SAFE IS DYNAMITED BY BANDITS

Train Crew Covered With Guns Act at Outlaws' Bidding—Posses on Handcar Stems Pursuit of Men.

GLENDALE, Or., June 28.—(Special.)—The California Express was held up at West Fork, in Cow Creek Canyon, at 8:10 tonight by three masked outlaws.

The mail, express and baggage cars were detached, and the mail car looted. The passengers were not molested.

Three cars which were detached from the first section of the train were heard from by telephone from Cow Creek station, four miles east of West Fork. It was reported that the mail car had been robbed, but that Express Messenger Robb kept the robbers from entering the express car. Engineer is Missing.

Engineer Schmidt is missing, but it is believed he may be with the rear part of the train, from which no communication has been received. After halting the train the robbers ordered the mail, express and baggage cars detached and drawn some distance from the passenger coaches.

Roar of the explosion of the dynamite set in the safe by the train robbers aroused Westfork residents, and a posse was formed here immediately, the operator at Westfork telephoning news of the holdup. On a handcar Deputy Sheriff Lawson, Constable Hanks and Leroy Jenkins with other armed men are speeding toward the scene of the robbery 15 miles west of this place.

Trainmen Face Pistols.

Boarding the first section of the train, the outlaws had the full train under complete control immediately, the highwaymen so training their guns that none dared move. The train was halted at 9:10 and the engineer was ordered to pull the train to a point about a mile north of the Westport station.

That the passengers were not molested was later reported by the operator at Westfork. The mail clerks were forced to stand in line with the engineer, brakemen, firemen and conductor. It is not believed the robbers got much loot from the express car, confining their efforts to ransacking the baggage and mail cars.

McMANIGAL WEEPS OVER ACT OF WIFE

ALLEGED DYNAMITER MOVED BY HER PLEA THAT HE TELL TRUTH.

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Ortie E. McManigal, alleged confessed dynamiter, today, between sobs, spoke of the arrival of his wife and made assertions that largely contradicted statements given out by the defense of the McNamara brothers, charged with the murder of 21 persons in the Times dynamite disaster October 1, 1910.

Interviews were given in the presence of Burns' detectives, and McManigal's statements were principally in response to a list of questions which officials were willing that he should answer.

They related almost exclusively to incidents of the past few days, since Mrs. McManigal and her two children arrived here from Chicago and arrayed herself on the side of the defense. The questions were put to McManigal by the detective.

McManigal declared that it was at his request that the interview between himself and his wife in the ante-room of the grand jury chambers was arranged yesterday.

"When she was ushered in there after having been told that she laid herself liable to a jail sentence for contempt by refusing to answer questions," said McManigal, "she did not see me at first. I went over to where she sat, took her hands and kissed her. I asked her what she intended to do, and she said she would go to jail. I asked her if she thought that was right, and said, 'Why don't you tell the truth.'"

SOME BONES
Old Aunt Jane did off complain About her poor old bones But no one cared how ill she fared Nor listened to her moans Until one night it came to light What Aunt Jane really owns.
But now it's plain that old Aunt Jane Need never be alone For we'll try to save her every pain While she still has a bone.
The whole blame push comes in a rush The minute Aunt Jane groans!
For you can bet we don't forget She has forty thousand bones.

Mr. Stevens, who was twenty-five years old, had been ill for a long time and his death was not unexpected.

His parents and brother and sister have decided to remain in Iowa. The family came here about a year ago, with the intention of making this their home. MILWAUKIE SUED TO HALT STREET

FIVE PLAINTIFFS ALLEGE PRO-POSED HIGHWAY WOULD IN-JURE THEIR PROPERTY.

BIG TANNERY INVOLVED IN CASE Shifting of Thoroughfare, It is Alleged, Would Destroy Mill and Fill Creek and Pond.

Suit was instituted Wednesday in the Circuit Court by Rose Whitcomb, Kate L. Charnan, Dora Conklin, Hatie B. Wisinger and Robert Bonnet against the town of Milwaukie to prevent the officials of that municipality from proceeding with the improvement of a street along the lines proposed of the plaintiffs would be irreparably damaged.

Application is made for a temporary restraining order, and the plaintiffs then propose to obtain a permanent injunction. Five acres of land, known as the Milwaukie Tannery property, together with water power and dam, is involved in the suit.

Street to Follow Road.
The County Court in 1884 established a county road along the north boundary of the property, prior to the incorporation of Milwaukie, and the plaintiffs aver that Mayor Streib and Councilmen John R. Kelson, W. F. Lehman, Warren Knight and G. T. Stockton pretended to pass an ordinance for the improvement of Harrison street and let a contract for the improvement of the road, including the improvement all that part of the county road along the property of the plaintiffs wrongfully designated as Harrison street.

It is charged that the Mayor and Councilmen pretended to make a survey and relocate the north boundary of the Lot Whitcomb donation land claim, in which the property is situated, and to resurvey and relocate that part of the county road so established along the north boundary of the claim 27.67 feet south of the true north boundary line, unlawfully encroaching upon plaintiff's property a distance of 27.67 feet.

Injury to Mill Threatened.
There is a small creek and mill pond, together with the north boundary line of the property, and within that line of the property, and it is alleged that by the shifting of the county road and the north boundary line, the Milwaukie officials, if not restrained by the court, will enter upon the premises and fill up and destroy the creek and mill pond.

The plaintiffs are represented by Attorneys Dimick & Dimick.

COUNCIL REFUSES KERRICK LICENSE

PROPRIETOR OF LOG CABIN SA-LOON MUST CLOSE PLACE ON JULY 1.

GLASS FRONTS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Members Declare Draconic Measures Threaten Bar Owners With Bankruptcy—Portland Men Denied License.

The City Council, at a special meeting Wednesday night, voted to put Joseph Kerrick, proprietor of the Log Cabin saloon, who was recently convicted of violating an ordinance, out of business. Chief of Police Shaw was instructed to notify Kerrick that his license would not be renewed and his place must close on July 1.

Mayor Brownell brought up the question of the renewal of Kerrick's license. The saloonkeeper has made a determined fight to vindicate himself and retain his license, but the Council was convinced that he had broken the law, and decided that stringent action was necessary in order to prevent violations in future.

Women Found in Place.
Kerrick was arrested after Policeman Cook had found two women in a room above his saloon. The women were released on bonds of $20 each, and fled the city. Kerrick denied that he had any control of the room and said that it had been rented to a millworker. This testimony was corroborated by the millworker, but it was shown that the room was not locked, and it would have been an easy matter for persons connected with the saloon to make use of it.
Recorder Stipp fined the saloonkeeper $75 and sentenced him to a term of ten days in jail. Upon application for a writ of review Judge Campbell, of the Circuit Court, reversed the verdict on the ground that the complaint had been improperly drawn. Kerrick was rearrested, pleaded not guilty and his case will be called for hearing before the Recorder Saturday. In a motion to dismiss the complaint the defendant declared that he was being harassed.

The application of Clemens & Fish, of Portland, for a wholesale liquor license was refused. The men desired to open a branch store here to sell to local retailers, and saloonkeepers in other parts of the county. The Council also considered the question of the glass fronts recently installed by the saloons. It was the general opinion that some of the proprietors had not complied with the ordinance and the City Attorney and Chief of Police were ordered to make an investigation and report at the next meeting of the Council. Councilmen Pope and Burke, while admitting that it was almost impossible to see the interior of several saloons, said they were not sure that the owners had not tried to live up to the law.

WIFE, SING, SAYS HUSBAND CAROUSES

MARION E. BLACK ACCUSED OF SCOULDING SPOUSE—MEN SEEK DIVORCE.

Nelle R. Black, who was married in Portland on February 26, 1905, to Marion E. Black, has filed a suit for divorce. They had one child, Lyman Douglas Black, aged five years. Mrs.
Black charges her husband with remaining away from home all night, drinking and carousing, returning in the morning and scolding her. She says he has a jealous disposition and falsely accused her of wrong doing.
He is reported to have made the statement that he was sorry he had married her and wanted to get a divorce.

Arthur Schneider has filed a suit for divorce against Anna L. Schneider.
They were married August 19, 1900, at Oregon City and have two children, Pauline, aged six years, and Evelyn, aged two and one-half years. He says she cursed and swore at him and deserted him on June 20 last. U'ren & Schuebel are her attorneys.

IS RENDERED.

Several hundred persons attended the opening of the Oregon City Lirearranged by the ladies and the board presented an attractive appearance, and the program, though simple, was thoroughly appreciated. Punch was served by Misses Evangeline Dye, Elizabeth Monson and June Scott.

Misses Louise Walker and Florence Graves rendered several selections on the piano.

The guests were received by Miss Alma W. Moore, the librarian, and the ladies of the library board. More than 400 volumes have been added to the library and the arrangement of the reading room was entirely changed. The system used in the Portland public libraries has been in-

An entertainment will be given this afternoon for the children, and Friday the library will be open as usual.

MAN WITH BLACK EYE ARRESTED AND FREED

WOMEN FRIGHTENED BY STRAN-GER, WHO ASKS FOR FOOD AND PAYS FOR IT.

Chief of Police Shaw and Policeman Cook locked up a peculiar man Wednesday and then let him go. The prisoner was charged with being a suspicious character, and he had a name—Alfonso M. Gaultier—that would sound fine as the author of a French novel. He also had a black eye, and another peculiar thing about him—not that a black eye is so peculiar in these days of fistfights, hold-ups, etc.—was the fact that he had been paying for his meals. He went to a house on the hill and he asked for food, and when it was given him always produced the money, indignantly scolding the idea that he was a mendicant. He seemed to be particularly fond of eggs which he ate from the shell.

Several women were frightened by Gaultier's strange actions and that is why he was arrested. He told the chief that he was a minister and that he got the black eye accidentally. He said it so humiliated him that he decided to come to Oregon City, which he did not know anyone and stay until the eye got well.

Three Couples Granted Licenses.
Licenses to marry were issued Wednesday to Anna Crites and W. R. Wa-

SANDY STIRRED BY KILLING OF HORSES

MYSTERIOUS MAN SLAYS SIX ANI-MALS AND MAKES HIS ESCAPE.

BODIES ARE FOUND ON BARLOW ROAD

Citizens, Aroused by Outrage, Search in Valn For Driver Who is Thought to Have Fled to Eastern Oregon.

The killing of six fine work horses by a man supposed to be insane, has stirred the residents of Sandy and vicinity. The man passed through Sandy the early part of last week with the horses attached to a wagon, and the next day the animals were found dead on the side of the Barlow road. They had been shot in the head.

The identity of the man who killed the horses, whether he owned them or had stolen them, and where he came from, are matters the authorities have been unable to solve. The driver, however, is said to have acted strangely when he passed through the town.

Wagon Found in River.
After the bodies of the horses were discovered, a search was made for the wagon, and it was found in the Sandy River. Part of the harness was on the bodies of the horses and the rest had been thrown in the river.
W. M. Hardin, of Ames, who was in the city Wednesday, said that the people living in the neighborhood where the bodies were found, were greatly worried up over the killing of the horses. They have made a thorough search for the man who killed them, and it is thought that he escaped into Eastern Oregon. He was going in that direction when he passed through Sandy.

Another report from Sandy gives the number of horses killed as eight. It was at first thought that the horses were stolen from a man at Estacada, but only two of his animals were missing, and none of the horses killed answered their description.

Man Thought Hill Slayer.
Soon after the bodies of the animals were found a rumor started at Sandy that the man who killed them was the slayer of the Hill family near Ardenwald station, but this is hardly probable. The sheriff's office made an investigation of the killing of the horses, but got no clue to the identity of the man who was last seen driving them. That he is a maniac, or had stolen the animals and feared capture if he turned them loose, is the belief of the authorities.
