RUSSIAN TREATY MAY BE BROKEN

SENATE URGED TO ACTION BE- CAUSE OF ATTITUDE TOWARD JEWS.

SUIZER RESOLUTION IS FAVORED

Car Expected To Be Given Notice Before Christmas Of Stand Of U. S.—Adoption Nearly Certain.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The abrogation of the Russian treaty of 1832 because of discriminations against American Jews and others may become the law of the land before the Christmas holidays.

The Sulzer resolution, already adopted by the House, directing the termination of the treaty—after a year's notice, was brought up today in the Senate. The decision to refer it to the committee on foreign relations rather than act immediately was made after an assurance from the committee that it would report Monday. The Senate may then either adopt the resolution with a slight change or the Culberson resolution virtually identical.

The debate in the Senate included some discussion of the attitude of the State Department. Senator Culberson urged immediate action on Monday without reference to the committee. He contended that notice of abrogation could take effect until one year after the first day of January following the action of Congress, and therefore, if the resolution should fall of adoption before the holidays it could not go into effect until 1914.

Senators Cullom and Lodge pleaded for the reference to the committee, which they said would report Monday. Senator Haynor was somewhat skeptical as to the committee's ability to agree within that time.

"I have no doubt that we can do it," Senator Cullom said. Mr. Lodge added his assurance to the same effect.

PARTLOW ROUTS CHARIVARI PARTY

SCION OF 'OLD FAMILY FIRST PLEADS AND THEN AT- TACKS VISITORS.

FOUR MOSE-MAKERS "TAKE COUNT"

Bridegroom And Bride Urge Friends To Accept Their Hospitality When Work On Home Is Finished.

James W. Partlow, scion of one of the oldest families in Oregon, who became a benedict about a week ago, proved himself a hero when a charivari party visited the ancestral home at Mount Pleasant Tuesday evening. Mr. Partlow had been informed of the plans of his neighbors, and sent his bride to the home of a friend.

When the charivari party reached the Partlow home several members fired pistols and guns, and the din caused by the beating on tin pans and ringing of bells was deafening. Mr. Partlow went to the front gate and pleaded with the celebrators, but his voice was lost in the babel of noise. Placing his fingers to his lips, Mr. Partlow whistled shrilly, just like Roderick Dhu, when he summoned his clans, and instantly there was silence. Then Mr. Partlow explained that his bride was not at home; that the house was undergoing repairs, and he and Mrs. Partlow would be delighted to have the party call in about a week, when they would be invited into the reception room and entertained.

Hardly had the bridegroom finished his address when at least twenty guns and pistols were fired in unison, and pans and bells were wielded vigorously. This was more than Mr. Partlow could stand, and, throwing off his coat, he waded into the noise-makers, striking right and left. Four young men were sent sprawling in about as many directions, and the others of the party took to their heels. Mr. Partlow then repeated to those who had been detained by blows from his mighty right an oath that he meant no harm; that he wanted the party to come again, and that a fine entertainment awaited them.

Mrs. Partlow, who was Mrs. L. Brown, of Santa Barbara, Cal., before she became the bride of Mr. Partlow, also has issued invitations to their neighbors, including the members of the charivari party, to visit them just as soon as the repairs to the house are completed. Mr. Partlow, who was in Oregon City Thursday, declared that he had no ill-feeling for any member of the party, and that he acted as he thought proper under the circumstances.

THOROUGHFARE IS FAVORED BY COURT

The County Court Thursday denied the motion to grant the order for the opening of the Stebbins road. The order for opening the road was granted at the term of court in July, 1910. A petition signed by several citizens of the district was presented to the court, but it was decided that the road was necessary. The road is in the Sunnyside district and will be about one mile long. An appeal will be taken to the Circuit Court.

FINE CHRISTMAS IS PLANNED FOR BABIES

ST. AGNES HOME AT PARKPLACE ONE OF MOST DESERVING INSTITUTIONS IN STATE.

The children of St. Agnes Baby Home, near Parkplace, is deserving of assistance, especially at this time of the year, when the seven-ty-two little children will have a Christmas celebration. There will be two trees with presents on them for all the little ones. The Sisters of Mercy, who are in charge of the institution, are preparing an excellent program to consist of songs, recitations and dialogues for the occasion. Those desiring to contribute to the trees may do so, and their contributions will be greatly appreciated by the Sisters. The program is to be given at the Home Christmas afternoon. The last year's program showed what the tots could do, and they were dressed in their prettiest for the affair. There are many in this city who would not grudge a few little gifts and these would go a long way in making the little ones happy.

The St. Agnes Baby Home building was occupied by the Sisters of Good Shepherd about nine years ago, and it was used as a home for fallen girls. The Sisters of that order had intended to assist in paying for the keeping of unfortunate women by means of operating a laundry, but as there was not enough work of this kind to keep the institution in operation, it was decided to have the home in Portland, where the field was much larger at 4 o'clock until 6 o'clock p. m. The cheeks of the little ones are plump and rosy, while those who were in poor condition when arriving at the Home are becoming strong and will soon have the appearance of those who have been there some time. Five meals each day are given the children, the hours being: Breakfast, 7:30 o'clock; lunch, 10 o'clock; dinner, 11:30 o'clock; lunch, 3 o'clock, and supper, 5 o'clock. The children are better cared for than many of the children in some homes. They are bathed regularly, and in the building are several bath-rooms, all having porcelain tubs with hot and cold water. The clothes are clean and one room in the building is used especially for hie clothing. Large cabinets with shelves, one for the boys' clothing and one for the girls have been installed. The nursery is one of the attractive rooms for the visitors. The floors are waxed, and the toddlers are allowed to play to their heart's content there. In the nursery are little rocking chairs and at any time of the day one may see some tot enjoying these, but at present there are not enough of the rockers for them, and the child getting one first is considered the lucky one in the bunch. Toys are a scarcity in this room, and no doubt for this class of work. Shortly after the building was taken in charge of by the Sisters of Mercy as a baby home, and called the St. Agnes Baby Home. The institution has had a hard struggle, as many of the children placed there for keeping are taken care of by the Sisters without compensation, as many are waifs, and have no one to care for them but the Sisters. They are given the best of care, and are allowed to romp in one of the large rooms on the first floor, but during the summer they may play on the grounds surrounding the building. Swings are placed under the trees, and all kinds of out-door games are enjoyed.

Different grades are taught in the school ranging from the primer class to the third or fourth grade, according to the age of the child. The girls are kept at this institution until they are about fourteen years of age, while the boys are not kept so long, and they are instructed so when they are ready to take up their homes at other institutions, the girls at the Oswego, and the boys at Beaverton, they are well advanced. The school hours are from 9 until 11:30 a. m., and from 2 these little children could be made happy if a hobby horse or some toy could be presented on Christmas. In this department and one adjoining babies ranging from two weeks old to two years are kept, but the two year-olds are allowed to go in the play room for several hours each day, and are given proper care by one of the Sisters, who is in charge of that room during the recreation hours. In this department are several little waifs, some of which are for adoption. One of these was recently found in a garden in Portland, and one on a door-step. They have found a good home at the St. Agnes Baby Home, but no doubt will be adopted by someone who will give them a home. Many of these children for adoption are attractive.

The dining room on the lower floor opposite the school-room is fitted up with low tables and little chairs similar to those used in kindergarten work. At the proper time for partaking of meals the children are formed in line and at a proper signal march to their respective places at the table, and are taught the proper

RAILWAY SIDING IN MILWAUKIE DENIED

The County Court Thursday afternoon revoked the franchise of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company to lay a track on Eleventh street in Milwaukie. The franchise was granted by the court sometime ago after it had been declared by the lawyers for the company that the property owners did not object to the siding. C. A. Wolfgram, Edmund Sweeney and others protested vigorously and their attorney, Col. Charles H. Dye, explained their attitude to the court, with the result that the franchise was revoked. The court admitted that the proposed siding would seriously affect property interests.
