Big Showing of the New Fall Garments

WE cannot recall the time when our announcement of the first showing of the new season's garments has given us such genuine pleasure.

In such points as correct style, high quality of workmanship, desirable models, snappy creations, perfect fit and full, complete values, we are abundantly able to please you. Fortunately for us, and for you, these garments all carry this label:

"The Palmer Garment."

For many years the reputation enjoyed by this line has not been equaled, and this reputation, secured through merit only, is guarded jealously. The garments are made in the best possible manner. Not only do the garments excel in style and fit, but they render the service so much desired.

We most cordially invite you to attend this opening exhibition of the new fall styles. And we want you to understand that the prime motive of this event is to show the goods—to have you come, inspect critically and pass your judgment. You are sure to be delighted with the beautiful showing that is ready for you.

The Sailor and the Record.
The man was telling the congressman about a remarkable shipwreck in the south sea, in which a sailor was cast on a desert island with a bound copy of the Congressional Record.
"And that copy of the Record saved him from going mad," said the man.
The congressman smiled.
"Ah, I see," he said, "the contents of the volume sustained him and held his attention and kept his hopes alive."
The man shook his head.
"No," he said, "it wasn't the contents. It was the cover. He ate the cover and it kept him alive until the rescuers came."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
