Dec. 6 in American History.

1757—Marquis de Lafayette, noted French ally of the American Revolutionists, born at Auvergne, France; died 1834. 1850—Jefferson Davis, statesman, ex-president of the southern Confederacy, died in New Orleans; born 1808. 1900—William J. Calhoun of Chicago appointed United States minister to China in the place of Charles E. Crane, recalled while en route to his post.

ASTRONOMICAL EVENTS.

(From noon today to noon tomorrow.) Sun sets 4:29, rises 7:07; moon rises 4:25 p. m.; 8 p. m., moon at perigee, nearest earth, distant 222,000 miles; planet Mercury seen setting in southwest after sunset.

WHERE DOES THE WEST BEGIN?

At the outset of the journey by special train of the governor of Northwestern states to make their section better known in the Eastern and Central states the important question is raised as to the dividing line. A statesman noted for never fully committing himself was once asked, to test his caution, if the sun rises in the east. He replied the east and west are relative terms. In a certain sense this view is correct, and by no means a recent discovery. Alexander Pope wrote over a century and a half ago: 'Ask where's the North? At York 'tis on the Tweed; in Scotland at the Orkades; and there, at Greenland, Zembla, or the Lord knows where.' Thomas H. Benton reached the level of prophetic and majestic poetry when, pointing across the plains and the Pacific, he suggested that there is the East and India. The governors are unable to agree as to where the East begins, and severally place it all the way from Pittsburgh to Denver. One proposes the line of the Mississippi River, another that of the Missouri. Oregon's governor would give it a monumental marker at Pike's Peak.

A new era has arrived and the course of the empire is somewhat deflected, or rather widened out, from its historic direction—St. Louis can now point to the booming Southwest with its two new states and Mexico, and Southeast to the prosperous old South, Cuba, Central America, the Panama Canal and South America. The West can no longer be found by wild and woolly conditions. A California town may be run by electricity generated in the Sierra Nevada, talk with New York by long-distance telephone, with Nome and Manila by wireless, and witness the march of women to be registered for full suffrage.

At any rate Mayor Brownell had public opinion stirred up about right regarding the placing of a policeman on the hill.

It is suggested that Christmas gifts to be sent through the postoffice be mailed early. The increasing crush at the finish is something to avoid, if possible.

Italy has the drop on the ocean, and the world is likely to see shortly how a blockade of the Dardanelles will be received by other European powers.

Champ Clark remarks that he has nothing more to say at present. Perhaps he has run across the picture of the parrot that confessed it had talked too much.

Tarring a woman may be technically assault and battery, but a male individual who engages in it puts a mark on himself that can never be rubbed off.

Young Harry Thaw is studying law. He probably expects to recoup his fallen fortune to some extent by establishing a law office in Mr. Jerome's neighborhood.

Holes for planting trees are now cheaply dug with dynamite. The statement that worms are incidentally killed will be accepted without further evidence.

The Progress Edition of the Enterprise will soon be on the press. Is your business represented? It should be, for every enterprise of a public nature added to others of similar import lends just so much more weight to the civic message Clackamas county is sending to her friends far removed. Join us in the movement for a greater Oregon City and a bigger, broader Clackamas county.

EUROPEAN DEMAND FOR HOPS GROWING

While there are quite a number of orders available for Willamette valley hops at 44c to 45c a pound, there is an absence of business. Growers who still retain supplies are as a rule perpetual holders, and do not care to sell no matter what the price is. There is a further increase in the business offered by Europe and some trade has been closed elsewhere. In California Uhlman was the buyer of 700 bales from R. W. Peterson at Sonoma, but the price was not learned. Finch purchased 350 bales in the Sacramento section but no price was mentioned. The deal was for London account. European markets are firmer. A cable from London stated that the market there was extremely firm with very few hops available with the market practically bare of stocks. On the continent the market was reported firm and advancing with prices up to 10 to 20 shillings and trade bare of stocks. In New York practically no business is reported owing to the fact that growers are asking 50c a pound and better while quality is mostly poor.

Prevailing Oregon City prices are as follows: Fruits, Vegetables. DRIED FRUITS—(Buying) — Prunes on basis of 6 1/4 pounds for 45c. HIDES—(Buying) — Green hides, 5c to 6c; salted, 5c to 6c; dry hides,

Queen Mary's Simply Furnished Bedroom on the Yacht Medina

NO prodigal display marked the furnishing of the suits prepared for King George and Queen Mary on the liner Medina, converted into a royal yacht for their journey to India. The simplicity of the queen's sleeping room is shown by the accompanying illustration. The greatest luxury which she allowed herself in beds was the installation of a swinging cot to neutralize the effects of rough seas, the ordinary bed being used in calm weather. Queen Mary's suit has a general color scheme of delicate green. The king's is done in light blue. Three cows from the home farm at Windsor were requisitioned to supply the royal party with milk.

- 12c to 14c; sheep pelts, 25c to 75c each. Hay, Grain, Feed. HAY—(Buying)—Timothy, $12 to $15; clover, $8 to $9; oat hay, best, $9 to $10; mixed, $9 to $12; alfalfa, $13 to $15.50. For the Children

Oh, isn't it lively at our house When our young cousin Ted spends the day! He can think of more things in a minute Than would take us a whole week to play. The last time he came it was barber. And he used all of daddy's best soap You ought to have seen his pizazz. It'll never be water, I hope. And then when he goes it's still lively. We wonder how we ever could dare! And we wouldn't so much mind what follows. If our cousin would stay for his share. —Youth's Companion.

A GIRLISH COSTUME.

Satin de Soie is the Material Used.

COSTUME OF NAVY BLUE SATIN DE SOIE.

Satin de soie is a material that is having great vogue this fall and will be popular all through the winter both for suits and dresses. The fetching little costume illustrated is of this fabric in the new dark shade of navy blue. The skirt is narrow and straight and slightly gathered about the waist. Two deep tucks form the skirt trimming. The much exploited peasant waist is employed. A rather novel neck treatment is outlined with dull gold cord, edged with narrow black braid. Black cord is drawn through the white mousseline chemise, and a cordellere of black silk is attached at the waist line. British Bankrupts. One man makes a fortune to eight men that become bankrupt in Great Britain.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

ROMESICKNESS. Out in the Philippines the order to military bands is said, is to play "Home, Sweet Home," very sparingly. The reason? The old tune is apt to induce homesickness in the soldiers, and homesickness leads to desertion. General Leonard Wood, chief of staff in the army, asserts that the greater proportion of desertions in our military forces is caused by homesickness. It is the same in other armies. In Canada some years ago the authorities found it necessary, for the same reason, to prohibit the playing of "Lochaber No More" by the bagpipers in regiments of troops composed largely of Scotchmen. Also— A similar prohibition was made, for a like reason, by French officers against the playing of "Hans des Vaches" in regiments in which Swiss troops were serving.

Persons literally die and go insane from the heart wrenchings. The poor soldier, far from familiar scenes and home surroundings, among a strange people, doing onerous duty, hears the dear, familiar music, and the longing for the homeland tugs at his heart. The longing induces brooding, which ends in acute melancholia. The love of home makes him half insane, and he forgets his duty and his oath. The call of memory is enhanced by time and distance. Who can resist the tender plea? Those who lend men into strange lands do well to be careful their do not awaken in the hearts of their followers fond recollections of native land and home and friends.

Uncertainty of Soldiering. "Too bad about Lord Chawlin, isn't it?" "What's happened to him?" "Why, he's had to leave the guards. "And what have they done with him?" "Put him in a common fighting regiment, by Jove!"—London Mail. Barley. Barley is supposed to be a native of western Asia, where wild forms still exist. It was one of the first cereals cultivated for food. Barley belongs to the grass family, or gramineae, and to the genus hordeum. Never Met Defeat. There were three great generals who were never-defeated. They were Alexander the Great, who lived from 356 to 323 B. C.; Julius Caesar, born 100 B. C. and died 44 B. C.; and Arthur, duke of Wellington, 1769-1852. No Cause For Alarm. Mother (alarmed)—Why does Jack make those queer sounds? Is he choking? Young Wife—If he is it is on the diamond ring I am trying to make him cough up for me.—Baltimore American.

BE SLOW TO SPEAK.

There is a time to speak and a time to forbear speaking, and it's mostly, if you are a prudent body, the time to forbear speaking.—Barr.

The Days of the Idle Rich in America Are Numbered

By FREDERICK TOWNSEND MARTIN, New York Clubman

I AM moved to pity as I watch the very young of the higher social class at play. Already the shadow of impending events falls heavily upon them. Many of them, even in their very tender youth, have learned that they belong to a HATED CLASS. And the alternative—the terror, the brutish mob, the wild eyed, frantic leaders of the hosts that stormed the Bastille and set up the guillotine. THE DAYS OF THE IDLE RICH IN AMERICA ARE AS A TALE THAT IS TOLD. WE SHALL RE-ENACT IN THIS LAND SOME OF THE MOST TERRIBLE TRAGEDIES OF HISTORY. The lesson of the French revolution was BETTER UNDERSTOOD in those days than it is today in HIGH SOCIETY.
