What's the matter with Governor West that he seems to be in cahoots with all the law-breaking element in Oregon? A few more pardons, parol and commutations of a just sentence and he will drive the cattlemen to Lynch law, and the State into anarchy, and he boasted at the Governor's banquet only the other day that Oregon was the best-governed State in the Union. He better resign and go to raising chickens, or go into partnership with those two young men in Portland who have a scheme for raising cats and rats. The Formation of Gold.

The Indians have a theory concerning the formation of gold. It was formed after the deluge. The deluge was about the time when the leaves of the trees were turning yellow. The winds came before this flood and blew the leaves in all directions. Where the leaves lodged at the time of the deluge is where the gold is now found. The gold is found in two forms—in nuggets and in leaf form. The nuggets were formed by the leaves blowing and whirling into small nuggets, as they are now found. Where the gold is found in leaf form are the places where the leaves were buried by the washing of sand and rock by the waters of the flood.—Red Man.
