One Necessity. No one can tell what the future holds for us. Well, I think I can tell something about it. The necessity of hustling like the boys to raise the rent of that sixty per cent.

VETERAN BORNE TO GRAVE BY COMRADES

The funeral of William H. Fee was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Kinder, of Clackamas Heights, Saturday. Services were conducted by the Rev. Zimmerman, pastor of the Methodist church, at 10 o'clock, and the interment was in Mountain View cemetery. The deceased was born in Shelbyville, Ind., December 6, 1846. His father and mother died when he was a boy. He was the last son of a large family. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Mary Kekey, of Riverton, Ia., and Mrs. Ellen Clark, of Moreland, Okla. Two daughters, Mrs. M. E. Ushoeffer, of Sellwood, and Mrs. Kinder, survive. Mr. Fee was a veteran of the Civil War, having enlisted as a private in Company G, Third regiment, Colorado volunteer infantry, and Company I, Second regiment, Colorado volunteer cavalry. He served through the entire war. Mr. Fee had been a resident of Klamath Falls for the past twenty-eight years, having been employed as stage driver and freighter. He went to the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg last February, where he remained until August 9, when he went to Mrs. Kinder's home. Both of his daughters were at his bedside and a niece, Mrs. Louella Thornton, of Junction City, when he died. Members of Meade Post, G. A. R., were the pallbearers.

The Prettiest Pictures

do not always indicate the best looking garments. Artists have the knack of making an ugly garment look well—in a picture.

But if you'll come here and look at these garments, you'll see that the illustrations do not do them justice. The "Palmer Garment" label tells the quality story—the style shows for itself.

On the left we show a misses' popular-priced coat, made from a gray mixture. The large sailor collar is trimmed in black with a band of black satin and buttons. Coat sleeves have deep cuffs. It is slightly fitted.

The central represents a child's single-breasted box coat of blue herringbone cheviot. It's a nobby-looking coat—has fancy notch collar and cuffs, trimmed with red broadcloth, black satin piping and gilt buttons.

The garment on the right is a semi-fitted coat of gray mixture, having the collar and directoire reverses trimmed with rows of black velvet. Yoke and sleeves are lined with gray satin.

Suppose you come today or tomorrow and look at all good coats and suits in stock?

OREGON CITY TEAM BEATS VANCOUVER

The Oregon City football team defeated the heavy Vancouver eleven by the score of 17 to 0, Sunday at Canemah Park. In the first quarter Vancouver was played off her feet, and Freeman crossed the Vancouver goal line for a touchdown in the first five minutes of play. At the end of the first quarter the ball was again in Vancouver's territory, close to her goal line. Shortly after the start of the second quarter Carothers made Oregon City's second touchdown. At no time was Oregon City in danger in this quarter. The Vancouver team was unable to make yardage against the locals. In the third quarter Carothers again crossed the Vancouver line for Oregon City's third and last score. The last quarter was an even break, the only remaining near the center of the field during the entire ten minutes of play. Only two fumbles were made by the local boys during the game. The line did well and the four backs did very effective work against the invaders. The game was well attended. The following played for Oregon City: Smith, Barry and Lageson, guards; Montgomery, Center; Seiler, C. Freeman, Moore and Roos, ends; White, quarter; F. Freeman and Carothers, halves, and Long, fullback.

TRADING ACTIVE IN HOPS AT 33 CENTS

Trade in the hop market is unusually heavy. During the past 60 hours fully 2,000 bales have been sold. Sales have been made generally on the basis of 33 cents a pound for choice. A remarkable feature of the present business in the Oregon hop market is that while trade is lively and widely spread, the volume is not nearly so heavy as it seems. While practically all interests are in the market for hops at this time, the purchases generally are in small lots. Brewers are buying from hand to mouth and are evidently testing out the strength of growers' holding. Recently one or two lots of hops were sold in the Yuma section at 35c a pound, but general trade there is not showing as well as here. In California the only business has been in the Sacramento district, where some hops were purchased recently at 30c to 32c a pound, according to quality. No business whatever is passing in the Sonoma or other hop districts of California. In New York state the market is quiet on account of the small amount of hops available, but a few sales have been made at 29c a pound during the past few days. Abroad, the market is mixed with continental trade very dull and quiet but with considerable strength showing in the English trade. It has been estimated recently that three quarters of the English crop has already passed out of the hands of growers. Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: HIDES—(Buying)—Green hides, 5c to 6c; salted, 5c to 6c; dry hides, 12c to 14c; sheep pelts, 25c to 75c each. WOOL—(Buying)—14c to 16c. Hay, Grain, Feed. LIVE STOCK MARKET WEAKER. Increased Supply Of Hogs With An Upward Tendency. Receipts for the past week have been as follows: Cattle 2,079; calves, 429; hogs 1,819; sheep 7,819. The steer market for the week was a full quarter lower than for the preceding week, but buyers took up the supply readily at the lower quotations. The cow market was also a quarter lower, although one sale was made within 15c of the top of the week before. Calves sold at a good price with the regulation $7.50 for the best. The hog market showed an increased supply from local territory and throughout the week were fairly steady. One top lot of hogs sold at $7.80 and one smooth lot, averaging 195 pounds, sold for $7.65, overweight hogs sold for $7. The sheep market was heavily supplied and although there were practically 2,000 less than the week previous, buyers found themselves well stocked, and the top sale of lambs was 2c lower than the best sale of last week. Wethers sold at about the same money as quoted in our last letter and ewes sold around $3. The following sales are representative:

SCHOOL ROMANCE ENDS IN WEDDING

Miss Lula Spangler, daughter of John Spangler, of Corvallis, and sister of Mrs. L. L. Porter, of this city, was married at Corvallis last Wednesday to Charles McKnight, of Marshfield. The nuptials were simple only relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties being in attendance. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Bell, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of Corvallis. The bride was attended by Miss Carrie Danamann, of Corvallis, and Miss Myrtle Shonk, of Portland, while the bridegroomsmen were E. McDevitt and John Withycomb. The bride was beautifully gowned in white marquette over white satin, and her long tulle veil was caught in place by orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaids, Misses Shonk and Danamann, were attired in pale blue marquette and carried shower bouquets of white carnations. The Spangler home was a bower of cut flowers and ferns. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served. Mr. and Mrs. McKnight left on the afternoon train for Newport, where they spent their honeymoon, and returned to Corvallis Monday. They will attend the marriage of two of their attendants, Miss Danamann and Mr. McDevitt, which will be solemnized at Independence tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. McKnight will leave the following day for Marshfield, their future home, where Mr. McKnight is an attorney. The wedding gifts, which included silver, cut glass, china and linen, were an evidence of the esteem in which the bride and bridegroom are held. The bride was born and reared in Corvallis, where she was one of the leading musicians, and has made many friends in this city, while visiting her sister, Mrs. L. L. Porter, and has also taken part in many entertainments here. Mr. and Mrs. McKnight are graduates of the Oregon Agricultural College, where they met.

Garland Hollowell sang impressively "Face to Face," at the Painton home, and also sang two solos at the Crematorium, where the remains were taken. Many friends of Mrs. Morse attended the funeral services and it was necessary to have three cars to take them to the Crematorium. H. E. Cross will speak on the old canal and locks at the luncheon today of the Live Wires of the Commercial Club. Mr. Cross lived here when the present canal and locks were constructed, and, it is said, he will take a different view regarding what the canal has done for the city from many others. J. E. Hodges, who was employed on the canal and locks, has given Mr. Cross notice that his data and deductions must be correct or they will be challenged. The luncheon will be served at the Commercial Club by the Ladies of St. Paul's Guild. The Enterprise has a position open for you. Call at once.
