

SCHOONER SAVED AS IT NEARS ROCKS

TUG BRAVES RAGING SEA AND RESCUES VESSEL WITHOUT LOSS OF LIFE.

PASSENGERS CHEER LITTLE CRAFT

Disabled Washington Facing Destruction When Aid Reaches Her—Crew Praised For Heroism.

ASTORIA, Or., Nov. 13.—(Special).—After passing twenty-four hours helplessly in the wild and swirling waters just off North Head, the steam schooner Washington was towed in on the hawsers of the sea tug Tatoosh, shortly after dark tonight, with all hands saved, after the vessel had been given up for lost.

The Washington was like a ship that was gone to her destruction, and when her crew and passengers were landed at Callender's dock, they were greeted and cheered like men who had come back from the dead.

The rescue was daintily accomplished by the tug Tatoosh, with Captain "Buck" Bailey in command, while scores of men and women stood on the wind-swept shore and cheered.

Every one of the twenty-six passengers and twenty-two members of the crew is well and not a single life was lost or a person injured, notwithstanding their nerve-racking experiences during the twenty-six hours that they were slowly drifting toward what was apparently their doom on the rocky beach.

The joy of the passengers on reaching the wharf here was great and they all gathered on deck and gave three hearty cheers in succession for the crew of the Washington, for Captain Winkler and then for the tug Tatoosh and Captain Bailey.

The rescue of the Washington was as pretty a piece of seamanship as is often seen and to those who witnessed it from the vantage of McKenzie Head and North Head, it was a sight that will long be remembered.

Since shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon the unfortunate craft had been slowly dragging her two anchors, with the sea continually washing over her until the doors and windows in her house were smashed in and the entire vessel flooded, and, carried by the fierce gale and current she was this afternoon an eighth of a mile off North Head.

Since early morning the Cape Disappointment, Point Adams and Ilwaco Beach life-saving crews had been on the alert and had their equipment on hand ready to shoot a line over the craft as soon as she came near enough, as the seas were too rough for even a lifeboat to live in them.

The crew of the Washington was praised for its valiant work.

DESTITUTE FAMILIES GIVEN ASSISTANCE

The attention of Miss Veda Williams, a Sunday school missionary worker of this city, has been called to several poor and needy families in Oregon City. A woman who died six months ago is survived by a husband and seven children, the youngest of which is a bright little boy of two years. The father is a good worker, and just obtained work in one of the paper mills. Clothing and food will be provided for the family until the father receives his first week's wages. The children are well behaved, and the little girl, who is acting the part of a mother to the younger children, is thirteen years old. A kind-hearted woman has moved to a single-story house and will care for the two younger children so the others may attend school. Several other cases similar to this have been looked into. The ladies of the Baptist church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. G. Miller, sister of Miss Williams, and sew for the poor families.

Mr. Koerner lived in this city for many years and was a member of the City Council several terms.

WIFE, IN SUIT, SAYS SHE WAS PRISONER

Ida West filed suit Monday for a divorce from Charles H. West, alleging cruelty. They were married May 31, 1910. The plaintiff says that while they were living at 406 Vancouver avenue, Portland, soon after their marriage, her husband refused to let her leave their home, declaring that he believed she wanted to go out to meet a man. She says she even would not let her go on the streets with her mother. The plaintiff was formerly the wife of Albert Montgomery, and asks that she be restored to that name.

Ethel L. A. Molineux, sued Arthur William Molineux for divorce, alleging abandonment. They were married in Boulder, Col., March 6, 1909, and she says he left her October 22, 1910. She says that her maiden name, Ethel L. A. Tucker, be restored.

ANOTHER TEACHER TO BE EMPLOYED

BOARD DECIDES INCREASE IS NECESSARY TO RELIEVE CONGESTION.

MRS. E. B. PORTER TO GET PLACE

Increase of Ninety-seven Pupils Over Last Year Making Total of 938—Reflects City's Growth.

To relieve the congestion in the Oregon City Public Schools, the Board of Directors Monday night authorized the employment of Mrs. E. B. Porter as an additional grade teacher. In the third and fourth grades of the Eastham and Barclay buildings there are about 200 pupils, an average of 50 to the room, which is altogether too great a number to secure satisfactory results. City Superintendent Toose will give the new teacher about 40 pupils, making a combination third and fourth grade room, and this will leave each of the present teachers of the third and fourth grades 40 pupils each. One of the class rooms in the new high school building will be fitted up for the combination grade. There are now 938 students enrolled in the city schools, an increase of 97 over the enrollment of one month ago, showing conclusively that the city is rapidly increasing.

The Board of Directors will hold a special meeting on the night of December 4 for the express purpose of preparing the budget for the 1912 school year, and upon this budget will be based the recommendation for a special tax which must be levied, according to law, prior to December 10. The school tax levy last year in Oregon City was nine mills, and it is not likely that the tax for the coming school year will be less, as the expenditures have materially increased because of the increased enrollment and the betterment of the standard of the schools.

Substitute teachers will hereafter receive $2.75 per day, regardless of the salary paid the teacher for whom substitution is made. The regular teacher will receive the difference between her salary and that paid the substitute in the event that consecutive employment does not continue more than a week. Superintendent Toose proposes to give temporary substitute work to high school students who expect to fit themselves for teaching, and these students will receive $1.50 a day.

LIVE WIRES MEET TODAY. The Live Wires hold their weekly luncheon today. Important matters will be discussed.

MINISTER SCORES DRINKING HABIT

"PHAROAH OF RUM, GREATEST OF ALL TYRANNIES," SAYS REV. HAYWORTH.

CALLS 80 PER CENT OF MEN VICTIMS

Clergyman Declares Spirit of Greed Responsible For Children Trolling in Sweetshops.

The Rev. S. A. Hayworth scored the drinking of alcoholic beverages in his sermon Sunday night, his text being, "And the Lord said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people, and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters. I am come down to deliver." Exodus III:5,6.

Never was a more cruel oppression inflicted upon a people than the slavery which the Pharaohs imposed upon the Israelites. For four hundred years the people of God suffered this bondage. Moses, the leader of the race, undertook the defense of his people in his own strength and failed. He slew an Egyptian but that only precipitated more rigorous tyranny. Finally God intervened and revealed Himself to Moses and sent him on a mission of liberation. While these people were subjected to the oppression of Egyptian bondage they were unable to live the religious life which God desired them to live. They were hindered from the enjoyment of worship prayer and sacrifice. The tyranny of Pharaoh is emblematic of the slavery of sin. It is not necessary to go back four thousand years in order to find an oppressor. The strong man of selfish designs has always oppressed his weaker brother. Men whose lives are made with commercial ambitions, see little value in their fellows except a commercial value. They do not ask themselves the question as to the spiritual value of tender age to such a habit of drinking alcoholic beverages. This spirit of greed inordinate worldly ambition to excel in might and regal splendor, is the motive power back of the white slave traffic, the buying and selling of innocent girls by the thousands to an imprisonment of vice and shame. This same selfish spirit controls the actions of men who by industrial necessities, compel thousands of children of tender age to work long hours in poorly ventilated shops and mills—sacrificing their health, their opportunities for education to the greed of great corporations, who are unmindful and absolutely indifferent to the cries of the tender life of the oppressed.

The greatest of all tyrannies perhaps in our land today is the Pharaoh of Rum. Eighty per cent of the men of this nation are said to be addicted to the habit of drinking alcoholic beverages. This accounts for the death of men in religious work. Men who drink alcoholic beverages by that act sin against their bodies and souls and not only incapacitate themselves for religious work, but decrease their efficiency for labor of all kinds. Men who thus frequent the saloon break their fellowship with God and the church and establish a fellowship with the low and the vile. They begin a career which tends downward instead of upward. It is necessary for intelligent men to be taught the truth concerning the physical and moral evils which accompany drinking. The word of God not only hurls anathema against the drunkard by declaring the impossibility of his inheriting the kingdom of God, but the testimony of modern scientists concurs in the Biblical teaching.

The committee on expert scientists, has, after a careful examination of all the facts, submitted to the world, reached the conclusion that alcohol is neither a food nor a medicine nor a stimulant. They declare that it is a narcotic and a sedative. Alcohol, they say, inordinates the different organs of the human body as is daily proven by the swaggering steps of the inebriate. The daily spectacle of men "dead drunk" in the streets is proof, they say, that alcohol is an opiate and not a stimulant. The efficiency of men as laborers is reduced seventeen per cent by one glass of beer three times a day. The efficiency of men who do mental work such as adding, and accounting in great business offices or in any other form of intellectual work, this committee says, is reduced from twenty to forty per cent by one glass of beer three times a day.

But the effects of the moderate drinking of alcohol is visible upon the human body in a multitude of ways. Two men were bitten in Paris by a mad dog. This committee took charge of the men and discovered that one was a habitual alcoholic and the other a total abstainer. They were both given the Pasteur treatment. The total abstainer responded to the treatment and was saved from hydrophobia, while the alcoholic did not respond to the treatment and died of the virus from the bite. The universal testimony of expert physicians and surgeons is, that the chances of the recovery from surgical wound of the total abstainer is much better than the chance of the habitual alcoholic.

The moral effects of alcohol according to this same committee may be enforced by the experiment, which they conducted on cats and dogs. A pair of kittens were given a ration of alcohol about similar to the amount which some foolish mothers give their babies. These kittens made poor growth. Their fur was not sleek and when they came to the age when naturally they would be interested in mice, it was discovered that they took no interest in mice and never purred.

HUSBAND TO SUE OREGON CITY GIRL

WILLARD METCALF BEAM, HOWEVER, WANTS WIFE TO GET DIVORCE.

SOCIETY MAN DOESN'T LIKE GOTHAM

Determination of Singer to Live in New York, He Says, Is Cause of All Their Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—(Special).—Announcement was made today that Willard Metcalf Beam, nephew of Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the navy in former President Roosevelt's cabinet, would sue for a divorce in May from his young wife, the contract singer who was Mary Adele Case of Oregon City, Or., before her marriage in January, 1910. That is, Beam is waiting until May, but rather hopes that his wife, who is in New York, will beat him to the divorce court.

"I had my lawyer write to my wife that she could sue for divorce on any ground she liked, I didn't care," said Beam.

The young husband's reason for seeking a divorce is that his wife won't live in California.

"My wife wanted to live in New York," he explained, "but I would not live anywhere but in California, and I told her that if she wouldn't live in California we had better separate. That was in New York last May. I came out to California, which is the only place where I would live."

"She wants to return to the stage. I'll wait until the statutory period has expired, which will be next May, and then I'll sue for divorce on the ground of desertion if my wife does not see first. I don't care much how it comes out. There will be no trouble about the property. Anything that I have given her is hers. She's entitled to it. We never had any difficulty over money matters and won't."

Willard Metcalf Beam is well connected in this city. He is the son of the late I. Willard Beam, who was a prominent and prosperous business man. His mother was married last month to Charles Arthur Kelly. His sister is Mrs. G. L. Wakeman of Oakland.

Mrs. Willard Beam had a high reputation as a soloist when she left the concert stage for matrimony. As Mary Adele Case she sang in concerts in this city and Oakland, as well as throughout the country. She made her debut in the East and was highly spoken of. She went to Paris to perfect her art. She sang in this city in November, 1909. While here she was the guest of Mrs. Beam, her husband's mother, at the family residence, 303 Fell street. Prior to her marriage to Beam, she was reported engaged to a son of John D. Spreckles of San Francisco.

The couple were married at Calvary Presbyterian church, this city, in January, 1910. In the following September there were rumors of trouble in the Beam family, but they were silenced by the fact that the pair lived together in Portland subsequently. But the marital happiness did not last. For in May of this year there was a separation in New York and in May of next year there will be a divorce, if not sooner. Beam is a society man.

STAMPS STOLEN, BOX OF GOLD UNMOLESTED

The dental office of Dr. L. G. Ice, in the Beaver Building, was broken into and robbed Saturday night. The burglar used a "jimmy" on two doors, and prowled about, taking the contents of a stamp drawer, but he did not find a box of gold, nor a gold bridge, that Dr. Ice said would cost $150 to replace. Dr. Ice came down to his office Sunday morning and worked three hours, before discovering the burglary, and then he deposited his surplus gold in a local drug store for safe keeping over night. The burglar was an expert with his "jimmy" but he evidently worked in the dark, which may account for his having missed several packages containing precious metal.

RECORD FOR EXHIBITS MADE IN LAND TRIAL

The hearing of testimony in the suit involving 160 acres of land in this county of R. Edgar Beall against John W. Beall, sons of an old Maryland family, was concluded Monday and testimony of expert physicians and surgeons is, that the chances of the recovery from surgical wound of the total abstainer is much better than the chance of the habitual alcoholic.

JAIL MILL MAN AS SHOPLIFTER

FREDERICK MANTHEY ACCUSED BY MERCHANTS OF WHOLESALE SALE ROBBERIES.

GREATER PART OF LOOT RECOVERED

Suits of Clothing, Hats, Shoes, Pins and Neckties Among Articles Stolen—L. Adams is Biggest Loser.

Frederick Manthey, a mill worker of this city, is under arrest on a charge of wholesale stealing from stores. Articles said to have been stolen, found in his room, are valued at between $250 and $300. The victims of the alleged shoplifter are L. Adams, Burmeister & Anderson, Huntley Brothers Company and a five and ten cent store.

Manthey, who the police say has confessed, is said to have robbed local stores for about two years. L. Adams, the heaviest sufferer, was robbed of more than $200 worth of goods, which consisted of suits of clothing, underclothing, shoes, hats, hose, neckties and buttons. One article found in Manthey's room at the Electric Hotel was an oil stove, which he declares he bought at the L. Adams store. William Anderson, of Burmeister & Anderson, jewelers, identified six stock pins, with small diamond settings found in Manthey's room. Mr. Anderson said he saw Manthey acting suspiciously in his store two weeks ago, and the pins were missing after the man had gone. Manthey also had in his possession chest protectors, books and a son paper which were identified by members of Huntley Brothers Company as having been taken from that store. Twelve suits of clothing which Mr. Adams said were taken from his store were found in the man's room. He had at least forty neckties and about ten pairs of new shoes.

Manthey was detected in the act of stealing underwear at the store of L. Adams by two women Saturday night. He left the store and went to the office of Police Shaw arrived at the hotel he had fled, having told a friend that the police were after him and he intended to jump into the river. His arrest followed a telephone communication he had Sunday with J. J. Tobin, proprietor of the Electric Hotel. He gave a fictitious name and asked the hotel man if anything had been heard of Manthey, who he said he understood had jumped into the river. He further said that an investigation should be made, as Manthey was wealthy and had large property interests in Tacoma. Mr. Tobin recognized Manthey's voice.

"Where are you Fred?" asked Mr. Tobin.

"You guessed right," was the reply. "I'm in Aurora, and the police will never find me."

The telephone operator said the call had come from the Belvedere Hotel in Portland. The police there were notified and Manthey was arrested and brought to this city by Chief Shaw. Manthey came here four years ago from Tacoma.
