ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

From noon today to noon tomorrow: Sun sets 7:23, rises 4:52; moon sets 1:51 p. m., rises 9:59 p. m.; eastern time. Jupiter's satellite No. 1 invisible; 9 a. m. planets Mercury and Neptune in conjunction.

Down in Lane County they have slipped the recall on the County Judge, two Commissioners and the Assessor. Who ever heard of an Assessor satisfying everybody. The Lane objectors are trying to force the members of the County Court out on the ground that they have followed unscientific methods in road construction and have wasted $125,000.

Ex-Secretary Richard A. Ballinger is loose again. In a Fourth of July speech at Aberdeen, Wash., he denounces the initiative and referendum, the recall and allied theories of "progressive government" as being destructive of institutions reared under a "Republican form of government."

Rushlight is Mayor of Portland, but the old town seems to jog along just the same.

Language of the Ring in 1930. The "language of the ring" had its peculiarities, and the sporting reporter invented modes of expressions that were eminently in keeping with the demoralizing and depraving exhibitions they described.

MEETING TROUBLE. Our veiled and terrible guest (trouble) brings for us, if we will accept it, the boon of fortune, patience, self control, wisdom, sympathy, faith. If we reject that gift we find in our hands the other gift—cowardice, weakness, isolation, despair.—C. S. Mearns.

Across the Atlantic In Three Days Soon?

By HERMANN WINTER, Official of North German Lloyd. If the relative rate of progress is maintained throughout the next quarter of a century that was shown throughout the last simple calculation will show that at the end of the next twenty-five years steamships will be CROSSING WELL INSIDE OF THREE DAYS. But that is all conjecture. Possibly by that time steamships will have been relegated to the SCRAP HEAP, with DIRIGIBLES and AEROPLANES taking their places.

SENATORS TAKE EASY GAME FROM BEAVERS

NOURSE, POORLY SUPPORTED, ALLOWS PORTLAND ONLY SIX HITS.

PORTLAND, Or., July 6.—(Special.)—Sacramento today found Snooks for eleven hits and won 6 to 3. Portland made six hits and two errors. The game was never close enough to be exciting. Nourse, who twirled for the Senators, toyed with Beaver batters most of the game. Sacramento made one in each of the first three innings, scored twice in the fifth and once in the eighth. If the Senators had given their pitcher better support Portland would have had at least one less tally.

President Taft Donned Cap and Gown on Recent Visit to Yale

Photo copyright by American Press Association, 1911. PRESIDENT TAFT is a Yale man, as every one knows. He graduated in the class of '78, being second in the class, which numbered 121. He was the salutatorian and class orator. At that time he got the degree of B. A., and in 1893 Yale gave him the degree of LL. D. Mr. Taft is proud of Yale, and Yale is proud of Mr. Taft.

GOURTHOUSE WORK TO BE DECIDED TODAY

FINDING OF ROCK FOUNDATION MAY REDUCE COST OF IMPROVEMENT. The County Court, at a meeting today, probably will decide whether to advertise for bids for remodeling the courthouse or have the work done under its own supervision.

BROWNELL'S ORATION CALLED MASTERPIECE

NOT GEORGE C. BUT HOWARD M. WHO MAKES BIG HIT THIS TIME. Persons who attended the Fourth of July celebration at Sandy, declared Thursday that the oration of Howard M. Brownell, son of George C. Brownell, was a masterpiece.

A PROFESSIONAL VISIT

By A. TOMLINSON FORD

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Tom Murphy was a lusty lad not long from the Emerald Isle. He could never see any work going on but he must be in it. His fort was emergencies. If a man needed to be dug out from under a pile of bricks or earth Tom's pick and shovel were always in the advance of others.

But great strength in one direction is usually at the expense of strength in another. Let Tom get sick and he was the veriest coward and whimperer in the land. At the slightest ailment he would take to his bed and groan and fret and wonder why the doctor didn't come, keeping his mother and his little sister Nora waiting on him.

One afternoon Tom was seized with a gripping. As usual, he got into bed and dispatched his younger brother for the doctor and roared for restoratives. His mother brought hot water, dipped a towel in it and clapped it on Tom's bare stomach. Tom howled with pain, for the water was near the boiling point and took the skin off. His mother ran to the water cooler with another towel, soaked it in and, running back to the bed, put it where she had put the other one.

But before the five minutes were up the pain suddenly left him. He sat up in bed and looked about him. "Lie down," said his mother. "The doctor is coming and if he finds you able to sit up he will be very angry. We've been hurrying him, telling him that you were at death's door."

"Tom lay back on his pillow and covered himself up. Presently he heard a commotion without and fragments of sentences. "Holy mother, he'll be drowned!" "Lunatic!" "What's the matter?" and such phrases. Jumping out of bed, Tom ran into another room where he could look for half a mile down the road. There was the doctor's automobile, roused down the bank beside the road till it hung on the margin over the river. The chauffeur was swimming, while the doctor was holding the auto to keep it from sliding into the water.

"Give me my clothes," cried Tom. "Quick, the doctor's auto will be lost!" "Bad luck to you, Tom," said his mother. "For an idiot. We've been telephoning an ambulance for the doctor to save your life, and now you go to lift his automobile!"

"Me clothes, me clothes!" was all the reply they received. They brought them, and while he was putting them on, he cried: "Nora, go to bed!" "What for?" asked Nora. "So we can tell the doctor that a mistake was made."

By this time Tom had got into his shirt, his trousers and his boots and dashed down to where the doctor was holding the auto. Tom grabbed it and with the strength of a young bull tugged at it until he got it to a place where it was safe from further injury. Then the doctor looked at him surprised.

"I thought you were dying," he said. "Ye'r mistaken; it's Nora. Hurry, doctor. She's got rumatiz and pneumonia and stomach ache all at the same time." The doctor went on up to the house, leaving Tom to look after the auto while the chauffeur went to dry himself. As soon as the physician reached the house he was hurried into Nora's room. A physician, disappointed old fellow, he would not brook a suggestion from any one. He felt Nora's pulse and put his ear down to her heart.

"I think it's a bad cold, doctor," said her mother. "I hope it won't turn into newmomy." "A cold be hanged!" said the doctor savagely. "She's got no cold, but inflammation of the heart. I must check it or she'll die."

On the steamer returning home we met an Australian lady who was bringing her son to America to be educated. It was thought strange that she should want the boy brought here for an education, with so many world famous institutions of learning in Europe. "I want my son to be taught consideration for women," she said simply, and after having observed conditions in several countries of the continent one might well understand the reason for this high opinion of American civilization.—National Magazine.
