"FLYING DUTCHMAN". RESTS AFTER DINNER

The picnic given by the Presbyter. ian Sunday school at the Schnorr Park at Willamette on Wednesday was a decided success. Many women and children were in attendance, but only three men were present. They were F. J. S. Tooze, W. C. Green and Joe Alidredge. The former two were obliged to operate the merry-go-round before the dinner was partaken of, but drew the line afterward. There were so many good things to eat they had an entirely different feeling in the afternoon. Joe Alldredge came to their rescue and assisted the young folk, acting in the capacity of engineer. There are many ways in which the young people can find amusement in this ideal park and the resort has become a mecca for ex-

STRICKLAND, HALL AND MICH-AELS FAVOR PROTECTION FOR HILL.

Meyer, Roake and Pope Oppose Appointment, Saying Extra Man Is Not Needed-Andresen and

The City Council, at a regular meeting Wednesday night, after a tie vote had been taken, postponed final action in the matter of naming a policeman for the hill section of the city. Mayor Brownell said after the meeting that he would re-appoint Jack Frost every five days, until the

Messrs, Hall, Michaels and Strickvoted for the appointment of Frost as a regular policeman and Messrs. Meyer, Pope and Roake voted against the appointment. The Mayor and Councilman Burke did not vote and Messrs. Andresen and Holman Argues Against Action, Mr. Pope explained that the two councilmen who were absent opposed the appointment of the policeman, Mr. robbery on the hill since Policeman Frost was detailed to watch that section, and he thought there would be almost as many crimes committed with a policeman patrolling the streets as before. The Mayor said that the fact crmes were committed in territory in which there is police protection is no argument against having such protection.

The matter probably will be considered at the next meeting when Messrs. Holman and Andresen are council made a decision.

Mr. Hall brought the question before the council by asking that a red light be installed on the hill to notify the policeman when he was wanted. The Mayor explained that Mr. Frost had been appointed for temporary duty subject to the action made the appointment because of the demand for protection on the hill, but he did not wish to urge anything that would be contrary to the interests of the taxpayers. Dr. Strickland said that heretofore he had opposed the naming of a policeman for the hill, but he had been converted to the other side by numerous persons who had called upon him regarding that Mr. Frost be appointed, and led

Danger of Losing Road. That there is danger of the commission deciding to locate the boule-vard on the West Side of the river is indicated from the following excerpt from the letter of invitation sent to the various clubs to have representatives at the meeting: "The purpose of the meeting is to organize the East Side people with the end in view of securing the building of that important highway on the East Side of the Willamette river. "The towns along the West Side route are organizing, and are making every effort to secure the highway, and it is up to us, who inhabit the East Side to get busy.

"The West Side towns are securing donations and are building a large fund with which to aid in the construction of the highway, should they be successful. "If built on the East Side of the Willamette river, that highway will mean a great deal to you. We are of the opinion that it will be the first link to the proposed great 'Pacific Highway' from Vancouver, B. C., to

She pro ceeded to Redland, where Olsen was working. The mother finding the daughter had run away and thinking she had come to Oregon City, en gaged Grant White, the automobolist of Canby, to bring her as fast as the machine could travel to Oregon City After arriving here she found the girl had left for Redland. Mrs. Bailey Mr. White, and Deputy Sheriff Miles renewed the chase for the girl, and upon their arrival at Redland hurried Mayor Brownell said after the meeting that five votes in favor of the maming of a policeman were necessary for the motion to carry. to talk to the young man, but this was refused, and she was brought back to Oregon City. The mother sent to the marriage, as did the fath er of the young man, and both appeared as witnesses to the ceremony.
Olsen is only eighteen years of age, and his bride is sixteen years.

The young couple met for the first time several months ago, when Olsen was employed by a neighbor of the girl's parents near Canby.
