THE FAMOUS CHICKEN DANCE.

The fertile genius of some society woman has invented the "chicken dance" and in the circles where so much time is spent in showing how viciously foolish people can be the dance promises to be the rage until some new folly takes its place.

In truth something was badly needed to revive the jaded nerves and tastes of the idle rich. Monkey dinners and dog parties had lost their novelty, the bear dance was somewhat of a back number, and, for a wonder, there were no family scandals being aired.

Society was at its wit's end. Life was losing its charm for its fairies and demimondes, and shallow-brained men. Of course they could have engaged in benevolent and other uplifting work, but that is too plebian and only fit for low-browed sociologists. And, anyway, what is the uplift of humanity compared to teaching an ape to sit at dinner or the creation of new diversions? What society needed was something intellectual and inspiring, and it has it in the "chicken dance."

We have never seen the dance but we have seen chickens. We admire their graceful movements, especially when they are being chased out of a neighbor's garden and when they so daintily lift their feet out of the mud. Under such circumstances they are in gracefulness of action and in beauty a combination of Diana and Venus. And if the dance is true to nature, which doubtless it is, what a fascinating spectacle to gods and men its votaries must present. Yet, after all, one cannot but think that such a triumph of terpsichorean art is somewhat of a reflection upon the chicken.

Religion is more practical and less theological than it used to be. While the glories of heaven are still recognized and longed for a great deal more is being done, than in former years, to make earth more heavenlike.

Old age is the night of life even as the night is the old age of the day. But night has a glory and charm all its own, and that is a great comfort and even an inspiration.

"Favorite sons" and hosts of other prospective candidates for election a year hence, and possessed of more or less qualifications, are being groomed for the race.

Not all the tinkering, cobbling, and patching in the world will make things right that are fundamentally wrong.

The boy who is late at breakfast, late at school stands a poor chance to be a prompt man.

A sincere sympathy.

York county comes to the front with an epitaph which refers to the unhappy lot of a son of that part of the state whose chosen vocation, it seems, had displeased its people. Here is what they put upon his tombstone:

He hoped to have of Samuel G.
At thirty-four he was lost at sea,
But had to died in the proper way
Who dust would be within this day.

A Chinese Cavalry Patrol. Will They Catch the Rebels?

As in the case of many another revolution, it is apparently the army of China which has decided the fate of the Manchu dynasty and ruling class. Not for ages the predominion of arms has been reserved by the Chinese, the soldier having been subservient the inflation of the merchant and the farmer. It is only a few years since shooting with the bow was one of the recognized and highly commended exercises of the regular army. If any military force within the empire could be called regular. Since 1895, however, China has been paying a good deal of attention to her army, having organized an active force and a first and second reserve. The plan contemplated thirty-seven divisions, including all arms, and its projectors hoped that in 1913 these divisions would number nearly 850,000 men, of whom 300,000 would be available for active service. Japanese officers before the Chinese acquired a distrust of their energetic neighbors were the principal instructors of these modern drilled and equipped troops. Military schools have also been established in the various provinces. The effective fighting strength of the army was last year estimated at 312,000 men, of whom only 8,000 were cavalry. If all the reports are of the kind shown in the illustration it is not to be wondered at that the regulars so seldom overtook the rebels.

REV. ZIMMERMAN RESIGNS AS PASTOR OF METHODIST CHURCH

cided the money should be taken from the collections and not from the fund derived from rental of church property. The money received for the rental of the property, it was decided, should be used in liquidating the church debt of $12,000. After that, according to a member of the faction opposed to Mr. Zimmerman, only 110 members continued to contribute to the support of the church, and, as a result the pastor feared he would not receive a sufficient sum to pay his salary.

When the pastor complained to the board that he could not live on his salary he was told that he could quit. Mr. Zimmerman told of this in his sermon Sunday and among other things declared that he had been persecuted by the board for spite. He declared that several of the oldest members of the congregation had led in the movement to oust him.

The board which asked for a change of pastor was composed of C. A. Williams, James L. Swafford, A. L. Blanchard, L. P. Burton, Roy Cox, Mrs. A. L. Blanchard, R. Harrison, Mrs. George Randall, Samuel McDonald, M. Yoder and John Hickman. The letter asking for another pastor, was signed by all the members but Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. Randall.

BLIND MAN ROBBED.

The cigar store of Willis Mosley, a blind man, on Main and Eighth streets was entered some time Saturday night, by means of a skeleton key. Merchandise to the value of about $20 and $2 in money were taken. The police have no clew to the thief.

MERCHANTS FAVOR SPECIAL EDITION

interests of the city in behalf of the forthcoming Progress Edition the Enterprise is pleased to announce that the big booster number is receiving almost unanimous support.

This is perhaps best illustrated by the fact that upward of ninety per cent of the firms called on have signified their willingness to co-operate with the management on the issue. These firms believe in progress. They believe in a Greater Oregon City and a more populous Clackamas county. They believe that an attractive Progress Edition, printed on good book paper in magazine form, explaining the opportunities here as they actually exists and distributed by the thousands into the hands of prospective settlers in the East and elsewhere WILL BRING POSITIVE AND DEFINITE RESULTS in attracting New Blood, New Brains and New Money to this city and county—to assist in the further development of its natural resources.

Further than this they believe that this issue covering Clackamas County and Oregon City, as it will, offers a splendid medium of local publicity.

Although no work has been done outside of Oregon City letters are being received from other towns in the county asking for further information than that conveyed in the original announcement and expressing a desire to participate in the good work. Our representatives will visit each of the towns later, and it is the intention to have every section represented in a creditable way.

Arrangements have been made with the Publicity Committee of the Commercial Club of Oregon City whereby they will co-operate in the distribution of the Progress Edition to the inquiries on their mailing lists.

Similar arrangements will doubtless be made with the Commercial Clubs of the other towns throughout the county, thereby largely increasing the circulation and the benefits of the issue as a publicity medium for Clackamas county.

America Is Pivot of World In Three Things

Ending Wars | Aviation | Improving Colonies

By PRESIDENT TAFT

Underwood & Underwood.

WAR

IN the last twenty-five years WE HAVE MADE GREAT PROGRESS toward an international condition in which war is less likely than heretofore. It is true that in that time we have had several freak wars—the war between China and Japan, the war between Russia and Japan, the war between the United States and Spain, the war between England and the Boers and perhaps some others. Nevertheless as between the GREAT COUNTRIES OF EUROPE, which have armed themselves to the teeth since the German-French war of 1870, peace has been maintained, and under the inspiration of a common desire for peace treaties have been made with reference to arbitration and for the establishment of a court at The Hague for the settlement of international disputes.

AVIATION

THE possibilities of the development of aviation no man can measure. However, the transportation in an aeroplane of many people of the size of myself is not within one's imagination yet awhile.

I have no doubt improvement will be rapid IN THIS COUNTRY, and even those loaded with avoirdupois may hope to be lifted up.

COLONIES

SINCE 1898 and the Spanish war the people of the United States have been a COLONIZING AND COLONY HOLDING PEOPLE. We have become responsible for the welfare of Cuba, Porto Rico, the isthmus of Panama and the Philippines. We have had under our care and guardianship the hygiene and the health of tropical peoples, and, while I should be the last one to MINIMIZE THE IMPORTANCE AND VALUE OF THE BENEFITS THAT WE HAVE CONFERRED ON THE INHABITANTS OF THE TROPICS thus coming under our government of a political and economic and educational character, I do not hesitate to say that we have been most DISTINCTLY SUCCESSFUL in the measures that we have adopted, maintained and enforced for the improvement of the health and physical condition of those peoples in the torrid zone over whom we have assumed guardianship.

NOT EXPENSIVE

Treatment at Hot Lake, including medical attention, board and baths, costs no more than you would pay to live at any first class hotel. Rooms can be had from 75 cents to $2.50 per day. Meals in the cafeteria are served from 20 cents up and in the grill at the usual grill prices. Baths range from 50 cents to $1.00.

We Do Cure Rheumatism
