Bluejackets on a Man-of-war Must All Be Good Housekeepers

Photos by American Press Association.

SAILORS on Uncle Sam's battleships do not find life one sweet dream. In addition to being ready to fight at any time, they must be good housekeepers and must keep their vessels clean and shipshape. The bluejackets above show scenes on the battleship Michigan, where the bluejackets were scrubbing and holystoning the deck in preparation for an official visit. Few men like this sort of work, but it is one of the things that must be done, and, as a rule, the boys do it cheerfully and skilfully. Water is plentiful, and with steam pumps to draw it from the ocean it is used liberally.

being busily engaged in assisting to make Canby one of the leading little cities in the state of Oregon. The Cottage Hotel, which was recently enlarged, is one of the best places of that kind in the county for comfort and cleanliness, and the proprietress, Mrs. Cassie Evans, has spared no pains to have her boarding house one of the most popular in the city. The addition recently completed adds to the appearance of the building. There are 10 new rooms, all of the sleeping apartments newly furnished. At the rear of the hallway on the second floor is the porcelain bath with hot and cold water for those wishing to partake of a bath. The rooms are well lighted with electricity and there are two stairways leading to this floor—one at the rear, while the other leads from the living room. The new large dining room, which is 21x22 feet, is furnished in mission style. A built-in serving buffet and china closets are also to be found here. The room is well lighted, the west side of which has four large windows. At the rear of the dining room is the large Dutch kitchen and pantry. A wash room with hot and cold water has been built on the east side of the house, and is a great convenience to the transient trade. The rooms that have just been added to the hotel, are plastered and finished in mission woodwork. The Cottage Hotel has now 16 rooms. The exterior of the building has been recently painted. The work on the building was in charge of F. E. Dodge, one of Canby's leading contractors, who has built to have one of the rooms in the basement fitted up for a kitchen and when socials are given either by the church or Sunday school, there will be everything in readiness for serving of suppers. The basement will be 46x80 feet. The woodwork will be in charge of Mr. Dodge. The garage recently built for White & Scheer is also a good substantial building that Canby is proud of. This building is located on Front street. These men have worked up a big business in Canby. The J. Business Men Take Interest in Roadway

Many of the business men of Canby are taking an active interest in the proposed construction of the Capital Highway, and much credit is due our townsman, Grant White, who took some of the representative men to Canby on Wednesday evening where they attended the meeting held in the Commercial Club rooms. The use of the machine was free, and Mr. White took the men to Oregon City himself returning after the meeting. Among those going from this city were J. L. Corham, A. H. Knight, C. Bradford, M. G. Gorbam, M. J. Lee, L. D. Walker, Doc Sallor, W. H. Bair, F. Bryant, Grant White and others. There were three auto filled with boosters for the road. If this road is carried through there is no doubt it will not only be a benefit to this city but also to all the cities along the way. During the winter months the roadway between Canby and New Era is not as good as it might be, and this will improve the conditions in that section where the roads are in a few places almost impassible. The Commercial Club of this city has extended an invitation to meet at that city on Wednesday night of next week and the invitation has been accepted. Five automobiles will leave that city at 6:30 o'clock and an invitation to all those interested in this highway will be extended. Canby Has Building Boom.
