BATHING CLOAK.

A Graceful Wrap That is Useful on Chilly Days.

BATHING CLOAK.

The French bather in her abbreviated bloomer bathing dress comes down to the edge of the water covered by a long, graceful wrap, which she throws to an attendant when she steps into the water. When she emerges after her bath the big wrap is ready to cover her up again.

These bathing wraps seem rather an affection on American beaches, where it is quite the custom to walk and sit about, clad in a bathing dress, but at the fashionable resorts the bathing wrap is much the thing, and of course it matches in color and material the pretty bathing dress worn under it.

If one pleases the wrap may be also used as a rug during the sunning on the sand. Spread out before one sits down, it keeps the wet suit free from sand and prevents the uneasy, heavy condition that is so unpleasant.

The bathing wrap pictured is of soft rubberized blue silk. It is lined with scarlet taffeta and makes a pretty bit of color on the beach.

The silk cap shown in the picture of this bathing wrap is one of the favorite models just now. The dotted silk is drawn in folds over the rubber swimming cap, and at either side are ends of the silk.

TAILORED GOWNS.

They Are Smartly Made Up in Linen or Pique.

A smart gown of dark blue linen is pictured here. Its touch of special smartness is in the front panel finished with large round buttons. The blouse is cut low and is finished with a little round collar of the linen, just inside of which is set a line of white. A lace frill is brought down the front of the blouse. A patch pocket adorns the front of the waist.

No small accessory of dress is so important as the belt, and yet few give

BLUE LINEN DRESS.

It consideration. At present the semi-princess and other one piece dresses do away with the necessity for belts; but after all, its use on the skirt and shirt waist, when well tailored and trimly donned, may be very attractive. The washable belt should be neat and always fresh, and so many are needed.

He Wouldn't Ask Further. Contributor—Would you take it kindly if I were to ask you on what grounds you refused my latest poem? Editor—Yes, if you'll take kindly to my true statement of the case. Contributor (after slight hesitation)—Good day, sir.—Baltimore American.

Received Tumultuously. "He says he created quite a furore with his new play," remarked the first actor.

"Hub" snorted the other. "He means he created quite a few rones—'til off the stage." "Shoot him" etc.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Cookery Points

Preserving Hints. A veteran housekeeper suggests to facilitate the work on days when fruit preserving is to be done to have all ingredients and utensils ready in advance. If the fruit must be peeled do this early in the morning or even on the afternoon before, dropping each piece in cold water as soon as the skin is removed.

If berries must be hulled, hull them the day before. As to the tedious business of "topping and tailing" gooseberries, engage the children in the family to do this a day ahead of time, paying them a few pennies for the task.

See to it that glasses and jars are scalded and rinsed out in cold water and ready to be filled. Be sure that the jar lids fit tightly and that the rubber are new and unbroken. A defective rubber will cause the fermentation of an entire jar of perfect fruit. A pair of kitchen scales is an important article at preserving time.

Use agate or porcelain lined kettles for preserving and jelly making. Have a spoon with such a long handle that the steam from the contents of the kettle will not scald your wrist and hand as you stir them. A wooden or agate spoon is better than one of metal, upon which the acid of the fruit may cause a chemical action which will affect the taste or color of the fruit it touches.

Fruit Pudding. Every one likes fruit pudding. It is made as follows: Into the upper pan of your double boiler put a pint of sweet milk, and when it comes to a boil stir in two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch which has been dissolved in a little water. Let boil five minutes. Add one egg, well beaten, with half a cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt. Let boil two minutes, stirring constantly. Flavor with vanilla and stir in a cupful of raspberries crushed and sweetened. Remove from fire and boil well for a minute. Pour into mold, chill and serve with sugar and cream. Other fruits, such as blackberries, canned peaches (chopped fine) or even stewed apples, may be used.

Green Pear Conserve. Pear conserve is thus prepared: Have ready a quarter peck of green pears, three lemons, two oranges, four pounds of granulated sugar, two pounds of green ginger root and a gill of water. Cut the pears into quarters, peeling them, removing the cores and dropping into cold water. Grate the rind from the three lemons; scrape the rind from the ginger root; put through the food chopper the drained pears and the ginger root; add to them the sugar, the grated lemon rind, the juice of the lemons and oranges and the gill of cold water. Boil all together two and a half hours and pour into jelly glasses.

Gooseberry Jam. Many persons are fond of gooseberry jam. To make it take the berries, wash and remove the stems and weigh them. For every pound of fruit allow three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar. Put them with the water clinging to them, into the preserving kettle and set them where they will heat slowly, stirring them up from the bottom often. When enough juice has exuded from the fruit to prevent scorching boil gently for an hour, still stirring every five minutes. At the end of an hour add the sugar and cook gently for an hour or more, or until the jam is thick.

Marshmallow and Raspberry Cream. Marshmallow and raspberry cream is delicious. To make it take one dozen marshmallows cut fine, one cupful of cream, whipped stiff and sweetened, one pint of strawberries, two tablespoonfuls of strawberry wine and four small round pieces of angel cake. Place one piece of cake in a sherbet glass and pour one teaspoonful of sherry over it. Mix the marshmallows with the cream and fill the glass. Decorate with the sugared strawberries and serve at once.

Conserved Fruit. The following fruit conserve will be much appreciated: Scrape and cut small enough to pick to make a quart; stem a pint of red currants; pick over carefully a pint of red raspberries; cut fine a pound of walnuts and a pound of seeded raisins; cut up two oranges; grate the rind and squeeze the juice from two lemons; weigh all; add an equal weight of sugar and boil until thick; put into jars and seal.

Peach and Orange Marmalade. For peach and orange marmalade peel enough peaches to make six pounds after the pits have been removed. Crack twenty peach pits and remove the kernels. Chop the kernels and add them to the peaches; add the juice and pulp of four large oranges and stir in four pounds of sugar. Boil, stirring often, until thick and clear. Put into glasses and when cold pour paraffin over the marmalade.

Fruit Gems. For fruit gems form circles of boiled rice on little fruit plates, pile up strawberries in the center of each and pour over each a ladleful of pineapple juice well sweetened. All the ingredients should be ice cold.
