COUNSEL FOR CORPORATION SAY DECREE OF COURT WILL BE OBEYED

NEW YORK, May 16.—Higher prices to the consumer for oil and its products, it is believed here today, will be the only real effect of the United States supreme court's decision declaring the Standard Oil Company a trust and ordering its dissolution.

Oil Trust Expected to Advance Prices. Discussing effects of the decision, it is pointed out that for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey to re-transfer its properties to the original companies will not change its ownership, although the stock will be distributed to numerous stockholders instead of being in the possession of the parent corporation. All the subsidiary corporations of the Standard Oil Company, under the decision of the supreme court will be operated hereafter as distinct concerns and though their operating expenses will be thus increased, there is still no way to compel actual competition. For the reason that concentration has been destroyed, it is believed there is no doubt that it will be necessary to meet the increased expenses of the companies' individual administration. While ostensibly there will be separate oil companies in the different markets, no court mandate can prevent them working along the lines now prevalent in the steel business, "gentleman's agreement." M. F. Elliott, chief counsel for the Standard Oil Company, in a statement issued here today, declared that the Standard would obey the decree of the United States supreme court.

and would at once take steps to dissolve. Elliott continued: "Not having seen the court's decision, it is impossible for me to make a lengthy statement. It may be said now, however, that the Standard will obey the decree and that all companies embraced in the decree will conduct their business under the direction of their own officers through their own corporate organizations." Buying by the short interests was on an enormous scale and bull operators took on large lines. The market closed strong. Bonds were firm.

CAN EASTERNERS STOP TIGERS?

Unless They Do American League Race Will Become Procession.

DETROIT STRONGER THAN EVER

By TOMMY CLARK. Can the eastern teams stop the Detroit Tigers, give them a setback and otherwise cause them to lose their man eating ways? This question is now being asked by the baseball fans. The wonderful showing of the club and the fact that they entered the month of May with the longest lead in baseball history have almost caused the black blurs on the heads of Hal Chase and Condie Mack to turn white. Never in the history of the game has a team started off so well. If it were a weak team the other managers would have little to worry about. But Detroit is a different proposition. Jennings has a club this season hard to beat under any turn, and with a big lead the job is simply that much harder. Last year the Detroiters were the victims of the worst kind of hard luck; otherwise they would have been factors to a finish. This season everything seems to be breaking their way. And in addition the team has been greatly strengthened since the close of 1910. A big hole has been filled up at first base, and the twirling staff is the best Jennings has ever had. In fact, the club is fully 30 per cent stronger than last year. Here is another point: Detroit has still a long list of games to play at home. If the eastern teams fail to stop the Tigers within the next few weeks Jennings and his band of pill eaters will have a lead that will be well nigh invincible. From then on the American league race will become a procession instead of a fight. Although the season is still young, the Detroit club has come pretty near putting the entire western section on the blink by the most sustained rush ever shown by any team. It will be very interesting to watch the work of the eastern teams when they tackle Detroit, provided they are going to be overhauled. Poor twirling helped in keeping the Tigers from being closer last season. Jennings recently complained that he had too many good young twirlers. It's a complaint that is positively unique in the annals of baseball. It's an affliction which many other clubs in the league would welcome with becoming avidity. This is in striking contrast to the condition of affairs for the previous two years. Always a great batting and base running club, it seems to have improved over previous seasons. Crawford is leading the league in batting, and Cobb is close up, while Galloway is not very far behind. Moriarty is walloping the ball harder than ever, and Delehanty is also there with his big stick. Besides being the hardest hitting team in the circuit, it is the greatest base running club in either league. With the team pelted the ball harder than ever and the players running the sacks like demons, the twirling staff stronger than ever and luck favoring the team, it will be hard work stopping them. The catching staff could be improved upon, but is not weak by any means. Jennings has proved himself a resourceful leader. He has been in charge of the team six seasons, during which time he has captured three successive pennants, an American league record. His methods are unique. Jennings never drives his players, but instills a never say die spirit into them which has enabled the Tigers to win out in many games at the very last minute. When he took hold of the team the members were fighting among themselves. The club was disorganized and finished way down in the second division. The following season he perfected harmony to such an extent that the Tigers won the banner. Last year the outfielders were not on speaking terms. Hingle parted with McIntyre and made Cobb and Crawford make up. Once more Jennings scored. Probably no manager in the major leagues has ripped up his infield as often as Jennings. For a few of the rips he was severely censured by the critics, but later slapped on the back by the same men. When the Tigers won the pennant in 1907 the infield was Roseman, Schaefer, O'Leary and Coughlin. Today not one of 'em is left. Moriarty replaced Coughlin, Delehanty Schaefer and Bush O'Leary. Tom Jones was on first last year. He was slumping up, so Jennings let him go. Another big mistake, said the experts. But Jennings has landed a corking good first sacker in Galloway. The latter is playing a great game at the initial station and batting like a streak. Take off your hat to Huggie. He is a leader to be admired by every fan in every city for his managerial ability and his never say die spirit. Read the Morning Enterprise.

ODDFELLOWS ELECT SHARON GRAND SCRIBE

PORTLAND MAN IS GIVEN HONOR FOR SEVENTEENTH TIME.

PORTLAND, Or., May 16.—(Special.)—Three hundred officers, delegates and visitors were present when Grand Patriarch Lee Wimberly called the 37th annual session of the Grand Encampment, L. O. O. It Wouldn't Pay to Advertise A Poor Article

Nor a proposition of doubtful merit or honesty—for ad-readers nowadays, are DISCRIMINATING. They know values—they know GENUINE things, genuine opportunities.

Any article which can be sold by advertising is, by that test, a GOOD article. YOU are safe in buying a thing which has "stood the fire of publicity."

The maker of a widely advertised article, commodity, is always on trial for his business life. He cannot shrink, nor cheapen his product—and this is the best possible protection for the consumer.

You are SAFE in buying advertised things—it's the logic of nowadays business conditions.
