predicted in a previous issue of the Enterprise that many changes would take place in the "standing of candidates" long before the close of the contest, a glance at the "Roll of Honor" is all that is necessary to convince one that this prediction was based on something more substantial than mere guess-work, and many changes will occur before 9 p. m. September 2. As to who the winners will be, the Enterprise Editor cannot make a conjecture with any degree of certainty, even though those who are, and who are not, have votes in reserve, and just how many each one has. It is possible that highly probable that any candidate now in the race will upset all calculations as to where they will stand when the winners are announced Saturday night, and anyone who thinks that this candidate or that candidate is going to win, is putting himself in a position to make an error of judgment. ANY CONTESTANT WHO HAS NOT GOT A PATENT ON THEIR NAME YET, AND WHO HAS NOT GOT MORE THAN THE LEADERS OF THE WEEK AGO HAD AND THE ONES WHO ARE THE BEST OF THE REMAINING FOUR ARE THE ONES WHO WILL BE CROWNED VICTORS. Without detracting at all from the splendid work of the winners, we repeat what you all know, we are up to everything," and we of these may have done their share and gone their limit. We want to see how they will stand, but we believe they still remain that steady.

License Granted Couple.
Elsie Watts and Sidney Stanifer were granted a marriage license on Tuesday.

MRS. SMITH, PIONEER, DIES IN PORTLAND

Mrs. Mary Catherine Smith, one of the earliest Oregon pioneers, died at the Patton home, Portland, at the age of ninety-one years, three months and two days. Mrs. Smith was a resident of this city many years ago, and was the mother of Mrs. Reuben Smith, also a former resident of Oregon City. The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Holman undertaking parlors, Portland, and the interment was in Lone Fir Cemetery. Many friends of the deceased from this city attended the funeral.

REV. MONTGOMERY'S WIFE OPERATED UPON

Mrs. A. J. Montgomery, wife of Rev. A. J. Montgomery, former pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city, is reported to have undergone a serious operation in Rochester, Minn. Dr. Charles Mayo performed the operation, which was for goitre over the heart. It was performed last Wednesday, according to word just received from friends of the minister here, and although Mrs. Montgomery was getting on well, the operation was more serious than was supposed when it was decided upon. Mr. Montgomery is now pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, at Oak Park, Ill. He and Mrs. Montgomery have many friends in this city where they lived a number of years.

VITAL STATISTICS FAVOR THIS COUNTY

The vital statistics issued by the State Board for April, May and June show Clackamas to be one of the healthiest counties in the state. In April there were two deaths from tuberculosis, none from typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever and two from measles. There were four deaths from tuberculosis in May, none from typhoid fever, diphtheria and scarlet fever and one from measles. There were two deaths from tuberculosis in June and none from typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever and measles. There were 17 births in April and 13 deaths; in May 21 births and 16 deaths and in June 23 births and 22 deaths.

J. S. M'COMB, 67, HURT PICKING APPLES

His sixty-seven years of age did not deter J. S. McComb, who lives at Fourth and Monroe streets, from picking apples just like he did when he was a boy. As a result Mr. McComb is suffering today from a broken rib, but his condition is not serious, and he will soon be able to resume his apple picking. Mr. McComb fell from one of the trees in the yard at his home Tuesday morning. But that is no reflection upon his climbing ability for boys often fall from trees and receive more serious hurts than those received by the veteran climber.

AGED PIONEER IS FOUND DEAD IN BED

Hector B. Campbell, eighty-four years of age, was found dead in bed Tuesday morning at the Spiritualist Campmeeting grounds at New Era. Mr. Campbell who was a pioneer, was apparently in good health when he retired Monday night. Coroner Wilson, after viewing the remains, decided that Mr. Campbell had died of the infirmities of old age. He was born in Boston, Mass., but came to Oregon when a young man and took up a claim near the present site of Milwaukie. Mr. Campbell was one of the best known pedestrians in the state, and had walked over virtually all of it. Even after reaching an advanced age it was not an uncommon thing for him to take long strolls in the woods. Mr. Campbell is survived by Mrs. Campbell, a brother and sister and three children, all of whom live in Portland. The body was taken to the home of his son Harry P. Campbell, who is head bookkeeper for a large Portland manufacturing company. The coroner was notified of Mr. Campbell's death by Thomas Anker, with whom the aged man was living at the campmeeting grounds.

CANAL WILL NOT HURT MILL POWER

OFFICIALS SAY WATER WILL NOT BE DIVERTED FROM BIG PLANTS. PRELIMINARY WORK HAS STARTED. Assistant United States Engineer Says Authorization is Sufficient to Seek Right of Way.

Government officials have announced that the canal and locks which will be built on the East Side of the Willamette River at the falls will not interfere with the power of the paper and woolen mills, which are the chief industries of the city. It was feared for a time that the water would be diverted from the mills, but such will not be the case, and it is probable that the mills will be allowed to tap the canal if it is desired. E. B. Thomson, assistant United States Engineer, of Portland, made an examination of the proposed route of the canal Monday, and started the work of obtaining the rights of way. He has promised to send M. D. LaTourrette, secretary of the Commercial Club, a copy of the drawings of the proposed canal. He declared that the information received from Washington regarding the authorization of the building of the canal and locks was sufficient to justify the starting of the preliminary work. It is planned to have everything arranged so that actual construction may be started when final orders are received. The canal will start at Fourth and Water streets cut across Water street, through the machine shops of the Oregon City Manufacturing Company, through the East Side mill of the Crown Columbia Pulp & Paper Company and through middle basin to Canemah. The property of the Hawley Pulp & Paper Company will not be affected. Mr. Thomson said that the Oregon City Commercial Club had been a big factor in obtaining the canal and locks, and complimented the club for its progressive spirit.

University Man Becomes High School Principal

Theodore T. Stenberg, who has been an instructor in Hill Military Academy in Portland, recently was elected principal of the Oregon City High School. He will assume his duties at the opening of the fall term, September 18. Mr. Stenberg has unusually high scholastic attainments. He is twenty-eight years of age and married. The new principal was graduated with first honor from St. Olaf Academy in 1903, and three years later he completed the course at the University of Minnesota. He had two years post graduate work there, receiving a Master of Arts degree in 1908.

ELY TELLS THRILLING STORY OF BIG HUNT

Charles Ely, one of the best and most successful hunters in Oregon, who was in charge of a hunting party that went to Alaska, which was composed of Dr. Sternberg, Dr. John Montgomery, Dr. McIntyre, of Portland, returned to Oregon City Tuesday morning, after a month's stay in the wilds of the north. Mr. Ely reports that there was plenty of game, and the party only killed what could be taken by the members. Seventeen deer and three brown bears were among the game that was shot. Two of the party went on a fishing trip one day and brought into camp 500 pounds of Dolly Varden trout, weighing from one to two pounds each. Dr. Anderson-Smith and Charles Ely caught a halibut weighing 350 pounds. It was necessary for Dr. Smith to put a bullet into it before it could be got to shore. The fish fought desperately, and Dr. Smith's hands were lacerated, although he had on heavy gloves. This fish is one of the largest of this kind that has been caught where the men were in camp. Mr. Ely says that some of the animals they saw while hunting were unusually tame, and many were left unharmed. Plenty of ducks and wild birds were also seen. The party visited Juneau, White Pass, Sitka, Warm Spring Bay, Ketchikan and other interesting points. Mr. Ely says the grandest sight was the Warm Spring Bay. Near the bay is a waterfall of 250 feet, and at the head of this is a lake. This is located near Sitka, and is visited each year by hundreds of tourists. The glaciers are also a grand sight. The weather was unusually warm, and it seemed strange to the hunters to see immense cakes of ice floating down the rivers and mountains on the other side of them covered with snow. Dr. Smith had an experience with a large bear that he will not soon forget. The animal, after being shot by the doctor, started for the hunter, but another shot ended its life within fifteen feet of Dr. Smith. Plans are being made by members of the party for the trip north next year. Mr. Ely visited at Vancouver, B. C., before returning to Oregon City.

SISTERS, PARTED 37 YEARS, MEET HERE

There was a happy meeting in Oregon City Sunday of sisters, Mrs. Rebecca Turney, of this city, and Mrs. Ray Phillips, of Culion, Livingston county, Ill., the latter of whom arrived in this city on that day. This was the first time the sisters have met for thirty-seven years, they having parted at their old home in Illinois. Mrs. Phillips says she will try Oregon for one year, and if she likes the state will make her home here. Mrs. Turney had been visiting her two daughters and their families at Tacoma, Wash., when word was received that her sister was on her way here, and no time was lost by her in reaching this city. The women had many pleasant reminiscences to relate of their childhood days. This is Mrs. Phillips' first visit to Oregon.

MEN, FLEEING POLICE, RISK LIVES ON TRAIN

L. R. Waters and R. M. Waters, who were arrested at the Southern Pacific Station early Wednesday morning by Policeman Green, were released upon proving they were of good character. Mr. Green saw the men jump from a train and commanded them to halt, which they refused to do. The policemen then fired to frighten them and they risked their lives by climbing through the moving train. They were later found hiding under the station platform. The fact that they tried to escape caused the policeman to think they probably had committed a serious crime. They said they ran because they feared they would be arrested. A merchant of the city identified the men and said they were hop-pickers.

LITTLE GIRLS ARE HURT WHILE PLAYING

Enalaine, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cox, who live on Twelfth and Jefferson streets, was seriously hurt at the Cox home Monday morning. The child was playing with her little brother, when a plank fell and struck her just below the eye, and before she reached the office of Dr. H. S. Mount, where she was taken immediately after the accident, the eye was closed, and the child suffering severely. Dr. Mount does not think the little girl's eye is permanently injured. She had just recovered from an attack of the mumps. The little daughter of P. M. Hart, the photographer, was seriously injured Tuesday when a big gate to a garage fell on her. The child was playing on the gate which was not securely fastened. Her hand was cut in two places.

BEATTIE IS AIDED BY BOY WITNESS

YOUTH SURPRISES PROSECUTION BY SAYING THERE WERE OTHER BLOODSTAINS. STATE PLANS COUNTER ATTACK. Defendant's Assertion That Dying Wife's Blood Leaked Through Floor Corroborated By Young Man.

CHESTERFIELD COURTHOUSE, Va., Aug. 29.—An auburn-haired boy, talking swiftly, but clearly, revealed on the witness stand today, to the surprise of both defense and prosecution in the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., for wife murder, that he had observed several blood-spots along Midlothian turnpike where the crime occurred. Hitherto it had been presumed that no bloodspots were seen except one near the place where Mrs. Beattie is supposed to have succumbed. Alexander Robertson was the boy, and what he told the jury unexpectedly in response to a question from counsel for the defense, entirely upset the plan of the prosecution to rest its case today.

Prosecutor Wendenburg announced that it would be necessary for him now to call at least seven or eight witnesses to controvert the boy's testimony. On direct examination by Prosecutor Wendenburg, when the latter was seeking to show where the boy found a certain yellow hairpin similar to that worn by Mrs. Beattie, Robertson referred to his distance from the "first bloodspot."

"Were there two bloodspots?" asked Harry M. Smith, Jr., counsel for the defense, in apparent surprise. "The boy then told of a second bloodspot and of several other smaller spots near it. The revelation concerning the presence of more than one bloodspot is in line with the contention of the defense that all blood on the road oozed from the car in which Beattie alleges his wife was shot. Theory is upset.

The prosecution's theory has been that the large bloodspot in the road at the place where Mrs. Beattie is alleged to have been killed resulted from a murder committed outside the machine, and not in the seat, as Henry alleges. The prosecution has pointed out by witnesses that no blood was found on either running board of the car, that the dustpan underneath the car would have caught any blood that trickled through the front part of the machine from the seat, and that all the blood visible had hardened on the floor of the car just beneath the steering wheel.
