The Musical Comedy "The Flirting Princess" at Heilig Theatre

The beautiful musical comedy success, "The Flirting Princess," will be the attraction at The Heilig Theatre, Seventh and Taylor streets, for three nights, beginning Sunday, October 15. Special price matinee Tuesday.

"To the victors belong the spoils" might be aptly applied to Harry Bulger and his present season in the terpsichorean musical comedy, "The Flirting Princess," which Mort H. Singer has sent out in a sumptuous manner. While this is the third season of this, the best of all the Hough, Adams and Howard many successes,

It is its first visit here, and notwithstanding the numerous demands and requests on the part of many eastern managers to send out another company, Mr. Singer will only present the number one and original big company headed by Harry Bulger which comes to Portland tonight to the Heilig Theatre, Seventh and Taylor streets, for three nights, with special priced matinee Tuesday.

JOHN R. WALSH IS FREED ON PAROLE

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Formal order paroling John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker, serving a lengthy term in the Fort Leavenworth penitentiary, was received here today. The paroling was decided upon by the prison parole board last week but according to precedent, Attorney General Wickersham held up the order for a few days.

Walsh, who is seventy years old, will spend his declining years with his son and other relatives in a small town in Illinois. He will report at intervals to the nearest Federal judge. Walsh was denied a pardon by President Taft last spring. He was released this afternoon.

Calavan To Address Teachers. J. E. Calavan, county school supervisor, will address a teachers' meeting at Needy next Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Methodology and course of study will be the theme.
