O. D. EBY RESTORES OLD APPLE ORCHARD

O. D. Eby, who is the owner of a five-acre tract at Clackamas, has an exhibition in his office samples of apples from his orchard. They are as large and the flavor is as fine as the celebrated Hood River apples. Mr. Eby also has samples of the Beurre-Clara pears, which are large and without blemish, and are of delicious flavor. The Live Wires of the Oregon City Commercial Club will be given a sample at the weekly dinner today of these pears, which will be served in several different styles. Mr. Eby plans to serve some of the pears baked. He purchased the place where the fruit was grown about three years ago, and at that time the orchard was in a run-down condition. The trees were trimmed, sprayed by an expert and the work being superintended by the owner. The best of spray was used, and the crops at the present time show what can be done with an orchard, after it has deteriorated. Some of the finest varieties of apples have been planted there, among them being Gravensteins, Arkansas Black, King of Tompkins, Baldwins, all of which won blue ribbons at the recent County Fair. Mr. Eby's "Seek No Further" and "Ben Davis" attracted much attention at the fair, but no premiums were offered for these varieties. On the Beurre-Clara pears he won a red ribbon.

The ground surrounding the apple and pear trees is being cultivated, and during the past year the trees have developed rapidly. It is the intention of Mr. Eby to plant several varieties of berries. He planted an acre in strawberries, mostly of the "Gold Dollar" and "New Oregon" varieties last year, and he gathered about twelve crates of delicious fruit. This ground is well adapted to berries, and some of the finest that are brought into the Oregon City markets and sent to the Portland district. Raspberries, Loganberries and the phenomenal berries will be planted the coming season.

Mr. Eby has just had completed a handsome bungalow, the contractor being Clarence Simmons, of this city. The veranda opens from a reception hall that leads to the living room and dining room, an archway being between these two rooms. At the rear is a large Dutch kitchen. On the second floor are two large sleeping apartments opening from a hallway, an alcove of which is in the front of the building having a large window, and commands an excellent view of the surrounding country.

VOGUE POINTS.

What is New in Lingerie Waists. Worsted Flowers. Charming French lingerie waists of sheer material are made with fine tucks from the shoulders and finished down the front with a pointed trim edged with lace. Holding this trim, which extends out to the left shoulder and gradually becomes narrower toward the waist line, is an Irish insertion about two inches wide. The sleeves are tucked down the center, and at the wrist is a three inch plaited ruffle of the material.

Flowers made of ribbon and worsted come in wreath effects for trimming the dainty bonnet shapes of the season.

A charming little hat of the flower-pot variety has the top of its crown made of puffed black velvet. Below this crown appear rows of dull gold lace slightly gathered around the frame. The underfacing of the hat (there is really no brim) is of shirred cream colored chiffon.

Paul Poiret in his fall millinery creations is exploiting the same oriental effects that are so marked a feature of his gowns. A hat seen recently with his signature in the crown has a high upturned brim of sensik. The tall round crown is covered smoothly with Bulgarian embroidery showing subdued colorings. To further heighten the effect there is a scrawly pattern done in dull gold soutache braid over the embroidery. There is no trimming save a small black bird with outspread wings perched at one side of the crown.

Deep tunics appear upon many of the newest skirts of suits and gowns. This skirt gives the tunic effect yet is made all in one; consequently it can be utilized for one material or for two, and it is much more economical and comfortable than the complete double skirt would be. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut-in sizes from 22 to 30 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7153 and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

MODISH NOTIONS.

Eyelet Embroidery Trims Silk Suits and Dresses. Eyelet designs in laces are expected to be a strong feature of winter fashions.

Trimming in one sided effects is much seen on all sides. Indeed, there is a general fashion tendency toward a chic one sidedness.

The skirt model attracting most attention just now is a high waisted narrow garment ornamented with one or two lines of buttons from waist line to hem in front.

Many blouses of striped mesaline

are being shown to be worn with tailored coat and skirt suits.

The middy blouse suit for the little girl never loses its vogue. This one is exceedingly smart. The blouse is made with a slight opening at the front, the sleeves are based on other, and the skirt is a simple, straight skirt.

ALLEGED AFFINITY NAMED BY ALISKY

mental anxiety and suffering.

"That the said plaintiff frequently remonstrated with the said defendant and endeavored to persuade the said defendant to remain at home and take care of her domestic duties between the said plaintiff and the said defendant, but she, the said defendant, has absolutely refused at all times since the said marriage to perform any of her duties as a wife in taking care of the home of the said plaintiff and instead thereof has frequently, without the knowledge or consent of the said plaintiff, gone away from and left their home and gone to San Francisco, in the state of California and remained there for days without the said plaintiff knowing where she was except the said plaintiff knew that she was somewhere in the city of San Francisco."

It is understood that Mrs. Alisky, who filed suit for divorce here the same day her husband filed suit, asks $5,000 suit money, $1,000 attorney's fee and $250 alimony a month. She said sometime ago that she intended to sue her husband's parents for $100,000 for the alleged alienation of his affections. She also charged that they had tried to separate her and her husband by threats of disinheritance and other means.
