REBELS IN JUAREZ; TOWN IS BURNING

100 THOUGHT KILLED AND MANY WOUNDED IN FIERCE ALL DAY FIGHT.

SIX AMERICANS ARE AMONG SLAIN

Both Sides Rest on Arms and Battle Will Continue Today—Taft Urged to Interfere, But Declines.

EL PASO, Tex., May 9.—(Special.)—The rebels tonight say they control Juarez, after the fiercest battle of the rebellion. It is expected that the battle will be resumed at day break. Juarez is ablaze, and it is reported that the entire town is doomed.

Six Americans are said to have been killed and at least a score are wounded. Probably 100 were killed on the field of battle and at least that many wounded.

The Mexican passenger station is burning. Although the rebels say they control the town the government troops are well fortified.

All day the insurgents were awaking through the streets of Juarez meeting the heavy fire of the federals with equally vigorous volleys of musketry.

The rebels are scattered. In battle formation they probably could storm the federal strongholds, as they apparently consist of just six places—the barracks, the church, the theatre, the schoolhouse, a hotel and the customhouse. But the insurgents suspect that a detachment of nearly 300 federals with a machine gun is concealed somewhere in town and they are hesitating to advance too close for fear of a rear or flank attack.

The rebels forced the fighting today in the face of deadly fire from federal machine guns. They dared not gather in too great numbers because the artillerymen of General Navarro many times demonstrated the accuracy of their range, while they shelled adobe houses behind which insurgents had sought protection a half mile from Juarez while skulking along the river front. General Navarro also is said to have mined most of the houses in Juarez, and the insurgents are naturally reluctant to occupy any of them in force.

Many feats of bravery on the part of the insurgents were plainly visible from the American side of the line and in street fighting they more than held their own.

The sun was hot and late today a fire, started by the insurgents, filled the streets with clouds of suffocating smoke. Tonight flashes of light from the rains gave the rebels an occasional view of the church where the federals are cooped up, and the cracking of rifles followed each such glimpse.

Juarez looked as if swept by a hurricane. Many brick buildings were shattered and the adobe houses of the town were without roofs tonight.

The terror-stricken residents of the town were under cover all day, but many were injured by showers of bullets, which penetrated thin walls and windows.

Bullets crossed the Rio Grande to the American side today, but the casualties were few, owing to the efforts of the United States troops, who have kept everybody several hundred yards back from the river front.

TAFT WON'T INTERVENE.

WASHINGTON, May 9.—President Taft's determination to maintain his "hands off" policy in the Mexican revolution was only strengthened by a cabinet meeting here today which

FAIR RATES TO BE LOW.

Pacific Coast Association to Aid Astoria.

SOKANE, Wash., May 9.—The Pacific Coast Passenger Agents Association assured John Day, publicity manager, that rates on all lines would be reduced materially for the Astoria Centennial. A conference will be held in Portland next week between railroad men and General Manager Tramp, when details of the reduction will be worked out.

It is planned to run excursion trains under the auspices of commercial bodies of various cities in the Northwest. Arrangements are about completed with the Spokane Commercial Club to run a special train of sleepers to Astoria. The date will be determined later.

May 14 is Mothers' Day.

Flags will be displayed in all public places and white carnations are to be worn as a mark of recognition of the "purity, beauty, love, charity and fidelity of all motherhood."

WATER BAILIFFS ARE TO BE TRIED TODAY

MEN ACCUSED OF CATCHING SALMON ILLEGALLY BROUGHT HERE FROM PORTLAND

Deputy Sheriff D. E. Frost went to Portland Tuesday morning and served warrants on Water Bailiffs Gustafson and Mundell, charging them with having salmon in their possession illegally. The men were brought to Oregon City where they denied that they had violated the law. Because of absence of Justice of the Peace Samson they were by Deputy District Attorney Stipp to return to their homes on the promise that they would be on hand when the case against them is called in Justice Samson's court at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Because of the fact that the men were arrested on the charge of violating a law which they are employed to uphold, the case is attracting much attention. The warrants were served on the bailiffs at their homes on East Ankeny Street. It is charged that on the last day of the closed season Gustafson and Mundell poached a boat and net from an Oswego fisherman and caught three fish. They are said to have given one of the fish away and kept the other two. The fishing gear, which it is alleged the bailiffs used, was returned intact to its owner.

Thousands of Tons of Stone Blown into Canyon.

C. R. Livesay, of this city, went to Linton Tuesday, where he witnessed the explosion of 11,000 pounds of trogan powder, blowing thousands of tons of rocks into a canyon nearby. Many persons from Portland went to Linton to watch the experiment, which was very successful.

WIFE BARES WOES IN DIVORCE SUIT

MRS. HOGUE SAYS SHE JUMPED FROM WINDOW AS ANGRY SPOUSE FLOURISHED RAZOR

"TA, TA," FINAL WORDS OF PARTING

Husband Threatened to Shoot Her, Says Plaintiff, and Later Wrote He Had Gone Away Not To Return.

Viola Hogue has filed suit for divorce against Frank Hogue, to whom she was married in April, 1904, at Mount Vernon, Ill.

Mrs. Hogue alleges her husband treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner. She says he is of a jealous disposition, and continually nagged at her, accusing her of keeping company with other men, and would continually start quarrels. He has threatened her life, she asserts, and called her vile names, and on one occasion she says he told her to pack her goods and to get out.

Shortly after ordering her from the home he returned to her room, where she was with her two children. He ordered the children from the room, holding a razor in his hand, Mrs. Hogue says. Fearing she would be killed she jumped from the window.

Hogue met his wife on the street about March 15, this year, and asked her to his room. She went to his room and he said he was going away, and he wanted her to write to him. She promised she would and he said if she had not promised to do so it would have all ended right there. He also threatened to shoot her, she asserts. While preparing to desert his wife and children on April 23, he wrote to his wife, as follows: "You will never see or hear of me again, so go to it. You don't need to answer this, because if you do, I will not answer it. Then if you did there are some more tin cans in the alley, ta, ta!"

DR. HOMAN URGES PUPILS TO USE BRAINS

HEAD OF WILLAMETTE SPEAKS BEFORE OREGON CITY HIGH SCHOOL.

The use of one's brains was the keynote of an address by Dr. Fletcher Homan, president of Willamette University, before the Oregon City High School Assembly, Tuesday afternoon. Dr. Homan's subject was, "What is worth while in life," and the advice he offered should have a most salutary effect. He is only one of the notable citizens of Oregon who have been induced by City Superintendent of Public Instruction Toozee to address the High School Assembly. Among the other were Governor West, President Campbell of the State University, and President Kerr, of the Oregon Agricultural College.

After calling attention to honesty and integrity as essentials to success, President Homan dwelt upon the necessity of training the brain. He pointed out how raw, untrained boys have, by attending college, become leaders in every honorable walk of life. The inference was that if they had not had the mental training their brains would have been dormant, and nothing worth while could have been accomplished. He named several men who had attained high positions in this state through their college training. The address was one of the most interesting and instructive that has been made before the school. The lecture course, which was inaugurated by Superintendent Toozee more than a year ago, has proved popular with the students, and it goes without saying that they will derive incalculable benefit from the advice of these distinguished men. While primarily for the benefit of the students, Superintendent Toozee from the beginning extended invitations to all residents of the city to attend the lectures. The attendance of this character has not been as large as was expected, but Superintendent Toozee thinks there will be a gradual awakening among the people when the new high school building is finished and accommodations are better.

The idea of the Superintendent in establishing the lecture courses was to inculcate moral and educational thoughts in the minds of the students. He believes that the lectures make for better citizenship along the lines of moral, social and industrial training. The benefit derived is more substantial than that which could be obtained from books alone, says Superintendent Toozee.

At the country meetings, a great many people ask, "What are the Oregon City people doing?" and in order to show that the Oregon City people are alive to the situation, the board of directors have called a meeting to be held next Friday evening, in the rooms of the Oregon City Commercial Club, for the purpose of fully explaining to the Oregon City people what is being done by the company in carrying out the work.

Road to Aid Oregon City.

Oregon City will be directly benefited in a great many ways: first, it will make a large territory of country which has heretofore been isolated, directly tributary to this city, and it will stimulate values of real estate in all parts of the city and greatly enhance the value of real property throughout the country tributary to the line. It will also make a market for thousands of car loads of cordwood, piling, lumber and saw-logs that are practically inaccessible at present time, and it will greatly assist in building up Clackamas County in general.

The directors who consented to put in their time on this great project

K. & L. OF S. VISIT PORTLAND.

Willamette Lodge Members Have Fine Time in Metropolis.

Willamette Lodge, Knights and Ladies of Security, went to Portland Monday night, having been invited by Eureka Lodge of that city to the Woodmen hall on Sixth and East Alder, where a union of lodges took place, among them being Milwaukie Lodge and several others from Portland. There were about 43 from the local organization from this city attending, and a most enjoyable time was had. The early part of the evening was devoted to business, and six candidates were initiated. The floor work was very impressive, and was put on by the drill team of Eureka Lodge. The Willamette drill team of this city had been extended the invitation of putting on this floor work, but owing to some of the members being unable to attend it was decided not to undertake the task. The local organization has been the banner council for two quarters.

After all business was transacted the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing. Ice cream and cake were served. Those attending from this city left Portland on the 12 o'clock car.

MEN COOK; WOMEN EAT; ALL HAPPY

ORDER OF THINGS REVERSED AT SUPPER OF PRESBYTERIAN BROTHERHOOD.

UNIQUE FEAST THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

Dr. Holt, of Portland, Makes Plea For Young Men to Enter Ranks of Ministry—Woman's Aid Urged.

"It's just fine. Say, isn't it great to see the men hustling about and the women don't have to worry about will it get done? There's Mr. Schuebel washing dishes and Mr. Bowland serving the ice cream and Mr. Green and Mr. Frost hustling about in the kitchen—and how they seem to enjoy it, too."

There were sixty-four delighted gasps as the women were ushered into the dining hall of the Presbyterian Church last night. They hadn't had a finger in the preparation of the supper to which they sat down as the guests of the brotherhood. And such a time as they had. The remarks in the first paragraph are a sample of the bouquets handed to the men. Room Decorated With Dogwood.

The room was beautifully decorated with dogwood blossoms, the work of Kent Wilson and Angus Matteson. And the tables were loaded with good things to eat—and the men did it all. No worry, and the completeness which marked every part of the affair made it a red-letter occasion.

Dr. Holt, of Portland, was the speaker of the evening. He gave an inspiring talk on missions and the need of men for the ministry, especially in the Western country. He appealed directly to the women to influence, as far as possible, the young men and boys toward the ministry. His talk was very much appreciated. The Doctor was for a number of years a missionary in China, and has been for years the Pacific Coast Secretary of the department of the Presbyterian Church that places new men in the field. He is considered the best authority on the religious need of the coast, in this country.

Men Try Their Own Cooking.

After the talk the ladies retired from the tables and the men took their turn at what they had prepared themselves. The total number who sat down at the different tables during the evening was 150. And then there was something left.

When the men had finished the ladies tried to get in and found to their delight that there was nothing done. No one of them could say she had a finger in the labor of the entertainment of the whole 150. The leaders and members of the Brotherhood are more than delighted with the success of their plans.

And everybody went home happy.

DECORATIONS FOR FESTIVAL PLANNED

Portland, Or., May 9 (Special).—Decorations for Portland's annual Rose Festival, June 5-10, will be more elaborate than ever before, according to plans being made by the business houses for brightening up the downtown streets. The Festival colors are leaf green and petal pink, but this year the national colors will be used extensively as well. Several of the larger business houses on the line of the parades have already made arrangements to have their places decorated elaborately, and some of them will spend several hundred dollars in dressing up their establishments.

One department store will convert an entire block into a temporary rose garden. Large vases or jardiniere will be placed at short intervals along the curb entirely around the block and blooming rose bushes will be placed in them for the entire week. Lodges and various interests will have special designs, the Elks are planning to weave the royal purple of Elksdom into the color scheme, while the Lumberman's Building will feature the designs of the Hoo Hoos.

There will be sharp rivalry between the business houses of Sixth and Seventh streets as to which will have the more beautiful decorations, the various establishments vying with each other in producing the best effects.

BIRD'S TATTOO CALLS LAWYER MORNINGS

ORNITHOLOGIST THINKS LITTLE VISITOR SUFFERS FROM EXAGGERATED EGO.

William Hammond, the attorney, who lives at Gladstone, has a strange story to tell of a little bird, which has either lost its mind, or is suffering from abnormal conceit. The bird is of the junco species, sometimes called snowbird. About a week ago Mr. Hammond was awakened early in the morning by a strange pecking at a window of his living room. Upon raising the curtain he saw a beautiful little bird clinging to the window sash pecking with all its might at the window pane. Mr. Hammond raised the window and the little feathered visitor flew away.

But hardly had the lawyer returned to his bed before the bird was back at the window playing a tattoo with its little bill. Mrs. Hammond was called, and her sympathies being aroused, she offered the little stranger food. But it flew to a nearby tree where it joined its mate. Since then the bird has re-appeared every morning at the window and eats anything that is put out for it. Mrs. Hammond became so interested in the case that she consulted W. L. Finley, of Jennings Lodge, who is an authority on ornithology. The bird was described to Mr. Finley as having a black head, tan breast and brown body with two white feathers in its tail. Mr. Finley said that the case was unusual, but birds had been known to act in the same strange manner before. He said that there were two explanations, either the junco was attracted by its reflection in the window pane or it had lost its mind.

absolutely without salary, are entitled to the assistance of every business man in Oregon City, and in a few months, they will be able to see that their efforts have not been in vain.

The directors promised when they started in this work that every dollar paid in on stock subscriptions would be used in the construction work, and not a dollar would be used for salaries of the officers of the company, and they are carrying out that promise to the letter, and now they ask the business men in Oregon City to come forward and assist them in carrying on this work.

Many Inspect Grading Work.

During the last few days a number of persons who live outside of Clackamas County, have inspected the grading work now being done on the line out of Oregon City, and all of those who have seen the work, expressed themselves as being surprised at the large amount of work accomplished for the money expended. The board of directors are highly pleased with the success of the work thus far, and are exercising their best endeavors to interest all of the home people so that everyone will be boosting for the success of this great enterprise.

Every man and woman in Oregon City who is interested in this work should meet the board of directors at the Commercial Club rooms in Oregon City next Friday evening, when every detail of the construction work will be carefully explained.
