STRANGE ANSWERS OF TEACHERS AMUSE

STANDARD BOARD OF EXAMINERS FORCED TO GIVE VENT TO MIRTH.

SALEM, Or., July 1.—(Special).—Although well along in their task of reading and grading the examination papers of 1,280 applicants for state teachers' certificates, the county superintendents, constituting the examining board, have not become so hardened to comical answers as to fall to laughing when they come across a budding pedagogue who defines an ex post facto law as "a law to punish a man's children or his descendants for some terrible crime he has committed after he is dead."

Ripples of amusement also glided over the crowd at work in the Senate chamber when one of the examiners came across an answer to the question, "How far west one could travel from London or the meridian of Greenwich," which read: "He can travel west until he reaches the coast of England and then take a boat and go south."

Oregon "Admitted in 1776." Asked the date of the admission of Oregon into the Union, one applicant answered that this state was admitted during the revolutionary war.

Guessed at the area of Oregon ranged from 1,500 to 150,000,000 square miles. "Money and pull" was given by one as the necessary qualifications for senators and representatives.

"Rhetorical pauses," said another, are pauses used by politicians. One answer to a question in grammar in which instruction were given to use "serf" in a sentence was cleverly put, "I cannot use serf correctly," thus using it in a sentence without knowing its meaning.

It would seem from some of the papers that one of the applicants for a certificate had never heard of a controversy in Oregon involving the assembly or the anti-assembly idea and when he came to the question regarding the constitutional convention in United States history answered, "There was a great deal of controversy whether it is to be or not to be."

Legislators Must "Repent." "A representative," writes another teacher, "must not be an unrepentant rebel."

Cork was mentioned as the principal product of Ireland. In Australia, said another, the birds carry their young in their pockets. One of the most Biblical scholars capped her climax for the day when she wrote: "The Dead Sea was not very salty until after God had destroyed Sodom, but now it is probably the saltiest sea in the world."

There are 1280 applicants for certificates and these average about 15 subjects each, making a total of 19,200 papers to be corrected. The work will probably be completed by next Wednesday.

CHAUTAQUA GROUNDS.

ATHLETES TO PLAY "JUMBO JIM." Proceeds to go Toward West Side Clubs Building Fund.

"Jumbo Jim" will be presented by the West Side Athletic Club at the West Side school house on July 10. Those taking part are well known persons of the West Side, and have many friends who will attend the play. Between the acts there will be specialties, and in fact there will be something doing all the time from the rise of the curtain until it goes down on the last act. The proceeds of the entertainment will go toward the erecting of a building for the club.

Among those taking part will be Glenn Hatdorf, Ray Griebel, Ray Parker, Floyd Blackburn, Miss Ford, Fay Hatdorf and Hilda Ford.

Church to be Dedicated.

The little church at Carus Corners has recently been purchased by the Methodist society, and will be dedicated on July 8. There will be an all-day meeting, consisting of a sermon at 10:30 o'clock, a basket picnic dinner at noon, and the dedicatory service proper at 2 o'clock. District Superintendent Moore, Rev. A. J. Joselyn and Rev. C. L. Cheesy will conduct the meetings, to which the public is cordially invited.

EUGENE PHYSICIAN IS DEAD.

EUGENE, Or., July 3.—Dr. W. O. Prosser, a prominent physician of Eugene, died in Chicago Saturday night after an operation performed a few days ago. Mrs. Prosser was with him, and will bring the body to Eugene for interment. Besides his wife, Dr. Prosser leaves two sons, Oscar and Robert and three daughters, Lila, Jessie and Edwina.

Quickly solved.

"Yes, for a year and a half she was in doubt as to whether she loved him enough to marry him or not." "And how did she succeed in finding out?" "There was another girl who got to acting as if she wanted him."

SAWDUST CASE IS POSTPONED.

Frank Davenport to Have Hearing on July 7. The trial of the case of the State against Frank Davenport, owner of a sawmill at Ames, on a charge of throwing sawdust in Bull Run, was postponed in Justice of the Peace Samson's Court until July 7. Several residents of the neighborhood have complained that the sawdust in the stream was a nuisance and killed the fish. The case is being prosecuted by Recorder Stipp.

BIG NURSERY TO BE STARTED IN COUNTY

HERBERT ROBBINS WILL GROW TREES FOR HOMES AND LARGE ORCHARDS.

Herbert Robbins, of this county, who was a caller at the Promotion Office of the Commercial Club, said that he would start a nursery in the near future. He will grow Newtons, Spitz, Jonathon, Grimes Golden, and in fact all standard varieties of apple trees. He also expects to grow cherry, pear and quince trees, and various varieties of berries. Mr. Robbins said that he eventually would have for sale everything for a home or commercial orchard. He has had a thorough training for nursery work, and expects to make a big success of the enterprise. He has a brother at Hood River, who is in the nursery business.

PHIL NADEAU'S SKULL FRACTURED BY BALL

FORMER PORTLAND PLAYER IS TAKEN FROM FIELD IN DYING CONDITION.

CENTRALIA, Wash., July 4.—(Special).—Before a crowd of 5,000 persons gathered at the fair grounds to witness a ball game between the Centralia and Chehalis teams this afternoon, Outfielder Phil Nadeau, of Centralia, was struck on the head by a pitched ball in the third inning, sustaining a fractured skull. Physicians say he will die. The game was continued, Centralia winning by a score of 8 to 5. Nadeau was, for several years, prominently connected with Pacific Coast League ball, as well as the Northwestern League, being a member of the championship Portland team of 1902. The injured player has played league ball so long that he is well known over the country, particularly this Western part.

WOLGAST KNOCKS OUT FAST BRITON

swing. They fight against the ropes and Owen sends Wolgast half way through ring at close. Moran's round. Moran, after blocking several well-intentioned rights, drove his right to the face. Wolgast countered with slashing body punches, but Moran did not give way an inch. Moran swung right and left to the jaw and cleverly thwarted the champion's vicious assaults. They clinched, hammering away at each other's body and face. Wolgast sent two right uppercuts to the body. Moran then sent straight left to the face and another to the nose. Moran swung his right to the jaw at long range and quickly followed it with a left to the same place. Wolgast rushed desperately, and finally forced the Briton into a corner. They had not been fighting 30 seconds when the champion flung his right with terrific force to the pit of the stomach. Quick as a flash, Wolgast flung two rights to the stomach again and as Moran began to fall, a left hook found the jaw and Moran went to the floor with his mouth open and his eyes glassy. Broad Enough. A large and stout woman called on a friend and while waiting for her was stared at so intently by the friend's little children that she asked one of them: "What are you staring at, little girl?" "Why, you see, mamma said you were so narrow in your views, and I was wondering what view she got." Philadelphia Ledger.

In the Dwelling. I have always felt that the best security for civilization is the dwelling and that upon properly appointed and becoming dwellings depends more than anything else the improvement of mankind. Such dwellings are the nursery of all domestic virtues, and without a becoming home the exercise of those virtues is impossible.—Disraeli.
