FACTS VS. SOPHISTRY.

The farmers of the country have no reason to oppose reciprocity with Canada, but every reason in interest to advocate it.

The combined trusts are making desperate efforts to deceive the farmer, as they have deceived him before.

They have bamboozled some of the farmer newspapers and bought others to advocate their selfish policy.

They argue to the farmer that by reason of the present Canadian tariff he gets more than the fair market price for his products.

This is false. The Canadian tariff operates against our farmer of products an even chance in against the Canadian farmer.

It is the object of reciprocity to give both farmer, products an even chance in both countries.

Let us see the facts: In five years ending June 30, in goods of all kinds—

We sold in Canada $886,417,376

Canada sold to us $93,913,673

Difference in our favor $492,503,703

These figures show that Canada is a good country for us to trade with.

Any country which buys from us more than it sells to us is a good country to trade with.

No tariff wall should stand between us and such a country.

Statistics show the American farmer that for five years ending June 30:

We sold in Canada (horses) $14,172,075

Canada sold to us (horses) 2,549,301

Difference in our favor $11,622,774

We sold in Canada (cattle) $1,578,179

Canada sold to us (cattle) 1,193,796

Difference in our favor $384,383

In meat and dairy: We sold in Canada $17,011,017

Canada sold to us 904,191

Difference in our favor $16,106,826

In breadstuffs: We sold in Canada $31,596,556

Canada sold to us 6,679,884

Difference in our favor $24,916,672

Of these items, which are standard among farmers, we sold to Canada $53,030,755 more than Canada sold to us.

Upon these articles we had to pay the Canadian tariff.

But for this Canadian tariff our balance on these items would have been still larger.

Reciprocity would relieve us from that hindrance to our trade.

How, then, could reciprocity hurt the farmer?

The chance that a considerable part of the present City of El Paso may have to be handed over to Mexico is a startling possibility.

Yet this is the decision arrived at by the International Commission to decide the ownership of the so-called Chamizal zone.

Each country had a member of the commission and these chose a Canadian, who presided over that body, and who made a decision to which the people of El Paso decidedly object and which, at some points, is displeasing to Mexico.

The erosions and the chance of channel by the Rio Grande are the cause of the dispute.

Similar troubles have been due to the vagaries of the Missouri, but, of course, in the case of a stream wholly within the boundaries of the United States such controversies are of comparatively small importance.

The final stand of the Nebraska Democratic leader on the Underwood bill is contained in the following statement: "The Underwood bill, covering schedule K, is a great improvement over the present law, and is much better than we could expect from a Republican Congress, but it would have been still better if it had put wool on the free list and made a still greater reduction in woolsens."

Putting the Finishing Touches On the New Battleship Wyoming

Photos by American Press Association.

THOUGH the new Dreadnought Wyoming, the most powerful battleship ever built for Uncle Sam's navy and the equal of any fighting craft afloat, was launched some weeks ago at Philadelphia, the vessel will not be ready for her official trial for a year or so.

MOLALLA BELLE IS MARRIED.

Miss Bertha Adams Becomes Bride of Frank Dicken.

A very pretty wedding ceremony took place on Wednesday afternoon at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Zimmerman of this city.

MRS. BRIDGES ENTERTAINED.

Lodge Friends Are Present at Delightful Reception.

A delightful party was rendered Mrs. I. C. Bridges at her home on Tenth and Jackson streets, Friday afternoon.

The marriage ceremony was witnessed by Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Adams of Molalla; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Albright of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shaver and Miss Ofa Adams of Molalla.

The bride is one of Molalla's prominent young women. She was born and raised at Molalla, where she has a host of friends.

The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Dicken of Marquam, well-known residents of that place.

When cutting bread for the children don't take up the loaf and press it against the front of your dress or apron while you cut off the slice.

Some Points For Fathers.

The father who would influence his children must be firm, not cross.

Must say little and act, for children respect action and are very ready to respond when they feel that a genuine effort is being made for their good.

Must realize that children deeply resent capricious punishment or unmerited reproof; that they must be treated honorably and honestly if good results are to come; that, example, however he may shrink from admitting it, is the secret of parental influence.

A Child's Walk.

When you take a child for a walk don't hold his hand and let him drag it.

The effort of keeping his little arm up high enough to meet yours strains and tires him so much that he is exhausted before the walk is half over.

Put him into reins and let him run along in front of you, or fasten one end of a strap round his wrist and hold the other end in your hand, so that he will be able to walk in perfect safety and get quite at ease.

Egg Tonic.

Eggs are often ordered to strengthen a child who has been ill, and no way is better to cook an egg than what is called "codding."

Put a newly laid egg (shell on into boiling water. Immediately remove it from the fire.

The egg then cooks slowly and thoroughly, and when the water is cool enough it can be lifted out and opened. It will be found to be of a jelly-like consistency, particularly delicious and digestible.

Airing Little Garments.

Folding the clothes at night is a tidy habit, but a very unhealthy one.

After the garments have been in wear all day they need airing at night, and the air certainly cannot get to them if they are all laid together in a neat little pile on a chair by the bed.

Spreading them out over the furniture and you will find that the child gains more in good health than he loses in the neatness of his night nursery.

Arrowroot Gruel.

Arrowroot gruel is something often needed for the sick child in summer. It is well to have it among one's medicines.

Mix two teaspoonfuls of arrowroot flour with two tablespoonfuls of cold water until smooth.

Add to this a cup of boiling milk, cook in a double boiler for two hours, add a little salt and strain. Serve it very hot.

Children's Soup.

If children don't like milk try the effect of boiling it with a few grains of salt and serving it in a soup plate as "white soup."

A Cold Snub.

Edmond About was once invited to the house of the Princess Mathilde, and before dinner, seated beside his hostess, he was sending off a brilliant display of oratorical fireworks.

Points For Mothers

Emergency Food.

When a child's appetite is capricious the white of an egg, if necessary for his nourishment, may often be conveyed to him without his knowing it in orange juice.

When traveling children should not be given any water to drink which has not first been boiled.

Table Manners and Indigestion.

Bad table manners cause indigestion. No child can digest his dinner properly if he is allowed during the course of the meal to slip from his chair and run about the room, to reach across the table and snatch what he wants, to grumble or cry because the food is not exactly to his taste.

Lime-water.

Lime-water is of inestimable value to the baby in hot weather. It should be given to him in every bottle and even in his drinking water, for nothing will correct the acidity of his stomach so promptly.

Cutting Bread.

When cutting bread for the children don't take up the loaf and press it against the front of your dress or apron while you cut off the slice.

Edmond About was once invited to the house of the Princess Mathilde, and before dinner, seated beside his hostess, he was sending off a brilliant display of oratorical fireworks.

Looking up, he noticed that the Count Nieuwerkerke was coming over to join in the conversation.

"Go away," he called to him familiarly. "Leave us alone, you great, jealous person!"

At which the princess rose, touched her finger to the bell and said to the servant: "Conduct M. About to his carriage. He is not dining here to-night."

The Black Death.

Periodically for many years Europe and the east have been visited by plagues. There have been plagues of typhus fever, of cholera, of smallpox, of yellow fever.

A Long Lived Pike.

In 1497 an enormous pike was caught in a lake near Hallerum, in Swabia, with a brass ring attached to it, engraved on which was a statement that the fish was put in the lake in the year 1236, thus indicating that it must have lived at least 267 years.

Rush Has Robbed Us of Patriotism

By F. HOPKINSON SMITH, Author

TIME IS THE MOST VALUABLE THING TO AN AMERICAN. ROB HIM OF THAT AND YOU ROB HIM OF MONEY, AND, AMONG OTHER THINGS, I AM AFRAID IT HAS ROBBED US BOTH OF OUR POLITENESS AND OUR PATRIOTISM.

The fever for TIME ECONOMY has killed patriotism, although with that there must be considered other causes. But that our patriotism is almost DEAD is undoubted.

Take our CIVIL WAR. Twenty-five or thirty years ago one could not think of it without a THRILL. Today our sentiments upon it are as dead as if the civil war had been the battle of Waterloo.

I almost think that another war would be a GOOD THING for us if it were not for the loss of our PATRIOTISM. It would revive our traditions and PATCHES of tradition.

It would revive our traditions and PATCHES of tradition.

It would revive our traditions and PATCHES of tradition.

It would revive our traditions and PATCHES of tradition.
