge. Captain Apperson was at the wheel, and Elliott exclaimed "you are now going to kill your first chicken," and the driver of the car had his attention on the chicken instead of the direction in which the car was going, and as a result went through a fence, in the direction of the fowl. The Captain says if it had not been for the "hog-gone" chicken his auto would have kept in the middle of the road.

HARRY LANE FOR MAYOR.

PORTLAND, Or., April 8.—(Special.)—Dr. Harry Lane, who was a Democratic mayor of Portland several years ago has consented to again become a candidate. It was thought that he was the only Democrat who could be elected to that position and so extreme pressure was brought to bear on him to get him to run.

EVIDENCE BLACK FOR LORIMER.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 8.—(Special.)—Bank deposits that correspond with the claims made by witnesses in the Lorimer bribery case indicate that there is more evidence obtainable than was at first believed. Things look worse for Lorimer at this time than ever before.

SNOW STORM STOPS GAME. CLEVELAND, April 8.—A snow storm in the seventh inning ended the game this afternoon between Cleveland's second team and the Toledo Association Club, with the score 3 to 2 at the end of the sixth inning, in favor of Toledo.

FOREST FIRE LOSSES BECOMING SERIOUS

VALUABLE RESOURCES OF THE STATE GOING UP IN SMOKE EVERY YEAR.

Forest fires, one of the greatest sources of destruction to the most valuable resources of the State, will soon be restricted and their terrors largely reduced if the people will cooperate with the State Forester in the administration of the new forestry law enacted by the last Legislature, which will be ready for distribution in pamphlet form in the near future.

One of the most important provisions of the law is that making a closed season for burning from June 1 to October 1, during which period outdoor fires of all kinds are prohibited except under most stringent regulations and the probability of heavy penalties.

In this connection the State Forester urges upon every one the necessity of doing all possible burning before the closed season begins, and thus save the trouble and risk of doing it by permission during that season of great danger, when fire spreads so easily and rapidly.

The State Forester desires the assistance and cooperation of every one in the protection of property from forest, grass or brush fires, and to this end invites suggestions and information calculated to assist in any manner in the performance of his most important duties. Copies of all who desire them, promptly furnished to all who desire them. Requests and communications addressed to F. A. Elliott, State Forester, Capitol Building, Salem, will receive prompt and appreciative attention.

"ENCOURAGEMENT" IS PRESCRIBED

EVA F. WASH READS INSTRUCTIVE PAPER BEFORE PARENTS AND PUPILS FRIDAY.

CHILDREN ARE ENTITLED TO PRAISE

Commendation Rightly Given is Instructive and Opens Mind of Child to What is Wanted of Them.

The word encouragement means to put heart into. No work can be well and successfully done unless the doer's heart is in that work. The great achievements of the world, the great inventions, the great victories of war have been possible because men's hearts were in their work to such an extent that they were willing to make any sacrifice of self in order that their heart's desire might be accomplished.

In some rare characters there is no need for encouragement from without. They can work on with the same diligence and enthusiasm whether their fellow men show interest and approval of what they are doing or whether they are met with criticism or dull disinterest.

To most of us, however, there must come much encouragement from without if we are to put our hearts into our work to such a degree that this work may reach its highest possible success.

Perhaps the best way to encourage a discouraged or disheartened man or woman is to show him that their work has good points—work that must have—that it is worth while to them and the world and to remind them that work faithfully completed always brings its reward.

No other work demands so many sacrifices, such complete giving of self and heart as does motherhood. May I offer to you mothers a few words of encouragement? Your work is the most beautiful and wonderful work in the world. It is of far more importance to the world than the painting of beautiful pictures, perfecting great inventions or leading great armies to victory. It is the work of moulding characters. We teachers are so often reminded of our opportunities to influence the lives of our pupils. Yet our opportunities are as nothing compared with yours. During the first six years of the child's life—the years when his little mind and heart are so open to lessons of love, bravery and truthfulness—you have him close under your loving and watchful care.

Even after he starts to school the time spent under home influence is much greater than the time spent in school. There are ninety-eight waking hours in the seven day week of the average child; of these only thirty are spent in school. Therefore no matter how we teachers may strive and long to build up beautiful characters in the lives of our pupils, you mothers have the advantage over us.

It is most wonderful what a mother's love and teaching may do for a child. I heard a wonderful man who held great audiences spellbound tell how his "Mamma" took in a big cabin in Tennessee when he was a boy. He said she kept the cabin with its dirt floor and scanty furnishings as cheerily as possible that he might love his home; how she talked to him and told him of her hopes that he might grow up to be a good man.

You will not need to go barefooted to help your children but you are called upon to make many sacrifices of time and self for their sakes. And your reward will come to you just as surely as it came to that mountaineer mother. Heaven itself can offer no sweeter reward than the joy of a parent over a son or daughter grown to a perfect, well rounded manhood or womanhood.

After William McKinley had taken the oath of office as President of the United States he turned to his wrinkled, gray haired mother and kissing her tenderly said, "This is all your doing, mother."

Abraham Lincoln said "All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."

Your son may never be President and your daughter probably never will be but whether the son be a merchant, carpenter or clerk and the daughter a teacher, mill hand or housewife, if they can look back and say, "I owe the best that is in me to the teachings of my mother, then dear mothers all of your sacrifices and cares and years of anxious hopes have been amply repaid. The thought of encouragement must be constantly in the mind of the primary teacher. The first year of school work is most important in forming right habits of doing work. If the child can learn in the first grade to put his heart into his work, that a lesson that is studied half-heartedly is pretty apt to be a failure, then he has learned one of the most important lessons not only of school but of all life.

But the beginning of things is often hard. The first efforts are often times crude. So the teacher must always be ready to encourage, to find some good points in the halting reading or the funny scribbles the child so fondly thinks are beautiful writing.

The parents may help teacher and child very much if they will encourage the little one by finding something good to say about his efforts to read or write. One of my tiny tots said one day, "My mamma says I'm doing fine," and then how she did study her lesson to prove to me that she was "doing fine!" I wonder if you realize how much you can encourage your children only by taking an interest in their school work. Ask them to bring home their readers and read a lesson for you or do some work in arithmetic.

VERY FLATTERING REPORT.

R. L. Badger Has Four Valuable Jerseys on Beaver Creek Farm. R. L. Badger, of Beaver Creek, has a flattering report to make for the two departments on his farm that he specializes—his cows and his chickens. His reports receipts of $205.50 for four Jersey cows for the past three months. Receipts of $140.70 from 165 hens for the same three-month period.

This means that Mr. and Mrs. Badger are giving their hens and cows good treatment and excellent care, and that they are giving considerable attention to the marketing of the product. All of which adds emphasis to the oft-repeated statement that it pays to do what you do well.
