THE HOME PAPER.

It seems that no one gets tired of talking about the increased cost of living and the extremely high prices which seem to prevail on almost every commodity of general use. The talk of tariff, trusts, and etc., will run on endless but there is one necessity that has not gone up in price, and that one thing is your daily newspaper. For three weeks the Enterprise is able to give you a rare bargain. A bargain that is nothing short of wonderful when you will really consider the service and value that we offer. We refer to the special offer of the Daily Enterprise and the Weekly Oregonian, both of them delivered to you by mail for an entire year for $3.00. This means that from now on till the first of November, 1912, you will receive every morning a fresh copy of this paper teeming with late news that will interest you. Our facilities for "covering" the news in the entire county are of the best. We have our trained correspondents in every part of the county and every one of them is ever on the alert for any event that will interest you. We are in a position to handle and do handle local news as the metropolitan newspapers do. For the benefit of the farmer and the merchants we publish daily the latest market reports. As for the outside news we have a special service which every morning gives to you the latest happenings of the entire world. These are not long drawn out accounts spread out to cover space, but short telegraphic briefs that go right to the bottom of things. Another special feature is our series of short stories and miscellaneous articles which are of interest to all. In short we believe that we have a splendid up-to-the-minute daily newspaper, a paper that fills a long felt want in a manner that is sure to please you and your family. As for the Weekly Oregonian, we need say little. Everyone knows that paper is recognized as the very best general weekly paper in the entire West. The news of the world is covered by the Associated Press, the farming features covered by a corps of especially trained writers and every issue is full of interesting information for persons in all walks of life. The next twelve months will be important ones in the history of our country. Another presidential campaign is now on; the tariff is far from settled, the reciprocity issue is still an important issue in politics; the great movement for better roads and public highways is now at its height, the single tax issue is at the front, in fact the next year will be full of interesting events that you will want to know about. Through the Daily Enterprise and the Weekly Oregonian every one of these big important movements will be thoroughly discussed. You will need the information that we will give you in order to keep up with current events. Every political movement, every labor trouble and agitation, every happening of importance in foreign countries will be fully covered. And you can get all this information every day for $3.00 by taking up our special offer now. We positively will not accept your subscription at this rate after the first of the month. Better send in a money order today.

LIVE WIRELETS (BY EDGAR BATES.)

A young married man who lives out on the Molalla road went in a local jewelry store the other day and asked for the familiar phonograph record entitled, "I'm Getting Ready for My Mother-in-Law." He said that he expected a visit from her soon, and that if the sweet melodious strain and appropriate words of this record greeted her as she entered the door she might understand a thing or two.

We fall to see anything very remarkable about the young man who wrote home every week for thirty years. There are thousands of young men all over the country doing the very same thing. There is not a week they fail to write to the folks at home for money.

It is about time that some one played "tag-you're-out" to those tag days. A letter addressed to "The Greatest Base Ball Fan in Portland" was promptly delivered to Mr. W. T. Pangle, of the Hellig. Who would get the letter if one were addressed to "The Greatest Base Ball Fan in Oregon City." It would be easier to tell "How old is Ann?"

Talk about enterprise and push—the local officials started out with a capital of just $3.65 and put over a $4,000 fair. This is certainly an example of "high finance," but the kind that we like.

It certainly was a good move to take away the public drinking cup at the fountain down town, but where is the enterprising merchant who will furnish us with a goodly supply of those paper individual collapsible drinking cups, one who can realize that from his advertisement on them he will get in returns twice the cost of this service in increased patronage?

When it comes to interest in those baseball games, Oregon City has its share of "bugs."

Isn't it about time that some one else be "sought out" by his friends and "urged" to run for mayor? The more the merrier.

Florida Is Draining Everglades With Canals to Cost $4,000,000

THE state of Florida is making rapid progress draining the famous Everglades by canals extending from Lake Okechobee in each direction to the sea. When the entire system of canals is completed there will be one canal to the west coast and three to the east. These canals will have a depth of from eight to ten feet and will be used for transportation as well as drainage. They will also serve to irrigate adjoining land when necessary. The Everglades formerly belonged to the United States, but were turned over to Florida on that state's agreement to drain the land and open it to settlement. The soil is extremely rich and is covered with rank grass. The United States senate has recently ordered that a report of the progress of draining the Everglades be printed as a part of the record showing what has been done toward conservation. This report, known as senate document 80, can be obtained by interested persons on application to their senators or representatives. The picture above shows a section of the Lauderdale canal which has been completed and a field that has been drained and is now growing lettuce and beans.

HOP MARKET SHOWS MUCH BETTER TONE

The week closes with the hop market rather stronger in tone than at the opening and with the trend of values apparently upward. In most of the Valley hop districts and in Washington as well there is some trade under way, but business is still limited by the bullish attitude of the growers and the reluctance of buyers. Within the past few days, however, the situation has changed to some extent. More inquiries are said to be coming in from the East and elsewhere, indicating an increasing interest in the season's crop.

The inquires that are now coming from the East and from Europe show clearly enough that the brewers of this country and England are awakening to the fact that the world's hop crop this year is a good deal short of actual requirements," said a dealer. "That the brewers now are earnestly figuring on their wants for the year to come is evident, and the chances are that they will not be able to lay in the supplies they need at the prices they figure on paying. As a rule they are offering prices on the basis of 32 to 33 cents here, and buying in anything like a liberal way on that basis at this time is anything but an easy matter.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: HIDES—(Buying)—Green hides, 5c to 6c; salted, 5c to 6c; dry hides, 12c to 14c; sheep pelts, 25c to 75c each. WOOL—(Buying)—14c to 16c. Hay, Grain, Feed. FLOUR—$4.50 to $5.25. BUTTER—(Buying)—Eggs. Ordinary country butter, 25c to 30c; fancy dairy, 30c; creamery, 30c to 35c. POULTRY—(Buying)—Hens, 11c to 12 1/2c; broilers, 12c. ATHLETICS HAVE SHADE ON GIANTS (Continued from Page 1.) Athletics did to the Cubs last year they are confident of repeating on the New Yorkers. Each club has shown superiority to all its rivals, and each is handled by one of the greatest pilots in the game today. That it will be a battle of wits to a large extent is acknowledged by all, and whether Mack's men can repeat is the burning question of the hour. Last year the Cubs put up a woefully weak battle, due principally to the poor condition of its pitching staff, none of the veterans showing enough class to stem the tide. King Cole, then a recruit, was the only Cub heavier who was really fit to fool the Athletics to any degree. Mathewson in Fine Form. With the Giants it is different. Two of the leading pitchers of the league are embraced in Mathewson and Marquard, while Crandall, Ames and Wiltee are all able to prove formidable. Mathewson is in better shape right now than at any time this season, and should show almost as good form as he did last year against the New York Highlanders in the post-season series for the championship of the city. But in comparison the big four of the Athletics, each a veteran of tried ability—Coombs, Bender, Plank and Morgan—form the greatest and best balanced pitching corps in the country. While Bender and Coombs were relied on in the series last year, Mack has Plank and Morgan, each of whom is in the best of shape. Neither catching staff has a Gibson or a Bresnahan in its makeup, the best receiver of the bunch being Jack Lapp of the Athletics. Jack is a natural .300 hitter, a good pecker, and strong in every department. Myers of the Giants, is a wonderful hitter also, but is weak on catching three-balls at the plate which may count a great deal with runners of the type of Eddie Collins. The infield of the Athletics has a shade, taking them man for man. Mack has added Fletcher and Hargis to the left side of the diamond this season and both are making good, but are not the stars as yet. The Baker and Barry have proved themselves to be. Davis may lack the speed of McKee at first, but makes up for it by his experience received in years of hard campaigning. Both Collins and Doyle are wonderful guardians of the middle sack, but again Collins has more than a shade when it comes to all around ability. The infield of the Athletics is more reliable and has better fielders, who are also better hitters. Giants' Outfield Best. In the outfield the New York defenders have it on the Mackites as far as speed is concerned, but otherwise the difference is slight. Putting up the whole situation, if Mathewson and Marquard show championship form and can be worked every day, the chances of New York are good. If not, then they are up against a hard proposition. At best two of the first string of four of Mack's men are sure to come up to expectations, while the other two will help if given a chance to work. While Eddie Collins is one of the best basemen in the American League, his work on the path can be compared to the Giants, who last six of the seven leading candidates for the honors in the National circuit. One must await the pill to get on the path, and it may be argued that the Giants will be up against this very proposition, but time also can tell.

America Must Curb the Concentration of Money Power. By SAMUEL UNTERMYER, New York Attorney

THE two GREAT and DIFFICULT PROBLEMS that CONFRONT us in America are:

FIRST, TO CURB THE CONCENTRATION OF THE MONEY POWER, AND, SECOND, TO REGULATE AND CONTROL THE INDUSTRIAL COMPETITION ENGAGED IN INTERSTATE COMMERCE.

I sincerely hope that the committee of congress to which has been intrusted the investigation of this great problem will associate with itself PUBLIC SPIRITED MEN who actually know the nature of the task at issue and thus be able to formulate at least a partial remedy before it is too late.

THE DANGER LIES NOT SO MUCH IN ALLOWING MEN TO DO AS THEY PLEASE WITHIN CERTAIN LIMITS WITH THEIR OWN MONEY AS IN FIXING THE EXTENT TO WHICH THEY MAY MAKE USE OF OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY FOR THEIR OWN AGGRANDIZEMENT AND IN REGULATING THE POWER THEY THUS USURP OVER THE LIVES AND FORTUNES OF OTHERS.

Stringent federal regulation of the trusts is the best we can do at this LATE DAY. It is not an ideal solution, but there is nothing else left, and it will go far if honestly enforced to mitigate the existing evils.
