EX-CONVICTS COME HERE.

The amazing fact has been disclosed by the New York police that there are 5,000 ex-convicts from Italy in that city.

If there are 5,000 of these undesirable citizens in New York City, how many more thousands must be scattered throughout the other cities of the country? Nearly every city of any size has them, as the police records will testify.

It may be that the police departments of other cities are not as ably equipped to furnish full information as are the New York police, but some effort should be made in every one of them to keep in close touch with all foreign colonies, to the end that undesirable accessions to the population may be noted and recorded.

Under existing immigration laws ex-convicts can be sent back to the country whence they came. It is only necessary to obtain proof that they are ex-convicts. These undesirable should be deported as fast as their identity is established.

And in the meantime there should be the most rigid enforcement of the immigration laws.

The situation revealed in New York is one that merits the most serious consideration of Federal, State and city officials.

Premier Laurier is going to visit California. He will find a climate that is soothing.

Interest in football will lag until the world's series in baseball is finished.

Reciprocity isn't dead in Canada. It has simply gone to sleep.

Steel is going down in price but who wants to eat stewed steel?

We can condone much in Mr. Kipling at least for his not insisting that he did it.

When New York gets a few bomb catchers she will have less bomb throwers.

One of Mr. Taft's best assets with Republicans is the opposition of the Democratic New York World.

Mr. Rockefeller is spending $1,000,000 adding ten bedrooms to his house but he can't sleep in more than one of them at a time.

LIVE WIRELETS (BY EDGAR BATES.)

Think of a baby three days old weighing thirty-two pounds! But that is easily understood when we learn that the baby was weighed on scales borrowed from the ice man. This of course was not in Oregon City.

A man, who rocked on his wife's foot and then laughed, is being sued for divorce. "Westward the march of civilization wends its way" and soon Portland will have Reno's scalp.

Mrs. Taylor only wants $2,500 a month—perhaps she needs it, but this amount a year would more than suit the most of us.

We are familiar with both the idea and policy of the saying "Share the rod and spoil the child," but we do not think that it applies to married women. A California man took an opposite view and one night spanked his wife with the hair brush. However, his exercises in physical culture cost him a nice little fine the next day in the police court.

By this time Champ Clark must think that he is a "Chump" Clark.

Statistics show that on an average seventeen working men are hurt every day in the hundreds of factories, mills, and shops throughout the state. But working "hurts" a great many more men than the number of working men who get hurt.

Every section of Portland insists that those oil-tanks be placed in some other location. Same trouble here. We have some tanks (not oil), that we don't want.

There is no doubt that the citizens of this town will respond very liberally when the subscription lists of that lecture and entertainment course are opened to the public. The move is another step ahead and the list of attractions insure a number of pleasant and instructive evenings the coming winter. And by the way, suppose you lend your encouragement to that plan for the organization of an orchestra.

A stranger inquired his way to the falls and was properly directed by a local citizen. Upon his return he said that he guessed he found the place all right, but he thought that some one must have taken an awful "fall" out of the falls, and that he doubted if he would be able to "come back" this winter.

A mother of two girls in different grades at school wants to know why the aprons worn by her children during their instruction in domestic science must be of a certain size and color and pattern. The younger girl tells her mother that the teacher insists that her apron must have a certain number of gores, or pleats (or whatever you call them) and must be of a certain length. The big part, too, must also measure up to a certain standard, or it will not do. The older girl says that her apron must have an extra couple of those gore or pleat things and the bib must be two inches larger than that of her smaller sister. With the mother we fall to see what the style of apron worn has to do with the making of pies and cake.

We certainly have a certain amount of sympathy for a man who is convicted of stealing a loaf of bread to feed his starving children, and there are numerous other cases when we have been sorry for the convicted man. But there is one class of criminals for which under no circumstances have we an ounce of sympathy or pity. A "white slaver" is in a number of ways worse than a murderer. And in spite of the richly deserved punishment given to this class of criminals, the number of persons engaged in this traffic seems to be on the increase. Life imprisonment should be the sentence pronounced on all persons convicted of this crime.

Locomotive Puffs.

The number of puffs which a locomotive gives in a given distance is governed entirely by the size of its driving wheels. For every turn of the wheels it gives four separate puffs. Therefore if the circumference of the driving wheels is twenty feet, which is about the average, and the train is going at fifty miles an hour we get 800 puffs a minute.

The cough or puffs is due to the abrupt emission of waste steam from the smokestack.

When there are more than eighteen puffs a second the human ear cannot distinguish them separately.—London Tit-Bits.

BE CHEERFUL.

You find yourself refreshed by the presence of cheerful people. Why not make earnest efforts to confer that pleasure on others by being cheerful yourself? You will find that half the battle is gained if you will never allow yourself to say anything gloomy.

Monster Lobsters. Lobsters six feet long were frequently taken from New York bay by the first settlers.

Dethroned Young. Tsin Chi Hwangti, Chinese emperor, was dethroned in 221 B. C. at the age of thirteen years.

What Botanists Do Not Know.

How water, commonly called sap, necessary to the life of a tree, passes from the roots to the topmost leaf and exaporates is a problem not yet solved by botanists. It is known that the ascent is made chiefly in vessels in the sapwood only, the heart and bark serving other purposes. That is the extent of our knowledge of the matter. Beyond is mere conjecture, and every theory yet advanced has failed to stand the test of experiment.—London Spectator.

King Alfonso of Spain Is Again Having Trouble Retaining Crown

KING ALFONSO XIII. of Spain is again in trouble. The most serious revolts that he has had to face recently broke out in various parts of his kingdom, and martial law was declared in several towns. The king himself took charge of the military operations and ordered his officers to suppress the rioters even if they had to destroy a few towns. King Alfonso has had little real peace since he was born. His father died six months before his birth, so he came into the world a king, and he has "ruled" ever since May 17, 1888, when he first saw the light. He was still a boy when his nation was engaged in war with the United States, which cost Spain its colonial possessions in two hemispheres. This disastrous war for a time threatened to terminate the reign of Alfonso. In recent years Alfonso has increased his popularity by his democratic ways and by his devotion to his wife, the beautiful Princess Victoria Eugenie, a cousin of King George V. of England, and their two sons and one daughter. King Alfonso has never been strong physically, and he has devoted much of his time to outdoor life because of his health.

SUFFRAGE COULDN'T LOSE, SAYS BROWN

"There never was a chance for woman's suffrage to lose in California," said George Brown, who returned from a trip through the northern and central part of that state Friday. "I was in Red Bluff the day of the election, and the way the women worked there to obtain the ballot was enough to dismay the most rabid opponent of the cause. Talk about men electioneering, why they are not in it with the women of Red Bluff. The men had their instructions all right—I suppose most of them got them at home—but at all events, they voted just like the women wanted them to vote."

Brain More Than Brawn Needed by Policemen

By Inspector EDWARD HUGHES, Chief of New York's Detective Bureau

THE main thing that was required of a policeman ten years ago was brawn. Today brain is required as well.

IN FACT, INTELLIGENCE IS THE MAIN REQUISITE OF EITHER A GOOD POLICEMAN OR A GOOD DETECTIVE.

By that, though, I do not mean to make TOO LITTLE of phys-
