NATIONAL A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIPS

Annual Contest For Titles to Be Held in Pittsburg.

WESTERNERS TO MAKE BID.

Crack Athletes of the Middle and Far West Will Compete in the Principal Events—Easterners Will Not Have Easy Sailing.

That eastern athletes will not have all smooth sailing at the national championships to be held at Forbes field, Pittsburg, June 29 and July 1, is evidenced by the expressed intention of the big clubs of the middle and far west to make bids for the honors.

From Seattle the greatest track and field performers of that section will be sent, including champions of two years ago, who failed to make the New Orleans series held last year. Included in this bunch will be W. Martin, who won in 1909 the "hundred" and who was a strong factor in last year's events.

Then there will be Edmondson, the half miler, who took the measure of Harry Glesing, New York Athletic club, at that distance, incidentally beating him ten yards in the slashing time of 1 minute 55 1-5 seconds. Another great bidder for honors will be Walter Thomassen, formerly of the winged foot club, a "six-three" man in the high jump and one who probably will make great inroads in the point getting of the New York Athletic club in that particular event.

Joe Malcomson, the low hurdle title holder of 1909, which honors he won when he beat Harry Hillman in Seattle, will again be a competitor, ready to take the measure of the pick of eastern timber tappers. In his efforts he will be aided by W. Edwards, who beat the noted Smithson at the Portola exposition in time said to have been 15 1-5 seconds. As a matter of fact, he has since failed to live up to that supposed performance, and despite the advantage of having been under the tutelage of Mike Murphy at the University of Pennsylvania, where he is a student, he was taken into camp recently at the New York Athletic club games by Jack Eiler of the Irish American Athletic club. Others in the squad will be B. Gish, a clever all around performer, who will compete in the broad jump and the discus events. Philbrook, formerly of Notre Dame and a good weight man, will also carry the colors of the Seattle club.

For the middle west Ralph Craig will do battle, and if he is only in a semblance of his form, as shown at the intercollegiate championships, he already has both the "hundred" and "two-hundred" yard races practically tucked away for the year. It is really a treat to see this athlete run. Not the best man in the world getting away from his mark, he is certainly a fast runner when he gets into action, apparently running over his field from sixty yards in the short sprint. In the "two-hundred" he overtops any amateur the world ever saw, with the possible exception of Bernie Wefers, who holds with the westerner the world's best mark—21 1-5 seconds—for the distance. Further than this, he can step a rattling quarter, and be ought to do exceedingly well if he were to try a broad jump.

Of course in the east there are several clever performers, each of whom has been tried by competitive fire and rarely found wanting. Both the New York Athletic club and the Irish American Athletic club will use every endeavor to attempt to stem the tide of a possible western flood and promise to go into the Smoky City with the best teams in their history. Forbes field, the home of the Pittsburg baseball club, will be the scene of the contest. It is being made over into a first class track, which just skirts the stadium stands in its circuit. Mike Murphy, the Pennsylvania trainer, has charge of its construction and asserts that he will have a fine track. It will be pear shaped, with the longest straightaway eighty yards long. The track will be seventeen feet wide throughout its length. The 100 yard event will be run from right field toward the home plate and the "two-hundred" right hand in from the extreme center field corner. The quarter mile will start at the 100 yard finish and will have a straightaway from the start for 100 yards; then there will be a 224 foot turn, a 98 foot straight, a 143 foot turn, a 114 foot straight, a 131 foot turn, with a straight run home of 100 yards.

Pitcher Wood Has One Failing. Joe Wood of the Boston Americans is one of the greatest pitchers in the world of baseball, but he has a fatal weakness. He can't stand prosperity. When he makes a name for himself along with Ed Walsh and Walter Johnson he wants to celebrate his achievement.

Miller Huggins, Sensational Infielder. There are Collinses and Lajoles presiding over the second bag, but small Miller Huggins of the St. Louis Nationals must be taken into account among those who cover that position in a way which is a delight to the eyes and an annoyance to the enemy.

A PEACE PREACHER.

Mrs. Elmer Black, Who Has Gone Abroad to Spread the New Gospel.

MRS. ELMER BLACK.

Mrs. Elmer Black is one of the persons who do not agree with ex-President Roosevelt in his opinion of the impossibility of settling international disputes by arbitration. Mrs. Black is an apostle of peace. She talks and writes peace. One of the most interesting addresses made at the recent peace conference in Baltimore was hers. Mrs. Black is vice president of the congress. She is also editor and publisher of the Editorial Review, a magazine that advocates universal peace.

In regard to her peace views, Mrs. Black says: "I would not have faith in arbitration treaties or even Hague courts if evolution had stopped with nationalism. If patriotism had only passed from a devotion to the state to a blind devotion to one's country. But because I see everywhere this new habit of thinking in world terms, this deepening sense of brotherhood and a kinship of soul stronger and more enduring than mere national distinctions—because of this I believe that the promise of world peace and the reign of law is both feasible and certain of fulfillment."

Mrs. Black is now abroad, where she is to address many notable gatherings in favor of universal peace.

QUAKER FRILL.

The Combination of Strange Fashion Notes a Feature of the Season. The success of "The Quaker Maid," a new comic opera in London, has started many Quaker fashions. One of these is the pointed neck frill, which is finished in front with a ribbon rosette, small bow or fancy pin. This frill is laid in accordion plaits.

The wide band of ribbon about the head, giving a turban-like appearance to the coiffure, is one of the developments of the harem fashions. Thus one may see the most remarkable combinations of costume periods, as in this case the Quaker and Turkish notes. It may well be seen that the fashion designers have a wide catholicity of taste.

A Queer Charm.

In many parts of Norway the chances of marriage or old maidenhood make the girls use a strange love charm in order to know their fate. A maiden who desires this weaves a net of the finest hair, working ten minutes on a moonlight night, and she believes that if she does this successfully for thirty moonlight nights she will be married within three years. Put woe to the girl who breaks the hairs she weaves with or tears holes in the net—she is decreed to be an old maid.

Wine Stains.

Wine stains on table linen should be covered immediately with salt and afterward washed out in cold water. Should any stain remain lay over it a paste made of lemon juice and salt, leave it till dry and then wash out in cold water.

MISS HOPP BECOMES MR. WIELAND'S BRIDE

MANY FRIENDS ATTEND NUPTIALS OF POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE.

One of the most impressive weddings ever solemnized in this city was that of Miss Helen Hopp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopp, of Greenpoint, and Charles Wieland, of this city. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. William Kraxberger, pastor of the Zion Lutheran church, was spoke in German. The little flower girl was Helen Schief, niece of the bride. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Clara Kings, the bridal party entered the church at 2:30 o'clock, the bride and bridegroom being attended by Miss Miller, Miss Evelyn Harding, Paul Hopp and William Kraker. The bride was beautifully attired in Helen pink crepe de chine, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her long tulle veil was caught in place by a wreath of white roses. Miss Harding wore a becoming gown of white, while Miss Miller was prettily gowned in lavender. The bridesmaids carried Caroline Testout roses. The ceremony was performed beneath a canopy of roses and ferns, and the church was elaborately decorated with evergreens and flowers. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hopp, at Greenpoint, at which a sumptuous repast was served. The rooms were prettily decorated with evergreens, red bells, roses and sweet peas. The decorations of the tables were of roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Hopp was assisted by Mrs. Charles Hopp, Mrs. Frank Hopp, Mrs. Miertz, Mrs. Schief, Mrs. Schwartz.

Dancing was indulged in until a late hour, and before the departure of the guests one of the impressive German features was the presenting of the bride's veil. In this the bride is blindfolded and she takes part in the dance, presenting the veil she has worn during the marriage ceremony to one of the guests. Mr. William Kraker received it. Many of the old German songs were sung during the afternoon and evening.

Those attending the ceremony and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hopp, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopp and family, Paul Hopp, Ernest Hopp, Mr. and Mrs. Schief, Helen Schief, Mr. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Harding, Miss Nieta Harding, Miss Evelyn Harding, Mr. and Mrs. S. Seller, Miss Seller, Mr. and Mrs. Schwartz, and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Vigelinus, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Miller, Mr. Miller, Miss Winkel, Mr. and Mrs. Miertz.

Mr. and Mrs. Wieland are well-known in this city, they both having come here from Colby, Wis. The bride came with her parents about two years ago, and the bridegroom arrived here shortly after. The bride, who is very active in church work, being a member of the Zion Lutheran church, and a member of the choir. The bridegroom is an employe of the paper mills of the West Side. Many beautiful gifts were received by the couple. They have taken up their residence at Sixth and John Adams streets.
