CREATING A BUSINESS.

If it pays the merchant to advertise a sale occasionally, it pays him to advertise a sale daily. This has become recognized in the mercantile world and we find the up-to-date merchant in the advertiser, the one who arranges a sale of articles daily and lets the people know about it, says the Albany Daily Herald.

Usually at the occasional sale, the price of nearly every article carried is materially reduced. Instead of making these reductions in a lump, the wise merchant makes them on an article or two at a time daily, and uses them as the "leaders" to attract attention. Then at the season's end he makes a big sale on the surplus articles left from the daily sales.

This is the secret of attractive trade and it is responsible for the growth of so many small stores into big department stores. The successful city store cannot be operated successfully without advertising—and the same methods successful in the big city create success in the small town.

The big Willamette Valley Chautauque opens today at Gladstone Park. The program is better than ever before and a larger attendance is promised. With each recurring year more persons take advantage of the opportunity offered by the chautauque for a fine outing, made all the more pleasant by literary and musical treats and athletic contests. There is nothing like the chautauque to build up a person and fit him for returning to his work with renewed strength and enthusiasm. The management has engaged the best speakers, musicians and other entertainers for the Assembly. There will not be a dull day.

If George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin and the other great men of revolutionary days could visit Clackamas county today they would have impressed upon them that they lived not in vain. There will sure be some "orating" hereabouts on this glad some Fourth. All the more power to you, our silver-tongued friends.

To Treat Women Fairly Is to Serve the Cause of Peace

By Baron D'ESTOURNELLES DE CONSTANT, French Diplomat

NOT a few people are becoming greatly alarmed at the progress of the feminist movement—that is, people of a certain type. They speak of it with the same scorn that their fathers spoke forty years ago of social reforms, of modern music and of dirigible balloons.

THE SCOFFERS WILL SOON CHANGE THEIR ATTITUDES. TO DEPEND THE CAUSE OF WOMEN IS TO SERVE THE CAUSE OF PEACE.

Every tradition of tyranny is bound up in and falls back upon the DOMINATION of woman. In so far as man renounces these traditions of domination, woman breathes FREELY and the standard of society is RAISED.

The fact that woman is weak does not in itself explain why she is not properly treated. Man is not as bad as all that, and, in any case, woman has other weapons as powerful in force with which to oppose

The din and oratory today should be a lasting refutation of the libel on the good state of Oregon contained in Bryant's "Thanatopsis."
"Take the wings of morning
And the Barkan desert pierce,
Or lose thyself in the continuous woods
Where rolls the Oregon,
And hears no sound save its own dashings."
This baseless allegation will be given rhetorical uppercuts, jabs and solar plexus blows by our Brownells, Dimicks, Hayeses and other emulators of Messrs. Demosthenese, Webster, Clay and Henry today. Then, too, those Columbia "dashings" are going to have a big job competing with the mighty roar of myriad guns and firecrackers.

5000 ATTEND BIG CHURCH MEETING

PORTLAND MECCA OF LARGEST GATHERING OF CHRISTIAN WORKERS THIS SEASON.

CONVENTION OPENS THIS MORNING

Introductory Service to be at White Temple, With the Rev. Reagor Presiding—Governor West to Speak.

PORTLAND, Or., July 2.—(Special).

With 5,000 delegates from all parts of the United States bound for the International Convention of Christian Churches, to be held here this week, Portland is the Mecca for the largest religious gathering to be held in the country this season. Delegates are arriving on all incoming trains, about 500 already having reached here. More than 3,000 will actively participate in the convention, which will be in progress for eight days, the greater number of sessions being held at White Temple.

One of the largest bodies of delegates to arrive was that from Cincinnati, 227 persons coming on the Rose City Special. R. H. Waggener, of the Christian Standard, of Cincinnati, is in charge of the train which was met at The Dalles by the Rev. J. F. Ghormley.

Notable Workers Present.
Another special car brought a large party from Memphis, in charge of the Rev. W. H. Sheffer, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Other notable church workers who are taking part in the convention are A. L. Orcutt, Indianapolis, general secretary of the ministerial relief; Grant K. Lewis, general secretary American Christian Missionary Society; L. P. Crigger, St. Louis; the Rev. Holt Sapp, of Hillsboro, Texas; the Rev. E. J. Mescham, Portsmouth, O.; R. A. Long, a Kansas City millionaire lumberman, a prominent lay delegate, and Evangelist Meyers and singing Evangelist G. O. Gates.

The convention will open tomorrow morning with the annual board meeting of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions. The meeting will convene at 10 a. m., at the First Presbyterian church. At 2 p. m. the annual meeting of the board of managers of the Foreign Christian Missionary Society will be held in the same place.

In the evening the formal introductory service will be held at the White Temple, the Rev. W. H. Reagor, presiding. The program will be as follows:

- 7:30—Sacred concert.
- 8:00—Devotional service, led by C. E. Stevens, Spokane, Wash.
- 8:20—Remarks by the chairman, W. F. Reagor.
- 8:30—Address of welcome on behalf of the city of Portland, W. H. Hinson, D. D., Portland; solo, Mrs. Maud Springer-Watkins, Portland.
- 8:40—Address of Welcome on behalf of the State of Oregon and the Northwest, Governor Oswald West.
- 9:00—Response by D. Y. Donaldson.
- 9:15—Convention sermon, B. A. Abbott.

Two Are Baptized.
At this morning's session of the state convention of the Christian Women's Board of Missions, a feature of the program was the address of the president, Mrs. Ellis Humbert, of Eugene. During the course of her talk she asked that the prayers of the members be directed to the prosperous Chinese Mission being conducted in Portland. Two converts, she said, were baptized last night, making eight since last September.

The body, numbering several hundred members, rose to its feet and gave the Chautauque salute to demonstrate its appreciation of the faithful work done by Mrs. Kellogg, who for the past seven years has not missed a single Sunday at the mission. The president urged greater activity upon the women, declaring that this, the jubilee mission year, had proved that women were becoming a strong factor in the evangelization of the world.

Russian Dancers' Gracefulness Proves Surprise to New York

RUSSIA is not usually thought of when art is considered, and yet the Russians have sent a troupe of dancers to New York who have given the American metropolis new ideas about what the art of dancing is. These dancers are not only extremely graceful, but they tell complete stories, tales of love and tragedy, by means of mimicry. Of course one needs an imagination in order to understand the imagery, but one needs nothing except an appreciation of the beautiful and the graceful to delight in the poses and gyrations of the dancers. One of the dances they are giving shows a chapter from the life of Cleopatra, and another presents the prelude to the "Arabian Nights." The gorgeous oriental coloring and the languorous music, of course, add greatly to the spectacle. The pictures above show various poses of the dancers and give an idea of the grace and skill of the performers.

Hard Luck.
Hewitt—It's sad about old man Groot losing his leg in that railroad accident.
Jewett—Yes. It must be a great disappointment to him. He was always talking about "getting there with both feet."—Brooklyn Life.

Impossible.
"That man is only twenty-one years of age, but he has just won the chess championship by defeating his opponents in 100 consecutive games."
"Go on! No man could play a hundred games of chess in twenty-one years!"—Toledo Blade.

Spanish Law.
The dilatoriness of Spanish law is almost incredible. A watch was stolen; the owner immediately informed the police of the robbery. Seven years afterward he was called upon by the authorities to give evidence as to the robbery.

Too Small a Steak.
"I'll match you," said the hungry man in the boarding house dining room, "to decide whether you take my share of beef or I take yours."
"No, thank you," replied the other hungry one "I never play for small steaks."

Soldiers of Fortune.
"What is a soldier of fortune, my boy?"
"A soldier of fortune, son, is a man who fights for anybody who asks him and then puts up an awful scream for help from his own country when he gets into trouble."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Gallant.
An Irishman says he always shuts his eyes when he looks at a lady's faults.

Milady's Mirror

How to Tan.
Do not acquire sunburn in a single blistering, which turns you as red as a lobster and makes you suffer from smart for days. That kind of burn coarsens the skin, often permanently. The becoming healthful tan is acquired gradually by an outdoor life. It is true, but without going bathing in the hot sun or bathing the face in salt water.

You will find that the real country girls whose complexions you admire never are so foolish as to fade their hair and scorch their faces in a July sun. Sunburned hair is even more becoming than a glowing face, and, besides, that sort of exposure dries the hair too much.

Go hatless all you can, but not when the sun is scorching hot. Do not, however, wear a heavy hat. Select a light wide brimmed affair which will admit the air to the scalp, but temper the sun's rays.

Good Soap.
Always carry your own soap, whether you summer in the Maine woods or at a fashionable watering place. The soap which one person likes may be poison to another skin.

Carry a bag with cold cream, sunburn and freckle lotions, powder and absorbent cotton, tooth powder, alcohol-lamp and mirror.

One can use this bag as an emergency chest and add a small case of medicines, disinfectants and bandages.

You will not find the bag a burden. On the contrary, you will thank yourself many times for its possession before the summer is over.

Remember that a healthy tan does not mean a peeling, blistering burn whose disfiguring hue is so deep as to last until Thanksgiving.

The Athletic Girl.
The athletic girl has finally discovered that to show her sporting spirit she need not necessarily sacrifice her good looks and feminine charm.

She soothes her sunburn. She nurses the corns from her hands caused by rowing and tennis. She keeps her hair glossy and in good color by constant rubbing of the scalp and application of a good tonic.

She remembers that a sea bath is invigorating, but that for cleansing purposes the tub must not be entirely omitted.

In short, she takes even better care of herself during the vacation than she does in winter in order to make the best use she can of the life giving breezes and untrammelled life in the open.

Week End Outfit.
It is most satisfactory to fit out a small satchel which can be easily carried when making a week end visit. A small bag is a convenient size. If it has a long pocket, all the better, for this will hold the bottles. If not, fasten a piece of wide ribbon or tape down one side of the bag to hold the bottles in place and wedge them in with soft paper.

Each bottle should have a tight cork, not a glass stopper, on account of leakage.

In the bag carry a chamomile with which to wipe the dust off the face, a couple of wash cloths, two small face towels, manure outfit, brush and comb, toothbrush and the soap which suits your skin best.

For Freckles.
Before going in the sun always use a cleansing cream, and after the cream is all wiped off use a good face powder. This will help to prevent freckles. At night before retiring bathe the freckles with freckle lotion and allow it to remain on overnight. Do not get the lotion in the eyes. The following lotion may be used: Take corrosive sublimate, two grains; lemon juice, one ounce; rosewater, four ounces; powdered borax, one-half dram. Use a few drops in water when the face is bathed.

For Travelers.
A good cleansing cream to remove the dust of travel is plenty of fragrant rice or talcum powder to freshen one after the bath and a generous bottle of eau de cologne to bathe one's wearied and aching head. These are some of the "must haves" of most women travelers.

Smelling salts may also prove useful. Cucumber cream will relieve sunburn, and peroxide may not come amiss.

An Ugly Nose.
The redness of the nose after meals suggests indigestion, to treat which avoid all rich or oily foods, masticate and salivate thoroughly, eat slowly and do not drink any liquids at meals, but take half an hour before or one hour after. An indigestion mixture would also help.

Hair Lotion.
Mix these ingredients to make a good hair tonic: Sulphate of quinine, one dram; rosewater, two ounces; bay rum, four ounces. Mix and apply every night to the hair. This recipe will arrest baldness and induce a luxuriant growth of hair.

CATTLE MARKET IS FIRM. Supply Just Equals Demand With Prices High.

The Portland Union Stock Yards Company reports as follows: Receipts for the past week have been: Cattle 1,250, calves 595, hogs 2,121, sheep 7,117 and horses and mules 28.

The supply of cattle coming on the market this week has just about supplied the demands of the trade, therefore the market remains firm and prices steady at tops quoted herebefore. A good many California steers on the market, well finished, medium weights, around 1,150 pounds, easily brought $6.25, a remarkable price for grass cattle. Buyers are anxious to secure good cattle of this type and willing to pay the price. One lot of extra choice heifers brought $5.75, calling a sensation in the cow market.

Good cows brought from $5 to $5.50 with very few offerings.

In the face of good receipts and fancy prices prevailing the veal division deserves a separate paragraph this week. Although calves are beginning to come in, in carload lots, prices remain steady at former tops, $7.50 was paid for several cars of good, light well finished stuff while the heavier classes range from $6 to $6.50.

The hog market continues to advance with very few local swine in evidence. Best light hogs brought $7.15 this week and heavy hogs advanced another notch, now being quoted at from $6 to $6.25, owing to quality.

For the past six weeks we have been experiencing a very heavy run of mutton, much of it of poor or medium quality, being thin and half fat. While the market has declined somewhat during this time local authorities predict that the heavy end of the run is over and that prices will accordingly advance. Feeders will soon take their sheep to the mountains for the summer where they will not be available for market purposes, thus causing a lighter run. In fact lambs have already shown an upward tendency, one extra choice lot bringing $5.50 this week as compared with a top of $5.25 last. Ewes are quoted at $2.50 to $3. Wethers $3 to $3.50.

Very little change is apparent in the horse market, drafters and light drivers and delivery horses still in demand. One sale worthy of special mention was that of a team of drafters for $4,900.
